SENATORS ASK TIME TO STUDY MESSAGE

Proposal From Democrat to Repass Measure Set for Today.

PRESIDENT OPPOSES NEW HEALTH CLAUSE

Lowered Minimum Service Feature Also Meets Disapproval.

(Associated Press.)

For the second time President Hoover sent a measure back to Congress yesterday bearing his mark of disapproval.

This time it was the Senate bill to fix a new basis for pensions to Spanish War veterans, and the veto message had hardly reached that branch before Senator Connnally (Democrat), Texas, moved to override the veto. This would require a two-thirds vote of each house.

Several senators asked time to study the message, however, and the proposal went over until today.

Opposition on Three Points.

The President based his opposition to the measure on three points. First, that it would permit pensions to be awarded persons whose disabilities arise from vicious habits; second, that it lowered the period for nonservice connected disability pensioners, and, third, that there should be a requirement of need as well as disability for granting pensions.

His previous veto was of a bill to authorize the issuance of Lincoln Purchase memorial coins.

In his message disapproving the pension measure today the President said:

"I am returning this bill without approval. The bill establishes a new basis for pensions of Spanish War veterans. I am in favor of proper discharge of the national obligation to men who have served in war, who have become disabled and are in need. But certain principles are included in this legislation which I deem are opposed to the interest both of war veterans and of the public. My major objections to this bill are these:

Breaks own Exclusion.

"1. In the whole of our pension legislation over past years we have excluded from such national award persons whose disabilities arise from 'vicious habits.' This bill breaks down that exclusion and opens the door for claims of disability incurred at any time in the life of the pensioner arising from venereal diseases, alcoholism, drug habits, &c. Certainly such claims for public health can not be fairly based upon sacrifice to the Nation in war and must be opposed to national policy.

"2. This legislation lowers the minimum service period from 90 days to 70 days for nonservice connected disability pensions. Under other provisions of law, men who served only one day and during that day suffered injury or impaired health became eligible for pensions. This law, however, provides that if a man should incur any disability at any time in his life he may claim pension with only 70 days of service.

Requirement of Need.

"3. It seems to me that in the interest of justice to the taxpayer and to maintain the fine body of citizens comprised in our war veterans free from stigma of encroachment upon the public treasury, there should be a requirement of 'need' as well as disability as a basis for these pensions.

"It is to me the height of injustice that citizens who are less well placed should be called upon support from taxes those whose station in live enables them to support themselves or to live in independent security. The whole spirit of the pension system is that of a grateful nation rising to the support of those who have served in war, were injured, or who have met with legitimate difficulties in after life which impose privation upon them. While many veterans may refuse to accept such pensions when they can get along otherwise, yet the cases of selfishness are bound to cause a constant irritation of feeling against a pension system that permits these unmerited and unnecessary payments."

House Favors Private Muscle Shoals Plan

(Associated Press.)

The House yesterday passed the Reece plan for private operation of Muscle Shoals. The vote was 196 to 114.

Adoption of the proposal as a substitute for the Norris plan for Government operation sends the measure back to the Senate for agreement to the change. It was believed there was little likelihood that the Senate would accept the modification and that the measure therefore would go to conference.

Humble Soldier Who Selected Unknown Will Honor Comrade

Sergt. Edward Younger Will Again Drop Rose In Tribute.

Chicago Veteran to View Tomb of World War Hero First Time.

By DUNCAN HASSELL.

Chicago, Ill., May 28.—An unknown soldier, who designated the Unknown Soldier, will come into his own Friday, following nine years of obscurity.

A small home on this city's northside was topsy-turvy tonight as the man who actually selected the unknown made ready to come to Washington, to join the Nation's notables in paying homage at the Arlington Tomb, symbolical of the reverence that this country holds for all its soldier dead.

Few have heard of Sergt. Edward S. Younger—now just Mr. Younger—postal clerk, residing at 2005 Bingham street. But it was Sergt. Younger who is really responsible for the particular unknown who sleeps in Arlington. It was Sergt. Younger who dropped a rose on one of four unidentified caskets at Chalons-Sur-Marne, France, thereby making forever the unknown choice.

Notables who had nothing to do with the selection are annually in demand for Memorial Day exercises at the Tomb. The sergeant who blew "Taps" at the Unknown's burial is always brought to Arlington for the ceremonies. But Sergt. Younger, who put the Unknown in the marble vault—thus deserving the gratitude of some mother, in fact, all mothers, since—has never been called to Washington. He has never even seen the Tomb. But Friday he will see it, and more than that, he will occupy a prominent place on the Memorial Day program. He will come to Washington as the guest of The Washington Post, in company with a Post representative, who journeyed to Chicago to invite him.

Arrayed in the same uniform that he wore when he selected the Unknown, he will again drop roses on his unknown buddy, standing silently over the Tomb in thoughts that none but he may share. He has been trying to visit the Tomb for the last several years.

"But a clerk in the Postoffice don't make much money," he explained, "and it costs a lot to keep a wife and child in Chicago."

His gratitude for The Post's offer was touching. "But for you fellows I probably wouldn't have ever gotten to Washington. And I sure do want to see that tomb. I feel a sort of personal interest in that unknown soldier, for after all, that particular one wouldn't be there if I hadn't dropped a rose on his casket, would he? I had three others that I might have selected. Of course, I haven't any idea who this unknown really is, but I might have eaten, slept and fought next to him. It's real nice to get a chance to visit him again—just to say hello and to honor—through him—all my buddies that fell over there."

Mrs. Younger, plump and pleasant, also wants to see the tomb. She, too, feels a personal interest in the man that Edward placed in a position to receive the world's homage. But she is content to stay home and mind her 5-year-old Jacky. She is happy to feel that even at this late date the Nation will recognize the service that her husband performed—a service with responsibilities that a board of —officers passed off on a noncom.

Her eyes shown as she bustled about the modest home, pressing Edward's faded blouse, calling up the cleaners to see if his overseas cap had been cleaned. She was afraid that the sergeant would be just a little bit swell-headed when he got back home, but she couldn't exactly blame him. Think of him standing in front of all those notables, dropping a rose on the unknown, just as he had done in 1921, back in that quiet chapel at Chalons-Sur-Marne.

The unknown had become known the whole world over, but her husband on its initiative in bringing him to Washington for the Memorial Day exercises."

HONORING HER HERO HEAD

Washington Post Brings Postoffice Clerk From Chicago to See Tomb of Unknown Soldier He Selected in France.

Sergt. Edward S. Younger, the American doughboy who chose the casket to lie in the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery, will arrive in Washington today from Chicago to participate in the Memorial Day ceremonies tomorrow at this soldier's grave. Never having seen the mausoleum erected to honor this symbolic hero, Sergt. Younger is being brought to the National Capital by The Washington Post.

Nine years ago, on a peaceful October day, in a little makeshift chapel at Chalons-sur-Marne, France, Sergt. Younger dropped a bouquet of roses on one of four coffins, containing four unidentified bodies taken from four cemeteries. He was chosen for the signal honor by Col. Harry F. Rehters, of the Army Graves Registration Service.

Tomorrow morning he will drop a similar bouquet on the handsome tomb of this unknown soldier just before the lavish wreaths are placed by the Civil War, Spanish-American War and World War veterans' organizations.

An unassuming postoffice clerk, many of whose friends were unaware of his distinction, Sergt. Younger has been sought out by The Washington Post to pay his tribute to the Unknown Soldier. Tomorrow night he will be guest of honor at a large dinner of representatives of various veterans' organizations.

Upon learning of Sergt. Younger's acceptance of The Post's invitation to come to Washington, Hosea B. Moulton, president of the directors of the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial Day Corporation, Department of the Potomac, made a special place for him on the day's program at Arlington and asked that he sit with speakers and distinguished guests of the day on the amphitheater rostrum.

"We will be delighted to welcome him," he said, "and to honor the man who first honored the Unknown Soldier. The Post is to be congratu-

Bolivia President Resigns Position

La Paz, Bolivia, May 28 (A.P.).—Dr. Hernando Siles, President of Bolivia, resigned tonight and placed the government in the hands of the cabinet. He gave no reason for his act. Dr. Siles took office January 1, 1926.

Dr. Siles immediately abandoned the Presidential Palace and told the cabinet it should call a general election.

The South American republic has had frequent governmental difficulties. The cabinet resigned March 8 this year, and the new cabinet which was formed March 12 to succeed it was followed by another one May 17. Dr. Siles is noted as a lawyer and educator.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, May 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—First Lord of the Admiralty Albert Victor Alexander has submitted to the cabinet a British naval building program for the next four years.

His proposals show that Great Britain does not plan to build up to the London treaty figures either in light cruisers or destroyers.

On behalf of the admiralty, Mr. Alexander asks the cabinet to sanction a four-year program of ten 6-inch-gun cruisers of about 7,000 tons each, in addition to the one new cruiser of this class announced since the conclusion of the London Naval Conference for immediate construction. Two are suggested for the current fiscal year, to be laid down before March 31 next; three in the fiscal year 1931, two in the year 1932 and three in the year 1933, the last to be laid down before March 31, 1934.

New Destroyer Program.

Under the provisions of the treaty of London, Great Britain is entitled to build four more of these cruisers, and it is proposed to maintain the announced cruiser strength of 50 to the date of the expiration of the treaty by keeping in service four ships of the "C" class of light cruisers which will then be over sixteen years of age and therefore due for replacement under the treaty terms.

At the same time Mr. Alexander has given the cabinet a new destroyer program providing for construction of one flotilla leader and six or seven destroyers each year. Although the precise figures are not available to the New York World News Service, the destroyer and light cruiser program, it can be stated, does not envisage building up to treaty limits, and by the expiration of the treaty the destroyer strength allotted to this country will be kept at par by inclusion of destroyers overdue for replacement.

Attack on Labor Anticipated.

This program, after passing the cabinet, must be approved by Parliament to come into force. Labor's left wing, which opposes even this much building, hopes that Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden will cut down the cruiser program by at least two ships.

On the other hand, severe attacks

Veteran's Body Found After 65-Year Search

Sidney Hebden, Runaway British Lad, Volunteered in Union Army and Died of Injuries Received at Brandy Station.

Culminating a search that lasted for 65 years, the body of a British lad who ran away from home to fight under the Stars and Stripes in the Civil War will be laid in Arlington National Cemetery today beside the comrade who accompanied him in his quest for adventure.

In the spring of 1862 news of the conflict between the North and the South aroused the romantic spirits of Sidney Hebden and Alfred Guiton, two 19-year-old Londoners completing their education in a private school in Sussex, England.

Without a word to their parents the boys, both descended from a long line of military ancestors in France and England, fled from school and made their way across the Atlantic, arriving in New York to enlist in the Union forces on May 29, 1862.

After a brief training period they were separated, Alfred being assigned to the Fifth United States Cavalry, while Sidney was detailed with the First Cavalry. Although they corresponded frequently, that was the last time the boys ever saw each other, for exactly nineteen months later, on December 29, 1863, Sidney Hebden died of injuries received in battle at Brandy Station, Va. His company's colors had been captured by the Southern troops and, although he was successful in regaining the beloved flag in single-handed combat, the effort cost him his life.

Alfred Guiton survived, although wounded severely on several occassions, and was promoted, so that at the close of the war he was mustered out with the rank of sergeant major.

It was then that the youthful veteran met Alice Clark, the 15-year-old niece of his former bunkie, George Clark, and fell in love wih her, al-

SLASH IS EXPECTED IN FLEXIBLE CLAUSE

Conferees to Go Further if Chief Executive Has His Way.

ORIGINAL PROVISION OF HOUSE FAVORED

Objects to Part Requiring Action on Mandates Within 60 Days.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Indications were yestreday that now that the flexible provision of the tariff is back in conference, President Hoover will renew his efforts for the broadened power carried in the original House bill.

Because of the long fight on rates the sharp division that exists between the President and the leaders of both houses of Congress on this matter has not been so much in the open.

Mr. Hoover is strongly desirous of the broadened power in the belief presumably that when Congress gets through with the tariff he will be able, by degrees, of course, to work out a more satisfactory measure. On the other hand, there is a strong sentiment in Congress, not confined to the opposition ranks, that the flexible power should be returned to Congress.

Tenacity Seems Real.

In between these widely separated viewpoints there is apparently a majority sentiment that at least the President's flexible power should be checked. This is evidenced by the provision that was finally agreed upon by the conferees, and a feature of which was subjected to a point of order Tuesday and carried the entire provision back to conference.

The tenacity with which the President has sought the original House provision has not been apparent but seems nevertheless to be real.

Although he was represented as having agreed to the provision reported to the Senate Monday, including that by which the Tariff Commission could proclaim its own rates if the President did not act on its recommendations within 60 days, it became very clear yesterday that he did so with his tongue in his cheek and because there was nothing else he could do.

Ruling Was Surprise.

It was this clause that caused him to rush Senators Hatfield, Allen, Goldsborough and Walcott from the Rapidan Saturday night in an effort to have it eliminated. There was nothing they could do, of course.

Then for a Democrat, Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, to have it stricken out on a point of order was more than he had dared hope for. There is ground for the belief that he enjoyed his breakfast yesterday as he has not for some time past. Strangely enough, too, Vice President Curtis' ruling was a surprise to the Republican leaders. There was considerable speculation as to whether it was a surprise to the White House.

The rather general assumption is that when the conferees meet again today they will report back the bill without the objectionable clause giving the Tariff Commission rate-making power. They will go further than this if the President has his way.

Wants Clause Stricken Out.

He also wants stricken out the clause requiring him to act on the commission's recommendations within 60 days or the matter becomes dead, and also the clause by which he must accept or reject the specific rates recommended by the Tariff Commission. Under existing law the President may proclaim an entirely different rate.

What he would really like to get is the original House provision. This provision contemplates a far different

DR. BALLOU ACCUSED OF GAGGING TEACHER

WARM DENIAL ENTERED

Charges that Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou prohibited Miss Catherine Watkins, head of the kindergarten department, to appear before the Board of Education in interest of kindergarten legislation were made by Henry Gilligan, a member of the board, at a session of the board yesterday afternoon.

Emphatically denying the charge, Dr. Ballou declared that he had merely "advised" Miss Watkins not to appear as the time was not the best. Dr. Ballou added that Miss Watkins was free to do as she pleased and was not compelled to take his advice.

It was finally agreed that Dr. Ballou would turn all the correspondence over to Mr. Gilligan for his judgment. Mr. Gilligan announced that he would retract the charges and apologize if he were wrong.

The clash drew in Dr. Charles F. Carusi, president of the board and two other board members, Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle and Mrs. Philip Sydney Smith. The verbal bout grew out of the complaint made last week by President Carusi that he understood some school teachers were appearing before congressional committees without permission of the board and added that if such a custom were allowed to continue there would be a danger of teachers thwarting the work of the board. A rule of the board provides that teachers must have permission before petitioning Congress.

Since Dr. Carusi made this complaint, Senator Blaine has introduced a resolution seeking to prevent the Board of Education from denying its employes the privilege of petition to Congress.

The Teachers Union has deplored the attempt to deprive citizens of the constitutional right to petition Congress.

"I think the rule is silly," declared Mrs. Doyle.

SENATE SETS ASIDE DRY LAW SHOWDOWN

Blaine Will Not Press Bill for Prohibition Repeal at Session.

BOTH SIDES HOLD BACK

(Associated Press.)

Prospects for any showdown on the prohibition issue in Congress this session diminished yesterday when Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, author of the resolution for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, said he would not press his measure until opportunity was presented for hearings.

Mr. Blaine asserted he would not have the opportunity for hearings at this session on his resolution because of other duties. With leaders looking restlessly to adjournment it was agreed on all sides last night that there was no prospect for any kind of a vote on prohibition at this session.

Dry leaders have given the word they are ready to vote at any time on Mr. Blaine's resolution but there is no disposition by either the wets or drys to force the issue.

The constant discussion of prohibition and the nation-wide polls are being watched closely by members of Congress. Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, a dry, who is up for reelection this year, made it known yesterday that if Montana, by a duly authorized referendum, asks for repeal of the eighteenth amendment he would stand by the decision.

Both Mr. Walsh and Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, another dry who said Tuesday he was willing to submit to the voters of his State the question of repeal, said they were not advocating referenda in their States.

Senator Jones yesterday expressed concern over the newspaper publicity given his declaration and reaffirmed his prohibition stand.

"I am perfectly willing to give my people an opportunity to pass upon it," he said, "but I would not vote for repeal and I would not vote for modification. After the proposition

Business in Washington

By EDWARD YONKER,
President, Sanitary Grocery Co.

After a long, easy slide, business is now down to rock bottom.

But I do not agree with those who insist that, having hit bottom, business now must start to improve.

That it will improve there is little doubt, but it will improve only for those who, by their own intensive efforts, force it to improve.

The man who studies the situation minutely and applies himself diligently to readjustment will come out on top. The man who assumes that because things can get no worse they must get better automatically, will be surprised to discover just how much worse they can get.

I believe that we are now just catching up with the money which we had spent ahead. Installment buyers have concentrated of late upon paying for what they previously had acquired, without adding further indebtedness, and production has been curtailed for several months so that necessity consumption has disposed of surplus stocks.

The result at present, as I see it, is that the man whose judgment is right, and who has sufficient faith in that judgment, can buy now at prices that will show good profits if sufficient proper attention is devoted to merchandising under the radically changed conditions which have developed.

Business has been in the position of a man whose salary has been cut. It has accustomed itself to living on a certain scale, and suddenly found its market seriously curtailed, if not wiped out entirely. Under previous conditions, with plenty of business obtainable practically without effort, lots of needless expenses could be borne without immediate harmful effects.

But when business fell off, with the obvious resultant curtailment of income, it became necessary to give serious attention to elimination of every factor of expense which was not directly vital to efficient operation. Businesses which recognize and meet that situation with hard work will make the grade back up the hill of prosperity, but the mountain will not come to Mohammed.

Legislator to Ask Cession Of City Area to Maryland

End of Capital Suffrage Question Foreseen in Hall's Plan.

A serious proposal that the greater part of the city of Washington be ceded back to Maryland will be made at the next session of Congress by Representative Albert Hall (Republican), of Indiana.

In making this fact known yesterday, Mr. Hall expressed the opinion that such a proposal would bring about a show-down on the question of suffrage for the District of Columbia. Thus far, the Indiana representative said, his plan is in a nebulous state, but he hopes that by the short session it will have evolved into something concrete.

The Federal Government, Mr. Hall said, would carve out a particular area in the downtown section for its own, leaving the remainder of the

The original House bill is so written that the President is indisputably the flexible rate-making authority, while a tariff commission is provided to assist him; that is, if he needs its assistance, otherwise he may act irrespective of it.

Commission Coequal Agency.

The conference report made the Tariff Commission sort of a coequal agency in the flexible rate-making business and if the provisions are retained limiting the President to 60 days in which to approve or disapprove a commission recommendation and confining him to acceptance or rejection of that recommendation, it will be that after all.

It would be a right good joke on the Democrats and Progressives now if the House conferees should insist on their original language. It is doubtful if the Senate majority conferees would go that far with them, however, as Senators Smoot, Watson and Shortridge, as well as the other regulars, are primarily interested in rates and they want to mollify the coalition as much as possible to insure the bill's passage.

PINCHOT OPPONENT CONCEDES NOTHING

Both Sides Hurl Charges of Irregularity at Primary Polls.

COURT BATTLES LOOM

Philadelphia, May 28 (A.P.).—While the Pennsylvania Republican primary has been over more than a week and Gifford Pinchot has an unofficial lead over Francis Shunk Brown, his opponent for the Republican nomination for governor, or about 15,000, the leaders supporting Brown have not conceded the nomination to Pinchot.

In three counties of the State, Philadelphia, Lackawanna and Luzerne, charges of irregularity have been made by one side or the other, and in all three counties some of the ballot boxes have been ordered opened for a recount.

In Philadelphia today the Pinchot people succeeded in having the common pleas court order nineteen ballot boxes opened tomorrow and expect to file petitions for the recounting of the vote in many more, on suspicion of fraud.

In Luzerne County, where Pinchot had an official plurality of 26,000 over Brown, the Brown forces have brought charges of irregularities and are filing petitions for the opening of more boxes. One of the allegations in this county is that the action of the Luzerne County court in directing the perforation of ballots in an endeavor to have a clean election, constituted mutilation of the ballots. Threats to take the matter of alleged mutilation to the State Supreme Court have been made.

In Lackawanna County it was discovered that some of the ballots were either destroyed by fire or scorched, and an investigation is underway. In the Borough of Archbald, Lackawanna County, where returns showed Brown received 2,832 votes and Pinchot 396, the Pinchot leaders want the entire borough vote thrown out on allegations of irregularities. Brown carried Lackawanna County by about 4,000.

Two Noted Fliers Visitors in Capital

Mears and Fitzmaurice See Government Officials nad Friends.

Two famous fliers were in Washington yesterday visiting various Government officials.

John Henry Mears, who is planning an airplane trip around the world in the hope of bettering the record time made by the Graf Zeppelin, and Col. James C. Fitzmaurice, transatlantic flier, were received by President Hoover and flew back to New York early last evening. Both stopped at the Hotel Mayflower.

Mears conferred with Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps, and officials of the Federal Radio Commission to obtain certain last-minute information for his proposed flight, which will start about June 10. He was accompanied by Fred Melchoir, Swedish pilot, and his Scotch terrier mascot, "Tail Wind." Fitzmaurice was the guest while here of Daniel J. O'Brien, president and managing director of the Hotel Mayflower. Fitzmaurice and O'Brien were class-mates at Dublin, Ireland. The former Irish army flier is now engaged in commercial aviation in this country.

CHANGE IN POLICY SEEN

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The London Naval Treaty represents the abandonment of America's policy of relying upon the United States Navy to protect American seaborne commerce and the substitution therefor of a fundamentally different policy, according to the last witness appearing before the Senate foreign relations committee yesterday.

Capt. D. W. Knox, recognized authority on matters of naval policy, testified that Admiral William V. Pratt, chief naval adviser to the American delegation at London, had clearly registered approval of the new policy in about 30 different statements made during the course of his lengthy testimony before the Senate committee on naval affairs and the committee on foreign relations. The crux of the whole controversy, Capt. Knox said, is whether the new policy supported by the delegation and Admiral Pratt, on the one hand, or the policy backed by the Navy, almost to the last man, is to be recognized.

In view of Capt. Knox's testimony, there was added interest in the secret diplomatic correspondence between the British and American governments which preceded Ramsay MacDonald's visit last fall and led up to the change in American policy.

Navy Merger Hinted.

It is recalled that the British prime minister persistently hinted at an Anglo-American understanding whereby the British and American navies would pool their interests for the protection of commerce and mutually be ready to assist each other in the event of another war. It was hinted that America's policy of providing for protection of her own trade routes might profitably be modified in line with Mr. MacDonald's program. It was made emphatic that President Hoover would not consider any pooling of British and American naval forces.

The hearings before the foreign relations committee may be concluded today. Capt. Knox and Admiral S. S. Robison, formerly commander in chief of the battleship fleet, testified yesterday.

Admiral Robison explained the advantage of the 8-inch-gun cruiser over the 6-in-gun ship in an elementary way. The 8-inch shell, he pointed out, weighs two and a half times as much as the 6-inch, pierces 8½ inches of armor at 12,000 yards, while the 6-inch pierces less than half that thickness, and can be fired more accurately. The new 8-inch-gun cruisers carry secondary batteries of 5-inch guns for defense against torpedo attack, the admiral added, and the 5-inch guns are better for this sort of work than the 6-inch.

Hindrance by Others Seen.

"Both Great Britain and Japan appreciate the value of the 8-inch gun," he said, "and have gone to great lengths to prevent America from having 8-inch-gun cruisers suitable for America's needs."

Citing concessions made to Great Britain and Japan in the matter of cruisers, destroyers and submarines, the admiral characterized the treaty as a complete negation of the American naval policy established by the Washington treaty. The concessions to Japan will prevent the United States from ever being in a position to defend the Philippines or regain control of the Philippines after they have been taken from us, the admiral continued.

"The American people," he said, "may give up the Philippines voluntarily, but will not suffer them to be taken from us."

"Does the escalator clause destroy any real limitation under the London treaty?" Senator Johnson asked.

"Oh, yes," replied Admiral Robison.

"How does it happen that Great Britain and Japan have powerful battle cruisers and that we have not any?"

"We had four laid down at the time of the Washington treaty. We scrapped our battle cruisers. Great Britain and Japan retained theirs."

Summarizing the main points of Admiral Robison's testimony, Senator Johnson gave the following outline:

First—The London treaty abandons the recognized American naval policy framed for the protection of the national interests.

Second — The London treaty does not give to the United States parity.

Third—The London treaty increases the ratio of Japan.

Fourth—It provides for an increase which is to the great advantage of Japan and the great disadvantage of the United States.

May Not Be Limitations Pact.

Fifth—By the escalator clause, the treaty may not be a limitation treaty at all, but quite the reverse.

Sixth—The treaty compels the United States to abandon building the kind of cruisers which America needs and to build the type of cruisers which Great Britain wishes America to build.

Seventh—Wherever there is an ambiguity in the treaty it may be resolved against the interests of the United States, but never against either Great Britain or Japan.

"Where the United States is concerned," said Admiral Robison, referring to Mr. Johnson's seventh point, "the treaty is restrictive. Where the others are concerned it is permissive."

Senator Reed, at this point, made a desperate attempt to discredit the admiral's testimony. He began with a series of questions as to matters of detail for the purpose, as he explained, of ascertaining whether the admiral could answer them.

When Admiral Robison volunteered to produce data from the records, Mr. Reed snapped:

"Oh, I know, but I want to find out if you know. You came here to criticize the treaty," he began, but Admiral Robison put an end to the senator's tactics by reprimanding him, much to the amusement of other members of the committee.

"Beg your pardon, sir," said the admiral, with fire in his eye, "I did not come here to criticize the treaty. I came here to give the facts as I understand them."

Senator Reed proceeded with more caution, but Senator Johnson intervened for the second time during the hearings to charge that Mr. Reed was misquoting a witness.

"Let's be accurate," said Senator Johnson.

"Very accurate," said Senator Reed.

Again Brought Up Short.

But when Mr. Reed continued with his questions about minute deatils, Admiral Robison cut him short.

"You can't catch me in any small discrepancies," he said. "I'm 60 years old."

"I thought so," said Mr. Reed, whereupon the admiral added, "I'm not dealing in small matters at all."

After trying a new line of questions, Senator Reed said, with respect to the British and Japanese programs, "We've limited them, haven't we?"

"They've limited us," shot back the admiral.

"The commander in chief of the fleet does not think so," ventured Senator Reed.

"Admiral Pratt, until very recently, was of the same opinion I am," replied Admiral Robison, which brought smiles all around, as the change of view of Admiral Pratt has been one of the outstanding features of the hearings.

Cross-Examination Fails.

Senator Reed then tried to cross-examine Admiral Robison concerning the trajectories of shells as shown by the range table, but the admiral disagreed with the senator's conclusions.

"You get rather confused poring over a range table if you don't understand all the factors involved," the admiral observed, and this was the end of the cross-examination so far as Senator Reed was concerned. Senators Borah, Vandenburg, Swanson and Robinson, of Indiana, asked a few questions before Admiral Robison was excused and Capt. D. W. Knox took the stand.

Capt. Knox read a prepared statement which made a profound impression on the committee. He brought out the point that the new American naval policy, indorsed by Admiral Pratt and a few of his aids and opposed by the almost unanimous opinion of the Navy, calls for the sacrifice of a commerce-protecting Navy and the attempted establishment of a Navy designed on the oasis of fleet combat strength.

"Protection of American sea-borne commerce," said Capt. Knox, "dates back to George Washington's message in 1796. This is an abandonment of a fundamental American naval policy."

Commerce Aid Is Gone, Claim.

The London treaty means the sacrifice of America's commerce-protecting power, Capt. Knox declared. He presented the contention that Great Britain and Japan are permitting America to purchase the privilege of having British and Japanese cruiser programs retarded in a new light.

"Our past sacrifices are being used against us," he contended. "America lived up to the letter and spirit of the Washington naval limitation treaty and has laid down eleven ships since then. Great Britain and Japan, violating the spirit of the naval limitation treaty, have laid down 336. Now the British and Japanese insist that we pay the price demanded by them because they have continued to build while we have not been building.

"The net result is a penalty for us for having adhered to the spirit of the Washington treaty," Capt. Knox continued.

Senator Reed's two witnesses, Admiral H. E. Yarnell and Capt. W. W. Smyth, who were in London with Admiral Pratt, will testify today.

NO ALARM OVER ITALY

from the Conservatives are certain when the Labor building program becomes known on the ground that British naval strength has already been crippled by the treaty, and that failure to attain the limits set in that instrument will give the United States more than parity in the cruiser and destroyer classes by 1936 provided the United States builds up to the maximum strength allowed it under the treaty.

Winston Churchill, former Conservative first lord of the admiralty, and his followers claim that the C class of light cruisers built at the end of the war are falling to pieces and objects to the Labor plan to keep some of these in commission after they reach the age of 16 years.

Look to United States.

At present Great Britain's last four 8-inch-gun 10-000-ton cruisers permitted under the treaty are now under construction, one 6-inch-gun cruiser of 7,000 tons is being laid down, and if the two more which Alexander wants are authorized and laid down before next March, this will make seven cruisers in all on the stocks.

It is naturally hoped by Labor statesmen that the United States, following their example, may decide not to build to the full treaty limit, although it is recognized from Washington dispatches that such building, if it takes place, will have Japan rather than this country in mind.

The program outlined above is the Labor government's maximum. It is certain that when this is introduced in Parliament, or alternatively, a smaller program, should Snowden's economy arguments prevail—that the Conservatives will announce their intention of building up to the full treaty limits and scrapping Labor's plans if they attain office during the next five years.

No Alarm Over Italy.

The most significant feature of the present Alexander plan is that it shows the admiralty as displaying no alarm over the French and Italian naval programs despite the tension existing on the continent and Italian announcements that they intend to build ton for ton against France.

The "escalator clause," it is clear from this information which the New York World News Service gives exclusively, is not to be invoked by the Labor government, since the French and Italian programs for the next four years are now fairly accurately known, and Great Britain, if the Alexander program is accepted, will fall considerably below the two-power European standard against France and Italy in the cruiser classes before the treaty negotiated here expires.

TWO G. U. TEACHERS GET BELGIAN HONOR

CEREMONY AT EMBASSY

Decorations of the celebrated Order of Leopold II, granted by King Albert of Belgium, were conferred yesterday afternoon upon Dr. Thomas H. Healy and Dr. Leonid L. Strakhovsky, members of the faculty of the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service.

The insignias of the order were conferred at the Belgian Embassy, in the absence of Ambassador de Ligne, who is abroad, by Viscount de Lantsheere, charge d'affaires.

Dr. Healy was granted the rank of commander in the order, which is one of the oldest and most distinguished in Belgium, in recognition of his work in the field of international law and international relations. The rank of chevalier was conferred upon Dr. Strakhovsky for his work in the field of political and diplomatic history of Europe, on which subject he is a lecturer in the Georgetown school.

Besides being lecturer on international law and foreign relations of the United States at the School of Foreign Service, Dr. Healy is also assistant dean of the school. A native Washingtonian and graduate of Georgetown College and the Georgetown Law School, he twice lectured on international law at the famous Academy of International Law at The Hague.

Only recently the King of Spain conferred the rank of Knight of the Royal Order of Isabella the Catholic upon Dr. Healy for his work in connection with the Spanish Founders International Law. Twice, also, Dr. Healy has been decorated by the King of Roumania. He holds the ranks of officer and commander of the Crown of Roumania. Dr. Healy has made special studies of the Belgian authorities in international law and international relations in connection with and outside his courses at Georgetown.

Dr. Strakhovsky is a native of Russia and has been at Georgetown for the last two years. For a number of years he was associated with Belgian matters and received the degree of doctor of historical sciences from the famous University of Louvain. He already holds the decoration of knight in the Russian Military Order of St. George, conferred by the former Czarist government.

Since coming to Georgetown, Dr. Strakhovsky has been closely associated with Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., in compiling data on the Russian revolution and Soviet Russia.

Son of Ambassador Will Join Embassy

Ramon Padilla Satrustegui, son of Senor Don Alejandro Padilla y Bell, Spanish Ambassador to Washington, yesterday was named secretary of the embassy, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Madrid.

Senor Padilla confirmed the announcement last night but said that he did not know when his son would arrive in the National Capital. The new secretary has been employed in the ministry of state at Madrid.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:10 p. m. to noon today.

Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas, moved that the Senate override the President's veto of the Spanish-American War pension bill. The proposal will be taken up today.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, announced that hearings on the London naval treaty are at an end.

Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, appeared before the lobby committee and expressed full faith in President Hoover, also declaring that Attorney General Mitchell "is the driest Justice Department head we ever had."

Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, introduced a bill requiring all prohibition agents to give a bond of $10,000 to "afford protection to the public against reckless officials."

Increased from $10,000 to $30,000 the appropriation for the investigation of Postoffice Department building leases.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, announced that he would be willing to submit to the people of Montana a referendum on prohibition and that he would "stand by the result."

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 6:45 p. m. to noon today.

By a vote of 196 to 114, passed the Reece plan for private operation of Muscle Shoals

Judiciary committee approved a resolution for an investigation of Judge Harry B. Anderson, of the Western District of Tennessee.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, appeared before the naval committee and gave assurance that the Navy intends to construct both dirigibles now under contract—one of which is to be stationed at the proposed $5,000,000 Pacific Coast dirigible base.

Representative Florence P. Kahn (Republican), California, introduced a bill to carry out the War Department recommendations for establishment of an Army Air Corps depot at Alameda, Calif.

AGENTS ARREST TRIO IN COUNTERFEIT RAID

Secret Service Men Seize Bogus Notes and Press in New York Haul.

$5,000,000 PLOT FOILED

New York, May 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Three Sicilians, who believed the easiest way to make money was to make it and had printed more than $1,000,000 in counterfeit gold certificates since March, were in jail tonight without having realized a penny for their three-month labor.

They were arrested Monday night in the act of operating a large lithograph press in their plant in Eighty-fifth street, Brooklyn, by three secret service agents who had shadowed them for two weeks.

While their neighbors in adjoining apartments slept, the counterfeiters were turning out $540 at each revolution of the press over expertly fashioned zinc plates. Huge piles of the $10, $20 and $50 bills, still uncut and lacking the finishing touches, were piled on tables in the flat when the secret service men smashed down the door.

May Be Indicted Today.

The counterfeiters, unprepared for the raid, offered no resistance. Two of them, Pericles Mannerini and Joseph De Negros, alias Joe Ross, had been arrested for making fake money before. The third was Mattio Matters, alias "the doctor," an expert engraver and lithographer.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner Epstein in Brooklyn today, the men were held in $60,000 bail each. United States Attorney Amell announced he would ask the Federal grand jury to indict them for counterfeiting tomorrow. Matters, according to the prosecutor who questioned the prisoners with Alan G. Straight, chief of the secret service in this district, made a complete confession.

Seven more men, suspected of having plotted with the first three to pass the spurious money, also were arraigned. They were James de Sapib, held in $50,000 bail; John Chickerella, also $50,000; James Russo, $25,000; Michael Caggiano and Philip Villano, $25,000 each; Joseph Patrone, $5,000, and Joe Armone, $3,000. They had been rounded up by secret service men in the last two days, as an entirely different counterfeiting ring.

Chief Straight said arrangements for the distribution of the counterfeit notes on a large scale had been completed by the prisoners. Besides the $1,000,000 already printed, they had planned to turn out about $4,000,000 more before they dismantled their plant, he said. Not a single bill had yet been passed, however.

The leaders of the gang, according to Straight, had agreed to sell the notes at 15 cents on the dollar to "dealers," who would dispose of them at 25 cents to "distributors," the latter parceling them out to "passers" for 40 cents.

Agent Gabriel di Fiore, who led the raid, was assigned three weeks ago to trace the origin of a fake $20 bill passed in a Manhattan restaurant. As his first step he began looking up persons previously arrested for counterfeiting and happened to encounter Mannerini and De Gros.

Experts Praise Quality.

Di Fiore followed them to the home in Eighty-fifth street, Brooklyn, and then reported their suspicious association to his office. Agents Ray Horton and Samuel Goldman were assigned to help him.

They set up a patient "plant" on the house and the movements of the three men. It soon became obvious that the suspects didn't live at the apartment, but were engaged in some mysterious work there. Finally, at 8 o'clock Monday night, the agents staged their raid.

The lithograph press, which operated with absolute silence, covered a full wall in one of the rooms. Most of the bills had as yet been printed on only one side. Even though they still lacked the retouching necessary to imitate the gold seal and silk threads found in genuine certificates, they were pronounced of fine quality by experts.

Tests Before Adopting Children Are Favored

(Associated Press.)

More adequate psychocinical control of child adoption, to replace the old "love at first sight" method of choosing faster children, is advocated in a United States Children's Bureau bulletin now available for distribution.

Mental tests in earliest infancy, the publication holds, would decrease adoption hazards, and thereby increase the number of available foster homes for the quarter of a million children in the United States deprived of parental care.

GRAF, HAVANA BOUND, RECROSSES EQUATOR

19 Passengers Aboard as Huge Takes Off at Pernambuco.

LAKEHURST PLANS SET

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—The Mackay Radio Corporation received a message tonight saying the Graf Zeppelin, bound from Pernambuco to Havana, crossed the equator at 1 a. m. Thursday, Greenwich time (8 p. m. Wednesday, E. S. T.). Her position was given as 40 degrees west longitude, or about 550 miles east of the mouth of the Amazon River.

Pernambuco, Brazil, May 28 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin left for Havana at 11:13 a. m. today (9:13 a. m. Eastern standard time).

The Graf's start had been delayed several hours by rain which made her too heavy to lift. The present flight is a leg of approximately 4,500 miles, mostly along the north coast of South America. This will be the most populous stretch of country over which the Graf has passed since bidding Spain good-by.

The Graf is expected to include the West Indies in the present stage of the voyage. Dr. Eckener expressed the hope of reaching Lakewood, N. J., by Sunday night and Friedrichshafen by June 9.

Havana Awaits Arrival.

The Graf Zeppelin, which now is headed on the North American stretch of her flight, circled over the City of Pernambuco and then headed toward the north.

The nineteen passengers on the Graf, among thme three women, went aboard the ship at 9:30 a. m. and 1½ hours later the Graf cast off from the stub mast here and started for Havana.

Havana, May 28 (A.P.).—Generally fair weather, with but a slight possibility of rain, is forecast for the Graf Zeppelin when it pokes its silver nose over this island republic late Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Dispatch From Von Weigand.

All preparations for the Graf's visit have been completed, and if the weather prognosticator's promise holds true the big ship's stay in Cuba will be a pleasant one.

Three hundred and fifty Cuban soldiers, drilled in the work of a landing crew, will man the ropes that will bring the Graf to the ground after it reaches President Machado Field. In lieu of a mooring mast the Graf will be held securely by these soldiers, working in shifts.

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—The New York American tonight received a copyrighted dispatch from Karl Von Wiegand, its special correspondent aboard the Graf Zeppelin, now en route to Havana and Lakehurst, N. J. The dispatch says:

700 Miles Passed.

We "caught the line" for the second time on this voyage at 10 o'clock tonight (8 p. m. E. S. T.), far out of sight of the Pacific coastline.

Still under an overcast sky, but under weather conditions much more favorable than at our departure from Recife this morning, the huge airship is "eating up" the air miles between us and Havana.

When we passed the Equator at the fortieth meridian, 700 miles of the 4,500-mile hop to Havana were behind us. At that time we were 200 miles due north of Avaracy, on the Brazilian coast, and 700 miles east of the estuary of the Amazon.

Lakehurst Awaits Zeppelin.

Lakehurst, N. J., May 28—(NYWNS)—Coincident with the departure today from Pernambuco of the Graf Zeppelin on the home stretch of her 17,500 mile four-continent flight, arrangements for her reception at the naval air station here took definite form and guesses as to the time of her arrival began to be poular.

The airship is not expected to be at Lakehurst more than forty-eight hours, during which time she will replenish her hydrogen balloonets from several thousand cylinders of this gas already at the naval air station, refill her huge fuel bags from two tank cars of pyrofax gas supplied by the Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corporation and take on whatever amount she needs of 500 gallons of oil and 1,500 gallons of gasoline now awaiting her arrival. A special train provided by the Hamburg American Line, booking agents for the Graf Zeppelin, will take her passengers to New York.

I, ROSA B. SMOLIK, APPEAL TO SENator Waterman, chairman on patents, to introduce my bill, a favor to a progressive novelty. Your attention to this bill I will sincerely appreciate. Over a delay of ten (10) years, I have stood many controversies over my patent, 796159, Rose Bee Apparatus commercializes the mountains; copyright April, 1929, with all my legal rights published, recorded and reserved with two great infringements now to the feast of the twenty-fifth anniversary, victorious. On claims bill S. 3115, by Mr. Copeland, I have hard battles to fight, only to regain strength, renovate forces for the ultimate gain—the reward due to me, with compound interest with recapitalization of the sum reported favorably without amendment by Mr. Johnson, Minnesota, May 20, calendar day, May 24, calendar No. 854, in Senate. Next session, by unobserved code, the next senators, the first report was strengthened unite, muster and combine the dutiful and honest deal on my Might With Right bill for relief; H. Delay caused great ill damages suffered, deprivation of work and income to many of us on the great amounts invested. Possibly you can not see the great offense imposed on me by not using the point of delicacy in my relief bill. I respectfully appeal to the United States Congress to treasure up my merits of many years in Senate and our President, Honorable Herbert Hoover, would permit my native land authorities to represent me in this relief sought in the Senate. TWO DIE AS POLICE BATTLE MOSLEMS

FOUR KILLED OVER DOG

Bombay, May 28 (A.P.).—Turbulent India was much quieter today than yesterday, when disastrous riots in four large cities piled up a toll of 82 dead and more than 800 injured, but tension still existed despite the fact there were few casualties.

Two new flareups occurred at Rangoon, the Burmese capital, where bloody fighting grew out of a dock laborers' strike Monday and Tuesday. One confict developed when police opened fire on Moslems who had held up a street car and assaulted Burman passengers. Two persons were killed and many were injured, the rioters meeting the police fire with stones.

The police opened fire on another occasion when a band of Burmans attacked residents in the vicinity of the contagious diseases hospital, but dispatches reaching here said it had not been determined whether there were any casualties.

Four Killed Over Dog.

Prominent Burmese and Indians have attempted to calm the racial antagonism aroused by the dock strike. They decided that Indian and Burmese coolies should not accept work from shipping companies, except for coaling, until Burmese laborers were given treatment satisfactory to the leaders of both groups.

Bombay resumed its normal aspect today, with police and troops alert to prevent a recurrence of the Moslem disorders in Bhendi bazaar yesterday, where the fighting developed over a dog, and resulted in 4 deaths and 56 injured. The government officially confirmed reports that a dog caused the trouble, asserting that a police sergeant who found a Moslem beating a dog struck the man. The Moslem sought out friends and advanced to police headquarters, where the fighting took place.

At Dacca, where fights between Hindus and Moslems caused the deathe of 1 and injuries to 40, numbers of residents have fled on account of the disorders and there is a food shortage because shops are remaining closed.

Gandhi Drive Continues.

While the recent riots have been principally between dock strikers and Moslems and police, thus not being connected directly with the civil disobedience movement, the salt campaign of the Nationalists is continuing.

Police arrested 117 volunteers today at Dharasana, where numerous salt raids last week caused the arrest and conviction of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu. Twenty-four of them had been arrested at Dungari Station yesterday, but were released and then returned to the camp at Untadi, whence the forays against the Dharasana salt works are launched.

Nahari Parek, one of the leaders of the Dharasana volunteers, was sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment today, while Ambal Patel and Dr. Trishuvandas were given six months' rigorous imprisonment.

COMRADE'S KIN FIND GRAVE OF VETERAN AFTER 65 YEARS

though it was not until she was 18 years old, in 1868, that they were married. Sidney, had never married.

Immediately upon receiving his discharge, Alfred Guiton began a search for Sidney, but all that he could learn was that he had been injured while recovering his company's standard at Brandy Station. There could be found no record of his death nor burial.

Alfred Guiton continued his quest for Sidney's body, and when he died at Prescott, Ariz., in Whipple Barracks there, in 1903, the search was taken up by his wife, Mary, who, although she had never met Sidney Hebden, was fully aware of the affection that had existed between the two men. As none of Hebden's relatives in England were alive, it remained for Mary Guiton to find his body. But death intervened before she could complete the task.

After they had buried their mother, Guiton's two daughters, Lillian and Katie, carried on with their father's dearest ambition to find the body of his boyhood friend. Katie Guiton was handicapped in her part of the search by her duties as an employe of the Pension Bureau here, but Lillian, whose own hair by now is beginning to show faint traces of silver, knew that somewhere lay the body of Sidney Hebden, and that somewhere there must be a record of the burial.

It was not until last August that Maj. J. T. Harris, going through old files of the War Department at the urgent and oft-repeated request of Lillian Guiton, discovered records, the existence of which previously had been unknown, showing that the body of Sidney Hebden lay buried in grave No. 28 in the little National Cemetery at Culpeper, Va.

And so today, exactly 68 years after the two British schoolboys enlisted in the Northern army and on the day before Memorial Day, the body of Sidney Hebden will be brought to Arlington National Cemetery and laid beside that of Alfred Guiton, with full military honors, and with Lillian and Katie Guiton and Gen. John Lincoln Clem, who gained fame as the drummer boy of Chickamauga and Sidney Hebden's closest American friend, as mourners.

band had been forgotten. Now he was about to be remembered and honored. And if they brought the funeral bugler to Washington each year for the services, might they not each year call on Edward, who picked this Unknown?

The sergeant, forgotten, has been forgetting; he is a little puzzled about all the eleventh-hour ado about him, and he is not embittered over the neglect that the Nation has shown him.

"It is certainly great of The Post to bring me down for the services," he said. "Aside from the trip, I appreciate the privilege of being in a position to honor my pals who fell over there. I will never forget this occasion."

Sergt. Younger, a modest, blond chap just over 30, was born in the Chicago Stock Yard district, of German parentage. His father died when he was 3; his mother when he was 9. School, odd jobs, then enlistment on February 23, 1917. He trained at Laredo, Tex., and went to France with one of the first overseas contingents. He was caught under a house wrecked by German shells at Neufchateau, and went to the hospital for several months. Scarcely back to the lines again, he stopped a machine gun bullet in the Argonne drive. He was honorably discharged in 1919 and returned to America, only to reenlist and go back to Germany. He joined the Fiftieth Infantry in Mayen, Germany, in 1921. From there he was ordered to Chalons-Sur-Marne, where he was instructed to select the Unknown Soldier from four caskets, all containing unidentified victims of the struggle "To make the world safe for democracy."

For eight years he has forgotten. Friday he will remember.

Chicago Radio Company Will Employ 15,000

Chicago, May 28 (A.P.).—Expansion of two activities of the Grigsby-Grunow Co. will provide employment for 15,000 persons within the next 60 days, William G. Grunow, president, said today.

Pay rolls aggregating $2,000,000 a month will be needed to take care of 10,000 additional employed who will be put to work in the radio division to step up production to 4,000 sets daily, the announcement said. The additional force of 5,000 men will be employed in initial production of units in the refrigerator division with a monthly pay roll of $1,000,000. President Grunow said advance orders were on hand from the company's sales outlets for 1,000,000 refrigerators.

Committee Named For Red Inquiry

Group Authorized to Expend $25,000 in Quiz on Soviet Activity.

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Longworth yesterday named the special House Committee of five to investigate communist propaganda in this country with Representative Hamilton Fish (Republican), New York, as chairman.

The other members are Representatives Nelson, of Maine, and Bachmann, of West Virginia, Republicans, and Representatives Driver, of Arkansas, and Eslick, of Tennessee, Democrats.

The committee is authorized to expend $25,000 to investigate the activities of all persons and groups associated with the communistic organization in this country, as well as the Amtorg Trading Corporation of New York, the official Soviet government commercial agency, and the "Daily Worker," the official publication for the communists.

82 Navy War College Students Graduated

Newport, R. I., May 28 (A.P.).—Secretary of the Navy Charles Adams this forenoon handed their diplomas to 82 officer-graduates of the Naval War College here. Rear Admiral Joel R. P. Pringle, retiring president of the college, presided, and heard Secretary Adams pay high tribute to his leadership in the three years he has headed the college.

The graduation exercises marked Admiral Pringle's last formal appearance before he transfers his duties to Rear Admiral Harris Laning and assumes command of one of the battleship divisions.

Woman Held on Charge of Operating Disorderly House in Capital.

FIGURED IN SHAKE-DOWN

Rose Marie Foster, one of the principal figures in the recent police scandal resulting from the shooting of James Crotts, Lexington, N. C., carnival showman, was tried in Police Court yesterday before a jury on a disorderly house charge and a mistria' resulted.

The woman, near whose home Crotts was shot shortly after he and two companions are alleged to have attempted to shake her down for police protection, was arrested last November 13 by Policemen A. D. Mansfield and H. G. Wannamaker. The two policemen were the only Government witnesses and the defense offered none.

Mansfield and Wannamaker testified that a house on K street where the Foster woman resided prior to November 13 had been under observation for more than a week, and that during that time groups of men entered and left the house during the evening.

Attorneys E. Russel Kelly and Joe Kelly, who defended the woman, objected to the major part of the Government's testimony on the assumption that the police did not have probable cause to enter the house and arrest their client without a warrant.

The case against the Foster woman was nolle prossed when she left the District, but she returned prior to the shooting of Crotts and the charge was reinstated.

The jury took the case at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Judge McMahon sent it to dinner at 6:30. It returned at 8:15 o'clock and resumed deliberations and was dismissed at 10:30 o'clock.

$3,320 High Bid Made For Hulk of Submarine

(Associated Press.)

The hulk of the submarine S-51, which cost $2,229,000 and in which 34 men lost their lives when the craft was rammed and sunk in 1925, may bring the Navy less than $3,500 as scrap iron.

The submarine sank after a collision with the City of Rome off Block Island on September 25, 1925. Raised to the surface the next spring, she was stripped of fittings and motors and later offered for sale. Five bids, the highest $3,320, were offered yesterday. The Secretary of the Navy may reject all the bids or order that the highest be accepted.

Girl Sues Gas Company And City for $10,000

Claiming that she became desperately ill last February 16 when she inhaled gas from a defective gas main, Dorothy Graham, a minor, through her father, F. E. Graham, of 1108 Twenty-second street northwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $10,000 damages from the Washington Gas Light Co. and the District of Columbia.

The girl charges that the District made an excavation in front of the house at 1106 Twenty-second street northwest which in some manner effected a leak in a gas main which the company neglected to repair. Attorneys Lavine & Lavine appear for the girl.

Fund Is Started to Buy Yacht for Pope Pius XI

Rome, May 28 (A.P.).—A news agency dispatch said that as an outgrowth of the Pope's action in hiring a ship in order to send Cardinal Lepicier as legate to the eucharistic congress in Carthage, a group of American Catholics is raising a fund to buy the Pope a yacht for similar purposes.

The agency said a Spanish group likewise is gathering funds for the same purpose and adds that negotiations will be necessary between the Vatican and Italy regarding a port for the pontifical ship.

Burned G. O. P. Ballots Found in Pennsylvania

Scranton, Pa., May 28 (A.P.).—County commissioners presiding at the official count of the votes cast in Lackawanna County's primary discovered today that a number of Republican ballots in the Third District of the Third ward in Olyphant had been either destroyed by fire or scorched in the column that carried the names of Republican candidates for governor and United States senator.

Man Held in Canal Zone On Charge of Forgery

Panama, May 28 (A.P.).—The Canal Zone police authorities are holding Joseph Lemuel Laudermilk, of San Francisco, who arrived here May 25 aboard the steamship Gargoyle for extradition to California on a charge of forgery.

Laudermilk is being held on the request of William J. Quinn, San Francisco police chief. He was placed in the Balboa Jail pending arrival of the proper authorities from California.

116 MORE MOTHERS REACH WAR GRAVES

U. S. Women Sleep in Towns Swept to Fame by 1917 Shot and Shell.

BELGIAN HERO HONORED

Paris, May 28 (A.P.).—One hundred and sixteen American Gold Star mothers today rejoined the sons and husbands they kissed good-by thirteen years ago and never saw again. The second group of war mothers has reached the mecca of its pilgrimage at the graves of the great battle front cemeteries.

Tonight they slept in towns the war made famous: Soissons, Chateau Thierry, St. Quentin and the long besieged Verdun. Tomorrow they will go out beyond these towns to where lie the doughboys, each with his little white marble cross and robe of green.

Upon scenes passing their imagination tomorrow the American mothers will look and weep. The mothers' joy at reunion will be mixed with the poignancy of a reawakened grief. But with tender touch they will place flowers upon many graves, and the pain will be less.

The mothers will have several days in the region. Afterward they will return to Paris—a woman's Paris, where the delights of shopping for little gifts to them will complete the heartache cure.

Brussels, May 28 (A.P.).—Although no official program had been evolved for them today, the mothers and wives of the veterans of the Twenty-seventh American Army Division made an informal pilgrimage to the Rue Royale, where Belgium's unknown warrior is buried, and placed a wreath on the tomb.

Bank Aid Commits Suicide in Chicago

Linguist Carried Letters of Recommendation From L. S. Rowe.

Chicago, May 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Calvin T. Combs, recently of Buenos Aires, where his letters indicate he was connected with the branch of the National City Bank, shot and killed himself in a room in the Congress Hotel today. Mr. Combs was an Englishman, according to Hotel Manager John Burke, and registered Monday.

In one letter he was described as a technical translator and linguist. There were six letters of recommendation signed by L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union at Washington. All the letters indicated that Mr. Combs was in this country seeking to make a connection with an advertising firm desirous of establishing a South American branch. It was apparent that he had failed in the attempt.

L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union, said last night that he did not recall having met Mr. Combs. He will search his office files today to see whether he has a duplicate of the letter purported to have been written by him which was found in the suicide's clothing.

Scopes Counsel to Run For U. S. Senate Seat

Nashville, Tenn., May 28 (A.P.).—Dr. John R. Neal, of Knoxville, a member of the defense counsel in the antievolution trial of Prof. John T. Scopes at Dayton, Tenn., in 1924, has announced his candidacy for the United States Senate. Three Democratic candidates are now in the race that will be decided in the party primary August 7. Representative Cordell Hull, of the Fourth District, and Andrew L. Todd, capitalist, of Murfreesboro, announced some time ago.

Senator William E. Brock, of Chattanooga, the Democratic incumbent, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Lawrence D. Tyson, has not indicated whether he will seek the nomination.

DRY LEADER STATES FAITH IN PRESIDENT

Deets Pickett Labels Present Attorney General as Driest of Dries.

CANNON NOW AWAITED

(Associated Press.)

Full faith in President Hoover and the belief that Attorney General Mitchell "is the driest Justice Department head we have ever had" were voiced yesterday before the Senate lobby committee as it completed an investigation into the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Testifying before the committee, Deets Pickett, research secretary of the board, expressed these views and said the President, being responsible for enforcement, should have a free hand in determining policies.

Along with this testimony the committee received into its records a report submitted to the board in December, 1928, by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, its general secretary, which said the prohibition problem had been "infinitely better handled by Secretary Mellon and his men" than it would have been by A. Mitchell Palmer, Harry M. Daugherty, or the "easy-going" John J. Sargent, all former Attorneys General.

Doran Praised in Report.

The report also praised the appointments of Prohibition Commissioner Doran and Semour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, asserting that "two better" ones could not have been made anwhere in the United States.

Wilson's report opposed transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department, but Pickett explained the board changed its opinion after President Hoover recommended transfer. The act to carry out the transfer was signed Tuesday.

The committee adjourned until next Tuesday when it will question Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, concerning his prohibition activities and his opposition to Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Most of the attention of the committee was centered yesterday on the Wilson report, which said the board had used "all the energy in the planning that we were capable of in bringing about the election of Herbert Hoover as President and Charles Curtis for the Vice President."

No Apology, Says Report.

"We had to do this," the report added, "or permit the wet nullifier to imperil prohibition and all future moral standards for our country. We have no apology to make to anybody."

Wilson asserted he thought some of the leaders "will be spending the balance of their lives trying to explain away their speeches in the last campaign." He named Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate.

Questioned about the report, Pickett said some of it had been published in periodicals of the board, but he did not know whether all of it had been made public.

SENATE NOT TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION ISSUE

was submitted to the people of my State I would vote against it myself and I would use all my power to induce the people of my State to vote against it, but I will vote at the request duly made by the people of my State for a proposition in the Senate to submit the question to them."

Mr. Jones, who made his statement after the Republican convention of his State had adopted a wet platform, said he was satisfied with conditions.

"Those who want to change legislation are the ones who can try, if they desire, to take advantage of the referendum laws of my State," he said.

The Senate joined in laughter as the dry champion read a headline from a newspaper stating "Jones Will Go Wet if State so Directs."

"If anybody can find any justification for a headline like that in anything I have said they are welcome to it," he said. "If the wets are so anxious to find something consoling in statements that these things bring them consolation they are welcome to it."

Other prohibition developments included the introduction by Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, of a bill to require bonding of prohibition agents for $10,000.

"The bond," he explained in a statement, "would be for the payment of damages for wrongfully or negligently causing personal injury or death by damage to or loss of property or for trespass to persons or property by prohibition agents under the color of discharge of their duty."

Navy Tug Will Tow Byrd's Bark.

Panama, May 28 (A.P.).—Announcement was made today that the Navy tug Sciota will tow the bark City of New York for 72 hours from Cristobal after the Byrd supply ship goes through the Panama Canal. The Eclancr Bolling reported her noon position as 661 miles from Balboa with the bark in tow. She expects to arrive late Saturday evening.

Mr. Gilligan said:

"This board has stood too long in the way of the rights of teachers and other citizens. Take the case of Miss Watkins and kindergarten legislation. The board has never done anything about the kindergartens and we can't get the views of the teachers because of the superintendent's attitude.

"It seems to me that some school officials and board members are scaring teachers to such an extent that they are afraid to speak here or at Congress. I agree perfectly with the contention of the Teachers Union that this board is attempting to curtail the constitutional rights of American citizens."

Dr. Carusi retorted: "I am entirely in sympathy with the constitutional rights of teachers or any other citizens, but I am not in sympathy with this view of the Teachers Union. I believe they go too far. They seem to overlook the fact that Congress has given the Board of Education the right to formulate a school system. Congress could have just as well decided that a body of teachers should perform the same duty.

Subordination Held Necessary.

"There are times when subordination is necessary," Dr. Carusi continued, "and the school teachers are subordinates. Until the rules of the Board of Education are changed, if they are changed, we should continue to have the right to see that this subordination is preserved and that teachers or other school employes do not seek to thwart the purposes of the board."

The verbal tilt ended when Mrs. Doyle introduced a motion recommending that the rule providing for teachers and other school employes to get permission from the Board of Education before pushing legislation be referred to the rules committee of the board for the purpose of either clarifying and strengthening the rule or abolishing it. The motion was adopted.

Yesterday's session was lively from start to finish. At the very opening of the meeting Dr. Carusi launched an attack on a House bill, which seeks to have the Board of Education prescribe a course of instruction for elementary schools for humane treatment of animals and birds. Introduced by Representative Zihlman, the bill further asks that no experiments upon living creatures shall be permitted in any public school in the District.

Carusi Attacks Measure.

"This is the sort of legislation which unfortunately shows that Congress is trying to interfere with the policy of the Board of Education in formulating proper school instruction," averred Dr. Carusi. "If this sort of thing is allowed to continue our school instruction will be made a thing of shreds or patches."

Dr. Ballou made the observation that humane education is provided for in the science courses. The bill was unanimously disapproved by the board.

Mr. Gilligan made a motion asking that the old Business High School be turned into an Americanization School for the District. Dr. Carusi suggested that first it should be determined whether it would be legal to follow such a procedure. Mr. Gilligan agreed to this. Final action on the matter is expected at the regular meeting of the board next week.

The meeting yesterday was a special session called for the purpose of expediting the clearing of business before the end of the school year.

BRAWNER ELECTED ROTARY PRESIDENT

GOLF PRIZES AWARDED

Henry N. Brawner, jr., president of Chestnut Farms Dairy Co., was elected president of the Washington Rotary Club at its annual banquet at the Willard Hotel last night. He succeeds Arthur J. May, president of the F. P. May Hardware Co.

Percy Thompson, of the Pierce Lumber Co., was elected vice president to succeed Mr. Brawner, and Oscar R. Evans, f O. R. Evans & Bros., Inc.; John C. Letts, dairy farmer; and Norman W. Oyster, restaurateur, were elected directors.

The speaker was Henry N. Payne, consulting engineer of the American Mining Congress, whose topic was "The New Trend in Industry." He illustrated his subject by opinting out that "not long ago if we missed the stage coach we were entirely willing to wait a week for the next one; now if a business man misses one section of a revolving door it ruins his entire day" and "it used to take a sheep a year to grow enough wool to make a woman's dress; now a silkworm does it in a couple of Saturday afternoons."

The speaker urged greater attention to the advisability of manufacturing at the source of raw materials, instead of at some point far removed which increases production costs unnecessarily.

DeWitt Kinistry, of W. & J. Sloane, was elected to membership, being introduced by Harrison Howe.

The club also passed its opinions upon twelve resolutions which are to be presented at the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of Rotary International at Chicago next month. A resolution to give attendance credit to members who are unable to be present at meetings because of jury duty was approved, this being in line with Rotary's action in sponsoring a movement to provide more effective and competent juries in courts throughout the Nation.

Other important resolutions considered included one to permit joint district conferences, which are approved, and one to create past-service memberships, not to exceed 10 per cent of the active membership of any club and to be renewed annually by the directors, for members who have retired from active business. The Washington club's delegates to Chicago will be uninstructed regarding a resolution to create a position on the international directorate for South America.

Prizes in the Radcliffe Trophy golf tournament, held on Tuesday at Burning Tree Golf Club, were presented, first prize going to Clyde Ashtr with a low gross of 74. Clinton Connelle, of the advance staff of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Circus, entretained with music and stories.

CITY APPROPRIATION CONFEREES TO MEET

Gathering Today Wil Open What Promises to Be Long Battle.

HOUSE FIGHTS CHANGES

The Senate and House conferees on the $44,000,000 District appropriation bill will hold their first meeting this afternoon to begin what promises to be a long and gruelling battle.

The Senate conferees are headed by Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), of Connectciut; those of the House by Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska. The conferences are to be held in the office of the Senate appropriations committee.

Taking the bill as passed by the House, the Senate wrote in a score or more changes. Of these, at least ten will cause extended discussion.

Foremost among the Senate amendments is the one that increases the Federal contribution to the city from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000. The House cnoferees are virtually pledged to hold out against this to the end.

Another important Senate amendment is the one to reduce from $3,000,000 to $1,000,000 the sum to be used in purchasing property for the municipal center. It is likely that the conferees will tackle this first.

Other Senate changes include an amendment that eliminated the House provision to reduce the number of kindergarten teachers, an amendment providing ¢ 0,000 for a war on mosquitoes and a number of amendments affecting street repairs.

The prospect is for a deadlock on the bill that may last up until the eve of adjournment.

Italy Rewards Sea Rescuers.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy Department was informed yesterday that Capt. George Fried, his chief officer, Harry Manning, and eight members of the crew of the steamship America have been awarded medals by the Italian government for their rescue of 32 men from the Italian steamship Florida in January, 1929. Capt. Fried previously had been awarded a navy cross for rescuing the crew of the British steamship Antince.

Mellon Interests In $10,000,000 Deal

Oil Merger Announced by Paragon Firm Head in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 28 (A.P.).—A $10,000,000 oil merger deal was completed here today, E. W. Edwards, president of the Paragon Oil Co., announcing his company had been sold to the Mellon interests at Pittsburgh for that amount.

Directors of Paragon Co. accepted an offer made by the Union Trust Co., Pittsburgh, Edwards said. All that remains to finish the transfer is approval of the stockholders and Edwards said that will be accomplished on June 24. Financial circles here understood that the Pittsburgh Bank acted for the Gulf Oil Corporation, which is controlled by Mellon interests.

The Paragon Co. operated 300 oil stations in Ohio and 100 in Michigan. Its principal plant is at Toledo. Edwards said preferred stockholders will receive $50 a share and class B stockholders will get about $16 or $17 a share after the company is liquidated.

Musical Audition Grop To Be Headed by Harned

Dr. Ibert W. Harned has been named chairman of a committee representing civic and musical organizations of the Capital to supervise the District's contestants in the fourth national radio audition with the Atwater Kent Foundation's $25,000 in cash and musical scholarships as the prizes.

All Washington singers between 18 and 25 years of age are eligible and rules will be announced later, Dr. Harned said. Another meeting to discuss these plans will be held June 2 at the WRC studio. Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of District Commissioners, has been invited to act as honorary chairman of the committee.

Uruguay Envoy to Wet Capital School Album

Miss Vivian Unger, third grade pupil of Jackson School, this morning will present to Dr. Jacobo Varela, Minister of Uruguay, an album made for the United States School in Montevideo. In a similar ceremony on February 19, 1929, such an album was presented to Jackson School by Dr. Varela.

Today's ceremony will take place in Montrose Park and will be attended by Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan American Union; Dr. Esteban Gil Borges, assistant director; Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools. Pupils of the Jackson and Powell Schools, who made the album, will march into the park headed by the Western High School Band.

Planes Seek Lost Fliers in Saraha

Camel Trains Join Search for Four Presumably Held for Ransom.

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, May 28 (A.P.).—The silence of the Sahara tonight was broken by the roar of airplanes seeking two Spanish aviation officers, their mechanic and a Moorish chieftain, wrecked and presumably held for ransom by nomads of the sandy wastes.

Across the desert trails camel trains made their slow way while through the surrounding rim of African coast back-country near Cape Juby picked scouts sent out by the Spanish and Morocan governments vainly hunted for Commandante Ricardo Burguette, Capt. Nunez Maza, Vincente Ferrer and their Moorish companion.

With the search by air, land and sea, it was hoped relief of the captives might not be far away, although officials admitted they were beset by grave difficulties. The nomads, it was said, would forestall rescue at all costs until substantial payments were in their hands. Lieut. Col. Pena, governor of the Spanish Sahara region today took charge of the diplomatic and financial phases of the situation.

Powder-Puff Burglar Sought.

Police last night were searching for the powder-puff burglar who yesterday looted the Vanity Beauty Shop at 1348 Connecticut avenue. The thief stole a quantity of cosmetics. An estimate of the loss was not given by the proprietor.

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

*"An investigation conducted by the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors and the Actuarial Society of America revealed the fact that the death rate increases practically 1% for every pound of excess weight carried between the ages of 40 and 44 years. In other words, a man 40 pounds overweight at this age has only 60% of the expectancy of life of a man of normal weight." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. RUM ISSUE AT POLLS IS METHODISTS' AIM

REPORTS ARE RECEIVED

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 28.—The reading of the reports of the district superintendents was the main item of business at the opening session of the 146th Baltimore annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and, while all more or less touched on the prohibition question, it remained for that of the Rev. H. Wilson Burgan, of the Baltimore district, to bring the first enthusiastic outburst.

It was when the Rev. Frank R. Bayley, pastor of Walbrook Church, arose to say that while it was not customary to comment on superintendents' reports, he wished to call particular attention to Dr. Burgan's remarks on prohibition and moved that they be referred to the findings committee for a statement from the conference as a whole. This was done by unanimous vote amid applause.

The gist of the Burgan report was found in the words: "We are not interested in straw votes, but we are eager for a wet-dry fight in the election for governor and other offices in Maryland this fall.' Dr. Burgan said his district churches are behind the Antisaloon League and the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Membership Gain Reported.

The reports submitted included that of the Washington district by the Rev. J. Phelps Hand, who will retire after filling the position six years. He reported 1,795 accessions to membership in the district during the year, of which 881 were received by letter and 915 from preparatory membership and profession of faith. The reports say the constant advance in ministerial support is gratifying. In 1920 the cash salaries paid the ministers in the district were $68,560. This year it is $109,660, an increase of 60 per cent. In 1920 there were 31 full-time charges whose salaries was less than $2,000. This year there are but fourteen.

Bishop William L. McDowell, of the Washington area, who is presiding, addressed the conference on "Meditation on Pentecost." The bishop declared there was too much defective thinking in the church, too much tendency to think of Jesus Christ as somewhat less than God.

The opening address was delivered by the Rev. Oscar Thomas Olson, of Baltimore, in the absence of the Rev. Don S. Colt.

In the afternoon the annual meeting of the Mutual Benefit Association was held, the Rev. R. G. Koontz, of Baltimore, being president, and the Rev. A. Hart McKinley, Washington, secretary. This organization pays $250 upon the death of a member, but no minister over 45 years old may join.

Oldest Member Speaks.

The oldest member now is the Rev. Charles W. Baldwin, of Baltimore, who is in his ninety-first year. At the conference memorial service last night he paid tribute to the Rev. Joel Brown, of Baltimore, who died in the last year in his ninety-first year.

The two changes to be made among district superintendents was a matter of much discussion. They are Frederick, the Rev. Edwin T. Mowbray, and Washington, the Rev. J. Phelps Hand. Both are among the leading districts, Frederick paying the largest salary of all on account of its wide territory, involving heavier traveling expenses. Usually when there is a change in district superintendents it involves many pastoral changes in the district, and this is a matter of much discussion among the Washington contingent.

Mrs. Florence Reinheimer, of Baltimore, presided this afternoon at the anniversary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, this being the jubilee year. The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Fred C. Reynolds, of Washington, and the address was by the Rev. King D. Beach, of Baltimore. Tonight at the anniversary of the board of foreign missions, Bishop James C. Baker, stationed in Korea, talked. Early this evening the Boston University banquet was held at Central Y. M. C. A.

Attorney and Father Given Change of Venue

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., May 28.—While overruling demurrers to four indictments returned by the May grand jury against D. Webster Groh, wealthy landowner and his son, Garland E. Groh, local attorney, charged with perjury, a full bench of the circuit court here late today granted father and son a change of venue.

Their trials will be held in Frederick at the September term of court. Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Associate Judges Frank G. Wagaman and Albert A. Doub rendered the decision.

National Forest Tract Bought in West Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., May 28.—An additional 16,955 acres in the Smoke Hole section of Pendleton and adjoining counties has just been authorized for purchase by the Federal Government as an addition to the Monongahela National Forest, it has been learned here.

The approximate cost is $64,000, or slightly less than $4 per acre, and the purchase increases the size of the forest to about 290,000 acres.

Man Badly Burned As Clothes Ignite

Resident of Seat Pleasant Is Victim of Blaze in Garage.

Because he struck a match in a garage after working on a truck at his home in Seat Pleasant, Md., Thomas Taylor, 24 years old, was in a critical condition at Casualty Hospital last night. His clothing, which had become saturated with gasoline, burst into flames when Mr. Taylor tried to light a cigarette.

Melvin Reifenstuhl, also of Seat Pleasant, who operates an ice company with which Mr. Taylor is employed, heard the youth's screams and ran to his aid with a blanket.

Mr. Taylor was taken to Casualty Hospital, where it was found he had severe burns on almost the entire upper part of his body.

Cumberland Man Faces Charge of Incendiarism

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 28.—Steve Freno, proprietor of the Southend bowling alley, who had been in jail since May 22, following an explosion and fire which wrecked his place of business, was held last night for the October grand jury on a warrant secured by Deputy Fire Marshal Joseph F. Dougherty, of Baltimore, who investigated the matter. He was released on $1,500 bond.

Officers say that there was evidence of incendiarism, that a hole had been cut in the door on the inside and a fuse laid which had evidently connected with a container filled with gasoline or other inflammable fluid.

Divorced Husband Sues Financier in Wheeling

Arbenz, former city engineer, recently was granted a divorce in which Romine was named as corespondent.

Legion Plans Rites On Memorial Day

World War Veterans to Supplant Those of G. A. R.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 28.—The last survivor having been mustered out by death, no member of the Grand Army of the Republic will take part in memorial exercises Memorial Day at the National Cemetery here Friday, it was announced today.

Instead, ceremonies will be in charge of Robert Y. Conrad Post, American Legion, which will assist the Ladies' National Memorial Association in decorating graves of over 5,000 Federal solders killed here during the Civil War. More than a dozen World War soldiers are also buried in the same cemetery. Many of the young men taking part in the ceremonies are sons and grandsons of Confederate veterans.

Nelson F. Richards, post commander, will preside, and the address will be made by the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Thomas, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church.

Suspect in Safe Thefts Is Seized While Asleep

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., May 28.—Surprised by officers while he was sleeping at the home of a friend near Richmond with a large loaded revolver and a cartridge belt hanging over the bed, Ross Morgan, 40, Lumberport miner, wanted here for a series of safe robberies, was brought to jail here today by a State policeman.

Morgan was arrested last week but broke out of the town jail at Lumberport. Three others have been jailed as members of the alleged band of safe crackers that robbed numerous stores and postoffices in this section.

Postoffice in Canaan Robbed.

Clarksburg, W. Va., May 28 (Special).—Goods, money and stamps, aggregating several hundred dollars in value, were stolen by burglars who looted the Canaan postoffice in Upshur County, 20 miles south of Buckhannon this morning. Sheriff H. A. Zikefoose, of Buckhannon, and State police are investigating.

Two Dead in Italy Once Lived Here

Nurses Traveling on Motor Tour Are Killed in Auto Crash.

Two nurses, said to have lived in Washington for a short time previous to starting a motor tour of Europe, were killed in an automobile accident near Ronta, Italy, yesterday, according to Associated Press dispatches. They are Miss Helen Gee, 30 years old, and Miss Ruth Henderson, 32 years old. Both were graduates of the Johns Hopkins School for Nurses in Baltimore.

Miss Gee was the daughter of Elisha Gee, of Denver, Colo., vice president of the American Beet Sugar Co. Her remains will be cremated in Italy and the ashes shipped to her home in Denver. Miss Henderson, a native of New Brunswick, has a sister, Miss Margaret Henderson, also a nurse, living in Baltimore.

The two young women, graduates of the class of 1921 at Johns Hopkins, had been nursing up to the time of their departure for Europe, Miss Gee in Denver and Miss Henderson in Baltimore. They were unaccompanied on their trip, doing their own driving, friends said. The Nurses Registry in Washington has no record of either of the young women.

Cumberland Aerie Host To Baltimore Mayor

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 28—Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore, who is expected to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, was the honor guest at a chicken dinner at Cumberland Aerie, No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, last night. Mayor Thomas W. Koon accompanied the reception committee to the Baltimore & Ohio station to welcome Mayor Broening. Capt. J. Philip Roman, former State's attorney, who is president of the aerie, introduced Mayor Broening. F. Brooke Whiting was toastmaster.

Talks were also given by State Senator William A. Gunter, former State's Attorney Fuller Barnard, State's Attorney William A. Huster, John B. Macfarlane, member of the Maryland House of Delegates and past State president of the Eagles, and County Commissioner Nelson W. Russler. John Schauwecker was chairman of the entertainment committee.

Committee Planning Apple Festival Fete

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., May 28.—Adam and Eve, the Garden of Eden, the insidious snake and the apple that caused all the trouble will be the features of at least a major part of the apple harvest festival to be held in Martinsburg on October 2, 3 and 4, it was announced here today by H. C. Brooks, in charge of the committee named by the Chamber of Commerce to arrange for the event.

The committee now is at work with plans to complete the program for the festival, which will include a pageant, street parade, dances and many other features.

Woman Lies Helpless For Hours After Fall

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 28.—Lying several hours helpless on the floor of her livingroom with a fractured hip and unable to attract neighbors by feeble cries for help, Mrs. Margaret Hollar, widow of William Hollar, was in a serious condition bordering on pneumonia today in a hospital.

She said she slipped and fell while alone during the early evening and remained on the floor unable to help herself until her sons and daughters came home at night. Meanwhile, she had suffered a severe chill.

Girl Is Hurt by Taxicab.

Evelyn Vambakas, 7 years old, of 621 New Jersey avenue northwest, was struck by a taxicab in front of the Gales School yesterday afternoon. The child was taken to Casualty Hospital suffering from abrasions of the right leg. The taxicab was operated by John R. West, of 1336 Eleventh street northwest.

Two Hurt as Crash Upsets Automobiles

Two men were injured late yesterday when their automobiles upset after a collision at Fifth and R streets northwest.

James W. Brown, 50 years old, of Brookville, Md., driver of one of the machines, suffered a possible skull fracture and several broken ribs. He was taken to Casualty Hospital for treatment. The other driver, Luther C. Bushong, colored, 18 years old, of 1329 U street southeast, suffered slight bruises, which were treated at the hospital.

Father-and-Son Banquet Is Held

Senator Copeland Among the Speakers Heard by Jewish Group.

More than 250 fathers and sons gathered in the National Press Club auditorium last night to hear Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, who was the principal speaker at the fifth annual father and son banquet of the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation. Senator Copeland paid tribute to both the boys and their "dads" with a kind word for the mothers as well. Other speakers were Dr. Abram Simon, Joseph Solomon, president of the congregation; Norman Kal, president of the brotherhood; Sherry Stein and Kirk Miller.

Following the program of speaking a series of entertaining acts was presented. The portion of the evening's entertainment was arranged by Henry Jaffee, while Alvin L. Newmyer acted as master of ceremonies. A number of bats, gloves and baseballs, autographed by members of the Nats, were given to the boys present as prizes.

Boy Swallows Tacks When Slapped on Back

Grover W. Davis, 11 years old, of 1539 D street southwest, swallowed tacks while in the manual training room of the Bradley School at Linworth and D streets southwest yesterday. He was taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment and was later removed to his home, where he is under the care of a family physician.

The boy had the tacks in his mouth when another unidentified youngster slapped him on the back, causing him to swallow some of them.

President Will Sign Retirement Bill Today

President Hoover will sign the Dale-Lehlbach civil service retirement bill at 11 o'clock today, thereby making that measure a law.

Among those who will witness the ceremony will be Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employes, and Gertrude McNally, the secretary-treasurer of that organization.

Soviet Sea Captain In U. S. Is Accused

Immigration Authorities to Hear Charges Against Ship's Skipper.

Baltimore, May 28 (A.P.).—Charges that Capt. John Galin deserted his Soviet ship, the Aledo, in New York, May 8, without accounting for an alleged shortage of $1,600, were before immigration authorities today, made by a representative of the Soviet's Amtorg Trading Corporation.

The counterclaim that the charges were brought by Amtorg officials to get him back to Russia for purposes of their own, which he would not discuss, were made by Galin at an immigration hearing.

Counsel for Galin said disposition of his fate depended on whether the Department of Labor ruled he came to this country as a passenger or seaman. If a passenger, he could be deported at once, but a seaman is given 60 days to leave the country and may go where he chooses. Pending the ruling, Galin was freed under $500 bond.

Fearing Auto Crash, Child Dies of Fright

Special to The Washington Post.

Shenandoah Junction, W. Va., May 28.—Dorothy Sager, 15, school child, died of fright in the automobile of J. Y. Blackford, merchant here, this morning when she thought the car was about to be hit on a grade crossing by an approaching Norfolk & Western passenger train. The train missed the car by inches. Mr. Blackford, driving the car with the girl as a guest on the way to his store, did not hear or see the train, but the girl did. She was graduated from grammar school Tuesday.

Two of her sisters have died suddenly within the past two years, one while playing with children in the yard and another while playing with Christmas toys at the home.

Workman Near Death From Dynamite Blast

Winchester, May 28.—Roy Legg, 24, of Laurel Mills, Va., lingered precariously ill tonight in a hospital here from multiple injuries sustained late yesterday in a dynamite explosion near Culpeper, where he was working at a blacksmith forge for the State highway department. He was welding iron when the blast occurred.

It was thought dynamite caps or pieces of the explosive were in the coal. An investigation is in progress. Legg's abdomen was so badly torn doctors feared peritonitis. It is probable he will lose his eyesight. His face, chest and hands were severely lacerated. Legg has a family.

Army Officer to Wed New Yorker.

Lieut. Charles R. Ensey, jr., 29 years old, of the Army and Navy Club, and Miss Dorothy Louise Houston, 24 years old, of New York City, obtained a license to wed yesterday in New York City. They said they would be married today at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, by the Rev. Milo H. Gates.

EUROPE TURNS TO PROTECTION.

Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, who has just returned from Europe, explodes the false reports that America's friendly trade relations with that continent are about to be disrupted by the new tariff. No indications of retaliatory measures are in sight, according to Senator Moses. He found that public men in England, France, the Balkans and other countries are aware of the American practice of revising tariff duties about once every decade, and they recognize America's right to do so.

This survey by Senator Moses confirms what has long been apparent—that the threats of foreign retaliation have been coming not from abroad but from the free traders and internationalists within the United States. Next to Great Britain this country is the greatest market for foreign goods in the world. No nation will thoughtlessly jeopardize its trade relations with America. Foreign concerns which have been profiting at the expense of American industries naturally find fault with the new tariff, but European governments know that the American ports are not being closed to trade.

The changes that are being made in the tariffs of other countries are in imitation of American policy. The United States has come to occupy a foremost place in international trade and its people have become prosperous under the protective system. Senator Moses suggests that England's domestic problems might be solved by high tariffs. It is logical to expect tariff revisions at London, Paris, Berlin and Rome—not in retaliation against the United States, but because it is good sense. If such revisions are made and the countries of Europe prosper under them trade will be stimulated and conditions in the whole world will be improved.

The United States has no monopoly on the protective principle, and does not care for one. No one but an inveterate free trader would expect the rest of the world to stand by and see the United States grow rich by encouragement of its domestic industries without following the example. Why not give foreign nations credit for recognizing economic leadership instead of interpreting their common sense as "retaliation?"

FRAGMENTATE THE GOVERNMENT?

The Chicago Tribune, having failed to obtain action upon its proposal to wipe out all State lines and remake the map of America with 48 new States carved out in strict accord with what it considers economic unity, now proposes the fragmentation of Washington. The Tribune is alarmed by the District's 10 per cent population gain. "A growing Washington," it says, "is a growing bureaucracy, concentrated in the city where the social protocol is the bill of rights and where moralistic boards constitute the political hierarchy." The Tribune continues:

> The census shows that Washington is too big by 480,000 people. It is valuable for its past but obnoxious in its present and ominous in its future. Its ambitions are embassy liquor and first place at the table. It is properly disfranchised, but, deprived of the rights of an electorate, it is bent upon breaking down democratic rights everywhere. It should be preserved as a tomb, in which memorial aspect it could be visited and revered. Its governmental activities should be scattered over the country.

A subtle compliment is conveyed in the fact that Chicago finds time to consider the Capital. There have been rumors of late that things weren't going so well in the Windy City—that the police, if Chicago has police, have been having trouble with obstreperous characters, that the politicians were having trouble holding the confidence and respect of the public and that the municipal treasury was temporarily embarrassed. Chicago unquestionably has her hands full trying to get her municipal house in order, and her sacrifice in taking time to turn for a moment to consider the affairs of another city is commendable. How does the Tribune propose to put down the menace of an expanding Washington? It proposes to fragmentate the Government.

"The Department of Agriculture," it says, "should be in Iowa. The Treasury Department should be in Chicago, the Navy Department in San Francisco, the Interior Department in Illinois and the Department of Labor at Gary, Ind. The Secretary of State should be moved to Red Desert, Wyo., if anywhere. The Postoffice can take to a mail car. The White House should be in Michigan, and Congress could be conducted by correspondence."

Certain features of the plan have merit. Any plan that would provide for a new deal for Congress has merit. But move the Treasury to Chicago? Heaven forbid! In any fragmentation of the Government Washington will stand to the last ditch to retain the Treasury. Let Chicago have the Department of Justice. She needs it.

MONEY IN SENATE CAMPAIGNS.

As a result of his investigation of the costly primary campaigns in Illinois and Pennsylvania, Senator Nye, chairman of the Senate probe committee, sees need for a constitutional amendment to authorize the Senate to regulate the expenditures in primaries of candidates for the senatorial nomination. Expenditures of senatorial nominees in election campaigns are limited by Federal law, but the Supreme Court ruled in the Newberry case that the Senate has no authority over campaigns for nomination in the primaries. The races for senatorial nominations in the larger States have become expensive affairs. But all the Senate can do to keep expenditures down is to conjure up the specter of rejection before the eyes of would-be senators who use their wealth to convince the public of their statesmanship.

But the problem is not so simple as Senator Nye's suggestion implies. Would a fixed limit be placed on primary campaign expenditures, or would the allowance in each State be based on the number of voters? In the former situation candidates in the large States would be at a serious disadvantage, and in the second case a reasonable allotment per voter in small States might bring the total in densely settled States to higher amounts than are now spent. If too little is spent the voters often remain ignorant of the issues involved, and if too much is spent membership in the Senate becomes limited to wealthy men, and those who can command the support of political machines.

The relation of the political machine to this question is too frequently overlooked. It is quite possible for a political clique to advance a candidate who need not spend any money at all. Such an organization, if in power, pays its faithful workers in patronage, not in money. The candidate who does not have the advantage of a machine would be at a serious disadvantage under too rigid a limitation of money spent.

Excessive use of money in political campaigns is, without question, contrary to the public interest. Most people will agree that Senator Grundy's expenditure of $291,000 for a position that would have paid him only $20,000 is an unwarranted use of money for political purposes. But where is the line to be drawn? No one has offered a practical solution; and even if the Senate could limit expenditures in primaries, it would still be confronted with the fact that a reasonable expenditure in one State may be excessive in another.

NEW TRAFFIC CODE PROPOSED.

Corporation Counsel Bride answers the request of the District Commissioners for an interpretation of various disputed provisions of the existing traffic laws and regulations with a recommendation that the code be generally revised. The revision, he suggests, should be undertaken by a special committee on which would be represented the Commissioners, the Chief of Police, the Director of Traffic, the Public Utilities Commission and the Bureau of Efficiency, and this committee should hold hearings and investigate the methods of handling traffic throughout the country to the end that "a modern, complete and definite law can be enacted without the antiquated, indefinite and overlapping provisions of the present-day law."

When the present act was written by Congress and the regulations promulgated by District officials five years ago Washington believed that it was possessed of a model set of regulations. At that time they were. In five years, however, traffic has become infinitely more involved, and new problems have arisen, until today there is no question as to the inadequacy of the regulations. A conflict of authority has arisen involving the traffic director, the Police Department and the Public Utilities Commission, and it has been complicated by the meddling of the Bureau of Efficiency. Certain classes of public vehicles seem able to operate outside of regulation. Traffic itself is tied into knots regularly at certain congested intersections and throughout the day in all streets it moves sluggishly. Apparently there is no possibility of expediting traffic under the present regulations.

The question is raised as to whether Washington's traffic problem may not be charged to the inflexibility of the regulations. Congress, in the traffic act of 1925, went so far into details as to fix the maximum speed limits, even establishing a scale of fines applicable to violations thereof. The act allows the traffic director a certain latitude in formulating regulations, but the traffic problem is in a state of constant flux and its solution requires that the officials directly in charge should have greater authority to deal with it. The public is generally agreed that a new code is urgently needed. In drafting it the principal consideration should be to see that inflexibility is avoided.

PEOPLING THE HOLY LAND.

A serious situation has again arisen in Palestine. The strike sponsored by the Jewish National Council may not bring disorder in its wake, but it indicates a state of mind on the part of the Jewish leaders that may lead to serious difficulties. The council called upon the entire Jewish population of the Holy Land to close places of amusement, and stop all work in factories, stores and shops for one day in protest against the suspension of Jewish immigration.

The order that all Jewish immigration cease until the commission headed by Sir John Simpson has made a thorough inquiry into land and immigration problems is unquestionably a reaction from the Arab riots in Palestine a few months ago. Apparently the government fears that Jewish people are filling up Palestine so rapidly that further race clashes are unavoidable. Reports may be heard from many sources that the Zionist movement is taking more Jews to the Holy Land than its resources can support. If immigration is carried on without regard to economic consequences the orderly and peaceful development of Palestine may be impossible.

Britain is apparently attempting to solve the problem of racial feuds by an impartial study. It is difficult to see how the cause of Zionism can be fostered by opposition to such a plan. Should it develop that the present rate of immigration is not inimical to orderly development there would be no occasion for interfering with the Zionist movement. But, on the other hand, if the commission should find that Palestine is being overpopulated, and that the encroachment on the Arabs is certain to lead to fresh disturbances and bloodshed, the only alternative would be to regulate immigration in accordance with the capacity of the country to absorb the newcomers.

Nothing could be gained by overpeopling the Holy Land or precipitating a class war with the Arabs. In order to succeed the Zionist movement must stay on firm economic ground, tempering zeal for development of the Jewish national home with practical common sense. The national council might make greater progress toward its ultimate goal by cooperating with the Simpson commission in an inquiry as to what is the best plan for consistent, orderly development of the Holy Land.

The Government publishes a pamphlet on how to make wine. Well, even birds have to be taught how to fly.

In view of its recent performances, how can Congress be expected to go on record against vivisection?

A New York scientist decries the lack of an international language, yet Americans carry an international language in their pocketbooks.

With that momentous question of dial telephones out of the way, the Senate soon ought to be able to agree upon the size of paste pots and the make of typewriters to be used by its members.

A BRITISH VICTORY

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The success which British diplomacy has had in directing and controlling American affairs in recent years is surprising. From a British standpoint it is admirable. From our standpoint it is quite humiliating.

The particular American interest which Great Britain has influenced is our sea power. This necessarily includes our Merchant Marine and our Navy.

Sea power is vital to both nations, but it is especially so to Great Britain. Her very physical existence depends upon it. The growth of American foreign commerce is a serious menace to British power, wealth and prosperity. It threatens her world leadership and is already a factor in her difficult domestic economic situation.

It is but natural that she has concentrated her attention upon the problem of the growth of American sea power. England has been powerful enough to prevent the enforcement of laws upon her statute books which, if enforced, would long before this have made the United States her rival in merchant shipping.

The same thing is true as to our Navy. Naval policies adopted by our technical advisers, approved by the President and enacted into law by Congress, have been set aside by British influence. Laws passed, which if put into effect would have given us naval parity, have failed of execution by reason of British diplomacy.

Congress passed a law providing for a tariff rebate of 10 per cent on goods imported in American ships. This would have rapidly built up American shipping. Great Britain protested and, although the law was clearly constitutional and superseded all treaties, it was never put into effect.

Congress passed a law giving American ships free passage through the Panama Canal. This was clearly within our treaty rights. If enforced it would have made every shipyard in the United States busy in the building of American merchant ships. Great Britain demanded and secured the repeal of this law of Congress.

We enacted a law for the promotion of the American Merchant Marine by mail contracts to American ships. This has been partially put into effect with good results to that extent; but obstacles have been placed in the way by British influence. It would not be surprising to find this law virtually nullified.

We built, or were in the process of building, the most powerful Navy in the world. English diplomacy induced us to sink our partially completed capital ships. Relying upon the "spirit" of the treaty, we refrained from building cruisers, while Great Britain and Japan busily enlarged their cruiser fleets.

Now we are at another stage in the interesting and vital process of sea-power diplomacy. Our naval advisers recommend, as suited to our situation, 10,000-ton cruisers, armed with 8-inch guns. Congress actually passed a law for the construction of an additional fifteen of these ships. Great Britain, acknowledging that on account of her numerous naval bases throughout the world, providing fuel stations wherever needed, smaller cruisers carrying 6-inch guns are better suited to her needs, has succeeded in inducing us to sign a treaty to suspend the execution of the act of Congress and to adopt in part at least the type of ships which are suitable to her needs but not to ours.

A great naval victory by Great Britain upon the high seas could not have gained for England as much as she has accomplished in the pending naval treaty in preventing the development of American sea power.

STABILIZING EMPLOYMENT.

Just how much can be done by private industry to stabilize employment is, of course, problematical, according to the New York Herald Tribune. The distinguished example along this line set by the large soap manufacturing concern of Procter & Gamble might be followed to advantage, one assumes, by other sizable plants producing goods for which the market remains reasonably uniform in fair times and foul. In the case of industries engaged in the manufacture of luxuries or semiluxuries, however, for which the demand is more fickle, the answer is not so simple. And this must be true also of the small producer in most fields. His survival too often depends on his promptness in reefing sail as the business barometer falls.

Nevertheless, where there is a will there is usually a way, and Mr. Julius Barnes, chairman of President Hoover's national business survey conference, who is engaged in stimulating that will with respect to employment stabilization, deserves every encouragement. If not all employers can guarantee steady employment, many more can than do, and the rest can minimize their curtailments.

Fortunately, the argument for such a course follows naturally from the new wage theory, now so widely accepted by American industrialists, which looks upon the worker not merely as a producer but also as a consumer. Thus, it should be easy to convince the intelligent capitalist that unemployment in a period of depression restricts his market the more and further delays business recovery, and that he owes it to himself as well as to the community to contribute as little as possible to the operation of this vicious circle. Certainly an early return of prosperity is of more importance to the great majority of employers than the economies to be effected by reducing their staffs. To choose the latter, except when absolutely necessary, is obviously penny-wise and pound-foolish.

DANDELIONS.

At dandelions men may scoff
And fight them as they will,
But if they ever drive them off
A lovely thing they'll kill.

I hope I'll never live to see
The dandelions' doom,
For what would days of springtime be Without that yellow bloom?

I battle with them day by day,
I sometimes rise at dawn
To drive the golden heads away
That dot my patch of lawn.

I often think of them as weeds
Whose roots are strong and stout
And caring for my garden's needs
I coldly pull them out.

But I should hate to see them go
From field and countryside,
It would not be the spring we know
If dandelions died.

No Man Is Free If He Hurries Because the Crowd Does.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MANY years ago a stately cathedral stood in the city of Lorndorff.

It was a cathedral of many towers, and the tallest of these, high above the street, was the home of a weather vane, a flock of pigeons, a celebrated cluster of bells and a clock.

"My ability," the weather vane remarked one afternoon, "is something quite remarkable. I always know from which direction the wind is coming and turn to face it. I couldn't endure being a clock, doomed forever to face in one direction."

"You are right in a way," said the cock pigeon, "and I often have similar thoughts. To change with the wind is indeed a privilege, but such restricted movements would scarcely seem a life of liberty to me. I go and come as I choose and have traveled to the stubble fields far beyond the city. Travel broadens one's mind."

"Doubtless that is true," said the largest of the bells, "but there are different ways to travel. When you picked grain in the farthest stubble field, I dare say you often noticed that my voice traveled there also. And it wasn't always the same voice. My companions and I enjoy that variety of which the weather vane spoke, and may sound the notes of some majestic hymn today and tomorrow stir the hearts of men with some wild alarm or chorus of rejoicing."

The clock remained silent, except for the tick-tock monotone that never varied, and in silence brooded over the ill fortune that denied it variety and liberty.

Days passed, bringing fair weather and foul. The weather vane whirled in gusts of wind. The pigeons often remained at home to escape a downpour of rain, or ventured forth to be buffeted unmercifully by sudden squalls. The bells sounded their message as directed by a man far below, or swung without rhythm or sound when a high wind swept through the tower.

One day an army bombarded the city, filling the air with terrible sounds that drowned the voice of the bells. The pigeons circled in panic and some of them fled. The weather vane was struck by a fragment of shell.

When the bombardment was finished, the conqueror of the city entered the cathedral and climbed the highest tower to look out over the housetops and enjoy his new possession. His favorite philosopher was with him.

"How the wind blows up here," said the conqueror. "The weather vane whirls, the pigeons are buffeted in flight, and even the great bells sway."

"The pigeons are like a restless conqueror," said the philosopher, "buffeted more as they climb higher. The vane is like the courtier, turning to face each new breath of power. The bells speak as they are bidden. Only the clock is wise. In storm and battle it keeps its own unhurried pace, unaffected by the clamor of frantic neighbors. It has a quiet mind."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell Needs Help—Lighting System Has Broken Down and Must Be Replaced.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: On the eve of sailing for his field of labor in the Labrador, Sir Wilfred Grenfell has written me of an emergency which has just arisen in his work which threatens to seriously hamper him in effective service. It is the breakdown of his lighting plant at his headquarters in St. Antony, requiring complete replacement. This will cost $20,000. Electric light and power is provided for the orphanage, school, industrial building, machine shop, resident doctors' home, and guest house, besides the main hospital. The important service it renders will be readily recognized in all these buildings, but chiefly in the hospital itself. Apart from the therapeutic value of electricity in treating many forms of illness, it will be understood how essential in a land where, through a great part of the year, the days are short and artificial light has to be depended on in eye examination and treatment, as well as in the wards and especially in the operating room.

Speaking of the seriousness in the breakdown, Sir Wilfred writes: "The hospital would be safer and the doctors eased and the patients psychologically more liable to get well. His horror is to be operated on, fearing the light may go out in the middle. When I used to operate with a native holding a kerosene lamp, I had that accident because the poor loon fainted, and fortunately it 'went out' instead of firing us all out. I had a big wound open, at the time, in the thigh and you can fancy my agony. • • • We also do our eye work by it (electric light)."

To raise the $20,000 will be an easy achievement provided a popular subscription is made by the thousands of Sir Wilfred's admirers who appreciate the value of his work among the stalwart fisher folk in the Far North. Any who would count it a privilege to uphold Sir Wilfred's hands in his devoted service may send subscriptions, large or small, designated for the lighting plant, addressed to Sir Wilfred Grenfell, M. D., 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Summer School Studies by Congressmen Would Help Them Immensely and Obviate Many Difficulties.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: After their regular session, why don't more congressmen do a little summer school work at our colleges and universities?

Easy familiarity with certain subjects would be highly beneficial, not only for congressional work but for members after they dropped out of political life. A working knowledge of banking and finance would enable congressmen to solve easier, quicker and more efficiently many intricate banking and financial problems with which they are constantly dealing. The science of government should be coordinated with economics and economic geography in minds that can think nationally and internationally. Through a knowledge of psychology congressmen could successfully compose their individual differences, whether political or about dial systems, and this harmony of political interests would greatly tend to anticipate and prevent the rise of numerous groups and blocs that make congressional work particularly lively and interesting at times.

Wouldn't a knowledge of such subjects relating to congressional work result in such speeding up of congressional "machinery" that Congress could really complete its work during regular sessions, thus having time for summer vacations and eliminating need for presidential calls for so many extra sessions? Wouldn't such increased efficiency also result in the dimming of those dangerous "home fires" with which congressmen are so periodically troubled?

VERNER M. HOLSTON.

Increased Speed Dangerous Unless Efficiency of Drivers Can Also Be Increased.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If the national conference on street and highway safety is working along scientific lines, I fail to see how under present conditions it can consistently recommend greater speed on highways, which is advocated by one of its committees.

In regard to safety the most important consideration is the efficiency of the auto-driving public, which includes everybody. If a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, may it not be true that the driving efficiency of the public is that of its incompetent chauffeurs? In that case the education of the driving public to the point of high-speed safety will be difficult. To increase present speeds without increasing present driving efficiency will be homicidal.

Speaking of speed, I would like to see some definite scientific figures in regard thereto, if they can be furnished. I should think there must be some limit to the speed which may be safely maintained in ordinary traffic under special conditions. Loose talk about increased safety through the speeding up of traffic doesn't help much. It is up to the experts to tell us what speeds are safe under specified conditions.

The all-important problem is how to make efficient drivers of the public at large. Increase of speed will mean increase of fatalities until that problem is solved. And it's a tough one.

CHINA REBELS SEIZE 50,000 NATIONALISTS

HONAN SCENE OF BATTLE

Shanghai, May 28 (A.P.).—The northern alliance rebels today claimed to have captured 50,000 government troops in northern Honan Province. The Nationalists admitted they had suffered a reverse west of Lanfeng, which they evacuated in a retreat eastward.

The government asserted, however, that its air squadrons had made damaging raids behind the enemy's lines between Kaifeng and Chengchow. Penetrating the northerners' territory as far north as the Yellow River, the planes bombed the railway bridge, damaging piers. This stopped the movement of the rebels senal at Kungsien, on the aichowsouthward, government reports said. Fliers also bombed the northern ar-Tungkwan Railway, west of Chengchow, destroying a power plant.

The Nationalist forces, reports received here said, are retreating eastward along the aHichow-Tungkwan Railway and southward on the tracks of the Peiping-Hanko Railway, both in Honan Province.

Chengchow, at the junction of the two railroads, and headquarters of the Northerners, was said to be overflowing with Nationalist prisoners.

The fighting, which began May 8 with Nationalist successes, apparently has difinitely turned in the rebels' favor. The Northern Alliance, headed by Gens. Yen Hsi-Shan and Feneg Yu-Hsiang, has stated its object to be the overthrow of the "corrupt" Nationalist government and its "dicttator," President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Bandits are overrunning inland China around Kikungshan, Hupeh and Southern Honan, in such numbers that the State Department, through Frank P. Lockhart, American consul general at Hankow, has advised American missionaries in the areas to withdraw at once to Hankow.

Mr. Lockhart said that he had communicated with the head master of the American School at Kirkungshan, warning him of the danger and sending the department's advice to withdraw to Hankow.

The Americans, listed at the State Department as residing at Kikungshan on the first of the year follow:

Ethel M. Akins, Watertown, Minn.; Anna A. Anderson, Holdrege, Nebr.; Esther A. Anderson, Lindsborg, Kans.; Ruth E. Gilbertson, Atwater, Minn.; Annie Holm, Underwood, Minn.; Mary Nelson, Minneapolis, Minn.; Arthur Nyhus, Fertile, Iowa; Arna J. Quello, Atwater, Minn.; Nora A. Rosvold, Fergus Falls, Minn.

Most of the Americans listed are members of the Lutheran Augustana Synod Mission and the Lutheran United Mission.

LABOR GOVERNMENT WEATHERS BATTLE division the government won by a majority of only 15.

The prime minister was expected to have a narrow squeeze tonight owing to the fact that the Liberals yesterday agreed to abstain from voting and the number of left wing Laborites who would adopt a similar attitude was unknown.

When the division was called several left-wingers abstained, but a number of others who abstained on the first division changed their attitude and voted for the government.

Sir Oswald Mosley, who resigned from the cabinet last week in protest over the government's handling of unemployment, voted with the government tonight.

Debate started late this afternoon and lasted until nearly midnight, with Mr. MacDonald, Sir Oswald, David Lloyd George, Stanley Baldwin, Winston Churchill and Mr. Thomas participating. Both Liberals and Conservatives blamed the Labor Government for failure to alleviate the condition of the jobless, of whom there are nearly 2,000,000.

The prime minister replied that the government was not to blame and the situation was a result of world conditions. He called attention to unemployment in the United States and other countries.

Then he asked the house to cooperate on pensions and similar problems, and announced that the government was summoning a conference of municipal representatives to discuss the possibility of immediate expansion by cooperation.

It had been generally expected that if the government were defeated tonight Mr. MacDonald would have asked dissolution of Parliament and new elections. Political observers were of the opinion, however, that neither the Liberals nor the Conservatives desired elections at this unsettled time and consequently would see that the government had a majority.

NUDSES ARE LAUDED IN GRADUATION TALK

35 DIPLOMAS AWARDED

Tribute to the nurse as "one of the most important of all public servants" was paid last night by Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest, in his graduation address to members of the 1930 class of nurses of Emergency Hospital at exercises held in the Nurses' Home, 1711 New York avenue northwest.

A class of 35 young women received diplomas presented by Woodbury Blair, president of the board of directors of the hospital. Mrs. Herbert Slocum, president of the women's board, presented prizes to undergraduate students with the best grades, while nurses' pins were given to the graduating class by Miss Janet Fish, superintendent of nurses.

The program opened with music by Gaul's orchestra, followed by a processional with the nurses in uniform. The Rev. Alvin L. Wills, of Epiphany Church, pronounced invocation. Following Mr. Street's address, the class sang the school song. The Rev. Wills pronounced benediction following the exercises.

Mrs. Leta Fox was honor student among the third year nurse candidates; Miss Inga Colby was high among the second year students and Miss Deborah Daniel in the first year class. Honorable mention was given Miss Margaret Saxman, Miss Lois Woomer and Miss Dorothy Dolph.

Members of the graduating class were the Misses Margaret Butler Cornell, Kathleen Gertrude Creel, Barbara Lee Edwards, Christine Virginia Crist, Louise Gilbert Gore, Virginia Randolph Mayers, Aline Strother Raper, Muriel Edwina Reynolds, Edna Louise Roelke, Leta Ryan Fox, Frances Elizabeth Wannamaker, Catherine Anne Abbaticchio, Gladys Imogene Beck, Louella Jane Bowersock, Gladys Amelia Buck, Mary Bernice Carpenter, Esther May Eshelman, Mary Ann Evans, Margaret Reed French, Tressa Oleta Funk, Ruby Ann Grimes, Marye Jones, Eva Kesslar, Loretta Adelle Lynch, Mary Thelma Meckley, Eunice Mae Myers, Maud Katheryn Platt, Amy Chloe Richardson, Christine Robinson, Dorothy Robinson, Margaret Gallagher Saxman, Anna Beverly Sinclair, Frances Marian Williams, Phyllis Joanna Winters and Margaret Isabelle Yeingst.

Chicago, May 28 (A.P.).—Expansion of two activities of the Grigsby-Grunow Co. will provide employment for 15,000 people within the next 60 days, William G. Grunow, president, said today. Payrolls aggregating $2,000,000 a month will be needed to take care of 10,000 additional employees, who will be put to work in the radio division for production of 4,000 sets daily, the announcement said.

The additional force of 5,000 men will be employed in initial production of units in the refrigerator division with a monthly payroll of $1,000,000.

ALL FRANCE GRIEVES AT DEATH OF LUCON

RITES SET FOR MONDAY

Rheims, France, May 28 (A.P.).—All France tonight mourned the passing of Cardinal Lucon, dean of French cardinals, who died today after a brief illness at the age of 87.

Messages of sorrow poured in from every city and village and from many foreign countries. President Doumergue sent a personal message of condolence as well as official sympathy which was expressed through the prefect of the department of the Marne.

His funeral will be held from the famous Rheims Cathedral Monday.

Cardinal Lucon was born at Maulevrier, diocese of Angers, in October, 1842. He was 65 years in the priesthood and was one of the most loved figures of the Catholic Church in France.

The cardinal was created and proclaimed in December, 1907. In 1914, during the war, he sent a message to the Pope denying that the French were using Rheims Cathedral for military purposes. Two years later he sent a protest to the pontiff against alleged inhuman treatment of the people in northern France by the Germans. Shortly afterwards, the Vatican made representations to Germany concerning the deportation of the inhabitants of northern France.

Despite the German cannonading the cardinal remained in Rheims and he was later decorated at Rheims by President Poincare.

In 1919 Cardinal Lucon conducted President Wilson on a visit to Rheims and two years later he officiated at services commemorating American assistance in the devastated regions. In 1920 he had a pastoral letter read in memory of the American dead.

Naval Aviator's Skull Fractured in Crash

Pensacola, Fla., May 28 (A.P.).—First Lieut. H. E. Boyden, of the Naval Air Station here, suffered a fractured skull today as his seaplane crashed into Pensacola Bay from an altitude of 4,000 feet. He was giving instructions to Second Lieut. R. L. Peterson when the accident occurred. Peterson was uninjured.

Boyden was submerged in water when a rescue plane reached him.

Confession Reported In Robbery of Pay Roll

Gadsden, Ala., May 28 (A.P.).—Solicitor W. G. Rains said today that H. A. Wells, arrested in Louisville, Ky., last week had confessed to participation in a $18,000 Goodyear Rubber Co. pay roll robbery here in April.

Rains said "a prominent Gadsden man" whose name he refused to reveal was implicated in the confession.

Alleged Forger Jumps From Train to Escape

Los Angeles, May 28 (A.P.).—Frank D. Fernekes, alleged forger, escaped from a Los Angeles detective early today by hurling himself from the window of a speeding Southern Pacific train near Phoenix, Ariz. Fernekes was being returned from El Paso, Tex., to stand trial here on the forgery charges.

It had been planned to make the trip by air and an El Paso judge ordered the prisoner taken aboard a passenger plane over Fernekes' protest, ruling that an airplane is a common carrier. Fernekes, however, refused to validate a ticket with his signature and the air transport company declined to carry him.

MORO BANDITS BEAT ATTACK BY TROOPS

Constabulary of Philippines Bombard Embattled Fort With Mortar.

ONE SOLDIER WOUNDED

Manila, May 28 (A.P.).—Moro outlaws today fought off another attack by a Philippine constabulary detachment, which fired 300 shells from a mortar gun in a bombardment of an old fort in Lanao Province, Mindanao Island, in which the tribesmen are entrenched.

At sunset the insular troops retired for the night, fearing ambush in the dense woods of the region. One soldier was wounded. The casualties among the Moros, if any, were not determined.

Using rifles, shotguns and large pistols, the defenders kept up a steady fire on the constabulary. Col. L. R. Stevens, commander, kept his men under cover as much as possible and refused to permit a rush on the fort, desiring to avoid such casualties as were inflicted by the Moros May 7, when four soldiers were killed and ten wounded.

To prevent other Moros from joining those in the fort, a patrol was placed on all roads leading to it. It was presumed the constabulary would renew the attack tomorrow.

Where the Moros got their weapons was a mystery. They can manufacture swords and knives, but firearms would have to be smuggled into them.

The present trouble started about two weeks ago when a constabulary detachment chased several Moro cattle thieves and other felons into the old fort where other Moros gave them shelter.

Bank Losses Put At $520,000 Now

Figures Grow in St. Louis Robbery as Customers Report In.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28 (A.P.).—Reported losses in the burglary of the safe deposit vault of the Grand National Bank here Sunday had passed the half million dollar mark tonight with figures available from only 11 of 30 customers whose boxes were looted. The known loss was $520,000.

First reports Sunday were that the amount taken was $14,000, but the figure rapidly increased as reports from customers came in. Today it was virtually doubled when the National Indemnity Exchange Agency, an automobile liability insurance firm, announced a loss of $232,000 worth of negotiable bonds.

A detailed list of the securities was given by William Kohn, attorney for the exchange, who said that the organization had sufficient surplus to cover its loss and protect its clients.

Two Are Killed In Wreck of Train

Montreal-Chicago Limited Hits Open Switch Near Flint, Mich.

Flint, Mich., May 28 (A.P.).—The Montreal-Chicago intercity limited, passenger train on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway, ran into an open switch at Belsay, 5 miles east of here, about 4 p. m. today, while traveling between 60 and 65 miles an hour. The engineer and fireman were killed and five others injured. No passengers were hurt seriously.

The dead: Engineer Arthur Morden and Fireman Clyde Pierce, both of Battle Creek. The injured: John Dillon, mail clerk, Chicago, injured leg; Lawrence Parker, mail clerk, Port Huron, cuts and scalds; Fred M. Linton, mail clerk, Port Huron, cuts; Joseph Deshiahi, dining car cook, Toronto, scalds, and Howard Bellamy, dining car cook, Toronto, cuts.

The train ran into the open switch just after a freight engine had passed through. Engineer Morden is believed to have seen the switch and thrown on his emergency brakes, leaping from the cab. He was caught in the wreckage of the locomotive, and Fireman Pierce was crushed between the locomotive and the tender. Eight cars and the locomotive left the tracks.

Mr. Moffett Will Receive Sword Gift

Son of Rear Admiral to Be Honored by Woman Group.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WHEN Midshipman William A. Moffet, jr., son of Rear Admiral Moffet, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, is graduated from the Naval Academy next week the Woman's Naval Service will present him with his sword to commemorate his service with the Junior Defense Guard.

Organized during the war, this group of 500 boys, of which Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock was the founder and honorary chairman, had its headquarters at the Theodorus Bailey Myers Mason House, a center of war service activities. The fine old mansion in Twentieth street, which became known all over the country as "Mason House," belonged to the late Mrs. Julian James, whose own house was next door, and through her generosity it was used by the Woman's Naval Service as headquarters for its manifold activities, being named as a memorial to her brother.

In the absence of Mrs. Fahnestock in Europe, the sword will be presented to young "Bill" Moffett by one of the directors of the Woman's Naval Service. This group included in wartime days many women in the official world, and still includes Mrs. Hugh L. Scott, Mrs. George Barnett, Mrs. James M. Thomson, who was Miss Genevieve Clark, and Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey.

Among the other Naval Academy graduates to whom the Woman's Naval Service has presented swords are Midshipman Moffett's older brother, Ensign George Moffett, Ensign C. Phillips Hill, jr., and Ensign Arthur Sinclair Hill. The Hill boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. Phillips Hill, of Washington. The presentation will take place after the graduation ceremonies when Midshipman Moffett will receive his commission.

Having been an air enthusiast from the time he was a small boy, Midshipman Moffett expects to follow in the footsteps of his father and his older brother and has left to enter the Navy Air Corps. Ensign George Moffett is now taking the Navy's flying course at Pensacola, Fla.

Envoys Will Attend Dinner for Julius Kleins.

The Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla and the Chilian Ambassador and Senora de Davilla will be among the guests at the dinner to be given on Sunday evening aboard the S. S. Alfonso XIII, by officials of the Spanish Royal Mail Line, in honor of the Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Julius Klein, who are now in New York.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, is in Newport, the guest of Rear Admiral J. R. Poinsett Pringle, president of the Naval War College, and Mrs. Pringle. Secretary Adams will address the graduating class of the college and present the officers their diplomas. He will review a parade of apprentice seamen before the graduation exercises. Upon his arirval at the training station the secretary was received with a salute of nineteen guns. He will visit Boston before his return to Washington on Saturday.

Mme. Grouitch to Sail For England Tomorrow.

Mme. Grouitch, wife of the former Jugoslav Minister to Washington, is in New York and will sail tomorrow on the Olympic for England, where Dr. Grouitch will meet her. Mme. Grouitch has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chase at their home, Chesham Farms, at Middlebury, Conn., since leaving Washington where she passed the early spring.

Mr. and Mrs. William Payne Meredith have sold their house in Chevy Chase and are now in their new home at 2446 Kalorama road.

Miss Sylvia Meredith, their daughter, who will graduate from the Cathedral School in June, will be a debutante next season. Miss Meredith is the niece of Mrs. Henry D. Flood, wife of the late representative from Virginia.

Miss Marina Yung-Kwai, daughter of the Counselor of the Chinese Legation, and Mme. Yung-Kwai, who will receive her bachelor's degree at Bryn Mawr next month, has been awarded one of the Sarah Sherburne Langdon Haven scholarships for graduate study in French at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., for 1930-31.

Having closed her house in Sixteenth Street for the summer, Mrs. Edward Walker is staying at the Hay-Adams House.

Mrs. Wilson-Greene is sailing for Europe this week accompanied by her secretary, Miss Cotten.

Mrs. Hal Gaylord, of Kansas City, who has been staying at the Mayflower, left yesterday for New York and later will return to her home.

Maj. Gen. A. F. Foote of Boston, Mass., is at the Powhatan while in Washington.

Miss Butler To Be Wed to Baltimorean

Lieut. William Maxwell and Miss Rigg Are Married.

The marriage of Miss Florence Falson Butler and Mr. Huntington Cairns, of Baltimore, will take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Butler on R street.

Mrs. Flora McGill Keefer will sing, accompanied by Helen McGraw, of Baltimore. Mr. Robert Chambers, British vice consul, of Baltimore, will be best man.

The Rev. John Douglas, of the Roland Park Presbyterian Church of Baltimore, will officiate. A buffet supper will be served for members of the family and intimate friends.

Among out-of-town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. James Duncanson Cairns, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heath, of Baltimore, parents and grandparents of the bridegroom; Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Grimes, of Palmerton, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Old and Mrs. H. R. Furr, of Norfolk, Va.

Miss Violet Annis Rigg, daughter of Mrs. John Rigg, was married yesterday afternoon to Lieut. William Elmore Maxwell, U. S. M. C., son of Mrs. Susie Sultan Maxwell, of Birmingham, Ala. The ceremony was performed in the Chapel of the Annunciation adjoining the Bishop's House in the Washington Cathedral Close, at 3 o'clock, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Linton Rigg, of New York. She wore a gown of eggshell lace, fashioned with a long full skirt ending in a short train, the high waistline being marked by a narrow belt. Her close fitting hat was of lace to match the gown and she carried lilies of the valley.

Miss Kitty Rigg, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a costume of Madonna blue, fashioned like that of the bride, with a large picture hat of maline to match. She carried spring flowers.

The best man was Mr. C. K. Maxwell, jr., of Boston, brother of the bridegroom.

Lieut. Maxwell and his bride left shortly after the reception for his new post at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

The marriage of Miss Ellen Kinsman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Delos O. Kinsman, to Mr. Burgess Seamonson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Seamonson of Stoughton, Wis., took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the bride. Chancellor Lucius C. Clark of the American University performed the ceremony in the presence of the families and a few intimate friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a princess dress of ivory satin and rose point lace, made with lace waist in front and cleverly fashioned to a point of satin in the back. She carried a corsage bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Alvin M. Loverud of Stoughton, Wis., who wore her own wedding dress of white cut velvet made along princess lines. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchid and pink sweet peas.

Mr. Alvin M. Loverud of Stoughton, Wis., was the best man. There was a reception immediately after the ceremony, at which the bridal couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, who wore a dress of medium blue lace made with a bolero, and flared skirt. As her going-away costume the bride wore a suit of wine color tweed with an eggshell color crepe blouse and accessories in the same shade. After a short honeymoon through the northern central States Mr. and Mrs. Seamonson will be at home at 4737 Malden street, Chicago, Ill.

CADMAN CRITICIZED BY PRESBYTERIANS

SESSIONS ARE FINISHED

Charlottesville, Va., May 28 (A.P.).—Dr. S. Parkes Cadman and the Federal Council of Churches of Christ were denounced before the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly here today by church leaders who unsuccessfully sought to have the Southern Presbyterian Church withdraw from the council.

Pushing through its work to an unexpectedly early conclusion, the assembly adjourned here late today. Tonight the delegates were on their way to their homes in the seventeen Southern and Southwestern States comprising its territory.

The assembly sessions were marked by refusal to go on record as approving union with other Presbyterian bodies while continuing negotiations with them on that subject. A committee from each of the seventeen synods was appointed by the moderator to confer with other Presbyterian churches on union and report in 1931.

1931 Assembly Site Chosen.

Next year's General Assembly will convene at the School of the Ozarks, at Hollister, Mo., on the fourth Thursday in May.

Dr. C. R. Nisbet, of Charlotte, N. C., and Dr. George Summey, of Austin, Tex., joined in criticism of Dr. Cadman as radio minister of the Federal Council, but urged maintenance of relations with the council. The radio minister was criticized for broadcasting doctrine which speakers asserted were at variance with the doctrines of Southern Presbyterians.

Balloting on a minority report from the committee on foreign relations that urged severance of relations with the council, the assembly vote was 179 against the report and 22 for it. The majority report, submitted by Dr. Summey as chairman, then was adopted. The minority signers were J. M. Holladay, Marion, S. C.; Hugh C. Henry, Petersburg, Va.; J. E. Cousar, jr., St. Albans, W. Va., and D. L. McLaurin, McCall, S. C.

While continuing relations with the council, the report adopted instructs the church's representatives on the council executive and administrative committee to make an investigation of the council's radio and political activities and report to the next general assembly.

A budget of expenditures totaling $3,100,000 for work of the assembly during the year beginning April 1, 1931, was approved. The new budget provides for an increase of $100,000 over the present year's budget.

The fund was apportioned among the synods as follows: Alabama, $134,870; Appalachia, $172,190; Arkansas, $99,931; Florida, $132,966; Georgia, $208,783; North Carolina, $548,923; Oklahoma, $15,750; Snedecor Memorial, $3,491; South Carolina, $246,957; Tennessee, $147,672; Kentucky, $171,067; Louisiana, $98,380; Mississippi, $142,423; Missouri, $114,905; Texas, $277,788; Virginia, $480,544; West Virginia $103,365.

Church Budget Distribution.

The budget was distributed among church causes as follows: Foreign missions, $1,643,000; home missions, $868,000; Christian education and ministerial relief, $418,500; religious education and publication, $108,500; training school, $31,000; Bible cause, $31,000.

Opposition to the increase of $100,000 was offered by Dr. Egbert W. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., who called attention to action of the synods in cutting down amounts formerly apportioned to them in smaller budgets. the Rev. T. W. Hooper, Culpeper, Va., said the assembly had fallen into the habit of fixing larger sums than the synods were expected to raise.

The assembly adopted the calendar of 24 special days and weeks to be observed during the coming year.

Dr. Homer McMillan, Atlanta, was elected executive secretary of the executive committee on home missions for a term of three years, succeeding Dr. S. L. Morris, Atlanta, who retired last night after a service of 29 years in that capacity.

Other Officers Reelected.

Dr. Henry H. Sweets, Louisville, Ky., was reelected executive secretary of the executive committee of Christian education and ministerial relief for a term of three years.

The Rev. H. W. McLaughlin, Richmond, was reelected director of country church work for one year, the assembly adding a resolution adopting raising of an endowment for the department of country church work provided there is no appeal to the churches.

The recent election by trustees of the assembly's training school at Richmond of Dr. W. J. Martin, president emeritus of Davidson College, as president of the training school, was confirmed by the assembly.

Columbia Heights Party Tonight.

Men and women, boys and girls, will attend the annual spring party tonight at Columbia Heights Community Center, when the activities of the present season will climax in a big all-community party and dance in the center in Wilson Normal School Building, to which all members of the community are invited.

Stedman Estate Beyond $2,000,000

Nephew and Executor Asks Right to Advertise for Relatives.

Isabel D. Stedman, who died May 18, left an estate valued at more than $2,000,000, and in her will made special bequests totaling approximately $350,000. This was revealed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court when, in connection with the filing of a petition for the probate of the instrument, Benjamin Paulding Lamberton, nephew and executor, asked permission to advertise for the testatrix's relatives.

Mr. Lamberton, who receives $200,000 under the terms of the will, tells the court that he knows of only one other relative of the deceased, a cousin, Mrs. Anna S. Stephens, of Los Angeles, Calif. He does not even know William Marshall Stedman, who is described in the will as a nephew, and who receives a $50,000 bequest.

The estate consists of property at 1703 New Hampshire avenue northwest assessed at $23,086 and personal property estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, made up principally of stocks, bonds and furniture.

President to Attend Unveiling of Statue

President Hoover yesterday accepted an invitation to attend the unveiling of a marble statue of President James Buchanan in Meridian Park on June 17 or 18. A delegation of citizens from Lancaster, Pa., the home of Buchanan, presented the invitation.

The late Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnston, niece of the former Chief Executive and mistress of the White House during his administration, left a trust fund of $100,000 for the erection of a monument to him.

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

"blue coal"

IS COMING TO WASHINGTON

The Griffith-Consumers Company is proud to publish what it sincerely believes is the most important announcement ever made to the coal consumers of the District of Columbia.

Handling over one-third of the total coal tonnage sold in Washington, we have always considered our responsibility to our customers most seriously. Our aim has been and will continue to be to supply not simply coal, but the best fuel possible for every specific purpose.

To that end, after exhaustive research, experiments and tests we have decided to concentrate our sales of anthracite on the famous "blue coal," which now, for the first time, is made available to the coal consumers of this city, exclusively through the Griffith-Consumers Company.

No Need for Guesswork Now

"Blue coal" represents undoubtedly the most forward-looking step in the history of the anthracite industry. Now for the first time you can buy coal, as you buy other household products, by brand name and be certain of getting it.

For now, for the first time, D. L. & W. anthracite, famous for over half a century as the best all-round fuel obtainable, is colored at the mine with a harmless blue tint for your protection.

This blue tint identifies the product. It has no effect on burning quality. It is guaranteed absolutely harmless. But it does make it easy for you to order, and to know that you get exactly the coal you want.

Available June 9th

On and after June 9th this exceptionally clean, pure anthracite "blue coal" will be available to our customers in all domestic sizes.

From June 9th on, to be sure of getting the best fuel for household heating purposes, simply phone Metropolitan 4840 and ask for "blue coal" in the size you want.

A 100% Local Company

The Griffith-Consumers Company is a 100 per cent local company, owned and operated by local men. The following are our officers and directors:

OFFICERS:
W. W. GRIFFITH, Chairman of the Board
H. ROZIER DULANY, Jr., President
PERE A. WILMER, Vice President and Treasurer
CHARLES H. ST. JOHN, Vice President
W. D. GRIFFITH, Vice President
L. M. HEWLETT, Secretary

DIRECTORS:
FRANK P AVALEAR
S. C. BREZ
H. ROZIER DULANY, JR.

DAVID S. STANLEY
CHARLES H. ST. JOHN
PERE A. WILMER

As the largest local coal distributors, we have contracted to handle "blue coal," the product of the D. L. & W. Coal Company, mined by Glen Alden, the largest anthracite producer. We are convinced that this step will accrue to the benefit of every coal consumer in this city.

No Order Too Small—None Too Large

We will continue to give our personal attention to every order, no matter how small, or how large. Our success has been built on giving the utmost of our facilities to EVERY order we receive.

Our four yards, located at the four corners of the District, our fleet of over 100 trucks, our more than 300 employees, trained to care for your property as if it were their own, make it possible for us to give every customer quick delivery and service.

And now, with "blue coal" in your bins we know you will be even more conscious that our aim is to sell not merely coal, but HEATING SATISFACTION. Phone Metropolitan 4840. Orders filled strictly in rotation.

SEIZED GEMS LINKED IN MURDER SOLUTION

New Yorkers View Haul to Identify Jewels Stolen From Them.

THREE HELD IN CHICAGO

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—A $300,000 fortune in jewels, the first seizure in a police campaign against a band of alleged gem thieves which has resulted in arrest of five men and a woman, confiscation of about $1,300,000 worth of jewelry and a hint of a possible murder mystery solution were spread out on a table in police headquarters today for claiming by the rightful owners.

An anteroom was crowded all afternoon with victims of more or less recent burglaries, mostly women seeking their stolen jewels. One by one they were let into the room of gems and permitted to scan the glittering pieces. In all the long procession only Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Herman, of West End avenue, were repaid for their trouble. The Hermans recognized 11 of the 26 pieces as part of the gems stolen from their apartment in the Ambassador Hotel in Palm Beach, Fla., in February.

$1,000,000 Display Next.

As soon as this first group of jewels has been viewed by all who think they may have some claim to ownership, the second group will go on display—5,000 pieces estimated to be worth $1,000,000 and believed to be one of the most important gem seizures in police history.

Officials expressed the opinion the jewels had been stolen in many and widely separated cities and represented the crimes of a well-organized band of specialists in gem thefts. This theory gained weight late today when a representative of Kohn & Co., Newark, N. J., jewelers, who viewed the million-doll[illegible] jewels in advance of their public display, identified several pieces. He said some of them were part of $[illegible],000 worth of jewels stolen from George W. Beardsley, a salesman for the company, on a train between Grand Rapids and Chicago on June 1, 1926.

Robert Nelson, the man in whose safe deposit boxes the million-dollar jewels were found, was charged with criminally receiving gems stolen from Louis J. Dawson, of Hollywood, Fla. Police were trying to link George Cole, one of the men arrested when the $300,000 worth of jewels were seized, with a hotel robbery in Hot Springs, Ark., during which Preston R. Austin, wealthy rancher of Victoria, Tex., was shot and fatally wounded.

Three Held in Chicago.

Others besides Nelson and Cole arrested in connection with the jewel seizures were Hilda Carter, of Rhode Island; James W. Watson, of Chicago; William J. O'Connor, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Jack Rosen.

Chicago, May 28 (A.P.).—Police today arrested three men for questioning in connection with the arrest in New York City recently of five men and a woman accused of possessing $1,000,000 worth of stolen jewelry.

The three are Meyer Gordon, who has an office in the loop; Morris Levinson, and Frank Brown. Brown had a letter written by Robert C. Nelson, of Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., one of the six under arrest there.

Police said that Nelson was a well-known gambler on Chicago's West Side and that records here led them to believe that he had been acting as a fence for New York and Chicago jewel thieves.

Capone's Charges Under Advisement

Gang Leader Proceeds With Plans for Dinner to Miami Residents.

Miami, Fla., May 28 (A.P.).—Scarface Al Capone's charge that he was falsely arrested May 8 by Director of Public Safety S. D. McCreary, of Miami, was taken under advisement by Justice of Peace Warren L. Newcomb late today, after more than a day of testimony, formal argument and informal repartee between principals in the case. Justice Newcomb said he would confer with attorneys before deciding whether McCreary is to be held for grand jury action.

The gang leaders, however, won a partial victory as a result of the hearing. Justice Newcomb ordered suspended the standing order of Mayor C. H. Reeder and other city officials that Capone is to be arrested each time he is found within the city limits.

With the hearing in the McCreary case completed the reputed czar of Chicago's gang at his elaborately furnished home on Palm Island, Miami Beach, went ahead with plans for a "good will" banquet to which 50 prominent Miami business men and residents were invited. While no comment was forthcoming from Capone's headquarters as to the purpose of the affair, it was understood that it was part of the gangster's campaign to counteract unfavorable criticism of his part-time residence in the community.

Unit Plan Asked To Conserve Oil

Federal Board Submits Report to Hoover on Situation in Petroleum Field.

(Associated Press.)

Conservation of oil and gas through the "unit plan" of operation and action by the various States to prevent waste was recommended yesterday by the Federal Oil Conservation Board in a report on petroleum conditions submitted to President Hoover.

The unit scheme is an arrangement under which all operators tapping a particular oil pool come to an agreement upon the amount of oil is to be produced within a given period.

The board also said that a particular need at the present time is "specific recognition by the courts of this community of interest by all the land owners in the content of the oil and gas pools, in the oil and gas as separate marketable commodities and in the energy of gas." The "prompt exercise of the police power of the state," was urged to prevent waste in the unnecessary escape of gas from oil wells.

6 AMERICAN WOMEN CURTSY TO ROYALTY

KING GEORGE IS ABSENT

London, May 28 (A.P.).—Six American women were among those presented to Queen Mary and her son, the Duke of Gloucester, at tonight's last royal court which in many ways was the highwater mark of one of London's most brilliant seasons in recent years.

The two and one-half hours wait in the late afternoon sun and the absence of King George, who is suffering from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, did not in any way detract from the thrill scores of debutantes had tonight when they were presented.

To the six American girls and women among those who received the royal summons, the evening's ceremony was the culmination of many weeks of preparation. The six American women presented were Mrs. Hoffman Nickerson, of Oyster Bay, N. Y.; Mrs. Franklin Terry, of New York City; Miss Maxine Adams, of Rexburg, Idaho; Miss Carolyn Apperson Leech, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Jacob Bauer, of Chicago, and Mrs. Edward Spafford, of New York City.

The Prince of Wales, who escorted the queen last night, is making a trip to his royal Duchy of Cornwall.

Queen Mary wore a shimmering gown of pearl gray and silver tissue. Standing by the golden throne, which was mounted on a crimson dais, she showed no signs of fatigue after last night's court; she smiled just as graciously and spontaneously as she did at the first court over which she presided twenty years ago.

Miss Adams wore a heavy white Georgette crepe gown embroidered with pearls and brilliants with a heavy diamante panel in front and back. She wore a train of white chiffon and velvet and carried lilies of the valley.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 28 (A.P.). The victory of 13-year-old Helen Jensen in the National Spelling Bee at Washington yesterday spelled education for her.

Mrs. Mary Jensen, mother of the new champion, had found it rather difficult to keep Helen and five other children in school since the death of her husband twelve years ago, and her plans had called for Helen to go to work after she completed her eighth grade work. With the $1,000 cash prize Helen won, there is no need for her to go to work. She will enter high school in September.

LAFAYETTE KINSMEN FOLLOW HIS STEPS

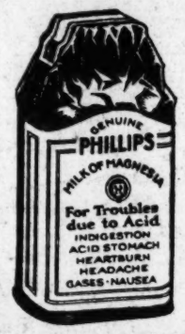
WELCOMED AT ASHLAWN

Charlottesville, Va., May 28 (A.P.). Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, and other historic places in this section seen by Gen. Lafayette 106 years ago, were visited today by descendants of the famous Frenchman. The visitors arrived here last night from New York.

The party, including the Marquis Jaques de Dampierre, great-grandson of Lafayette's sister; his son, Comte Henri de Dampierre; Theodore Fred Kuper, national director of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation; Henry Allen Johnson, secretary of the foundation, and Jacob Greenberg, director of foreign languages in the city schools of New York, first visited the grave of Thomas Jefferson.

From the grave the party went to Monticello, and from there proceeded to Ashlawn, formerly the home of James Monroe, who as President extended an invitation to Lafayette to tour America. The visitors were welcomed at Ashlawn by Mrs. Rose Gouvernouer Hoes, of Washington, great-granddaughter of Monroe, and by Mr. and Mrs. Jay Johns, present owners of Ashlawn.

During the afternoon the visitors planned to visit the University of Virginia, to see the rotunda where Jefferson was dinner host to Lafayette in 1824, and the romantic pavilion, where the Salle Lafayette was dedicated last November by Ambassador Paul Claudel, of France, as a memorial to the friendship between the two nations. President Alderman of the university will receive the visitors informally. In the evening the party will be guests of the university at a dinner at the Farmington Country Club.



Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1877.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD FOR GARFIELD

First Social Activities at Hospital in 48 Years Honors Martyr.

MUSIC OPENS PROGRAM

The memory of former President James A. Garfield was celebrated yesterday by the ladies' aid of Garfield Memorial Hospital with a card party, reception and tea, a musical and a memorial service on the hospital grounds at Florida avenue and Eleventh street northwest.

The events, constituting the first social activities at the hospital in 48 years, began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and culminated in the rites which took place at 5 o'clock, when numerous prominent personages paid tribute to the memory of President Garfield.

Opening with music by the Marine Band, the service continued with a brief address by Mrs. Cabot Stevens, president of the ladies' aid, who outlined the purposes of the gathering and read a message from President Hoover, indorsing the hospital's work and paying high tribute to the memory of President Garfield.

Mrs. Stevens explained that the purpose of the celebration was to call to the minds of the public that the hospital is not merely a hospital, but a national memorial to President Garfield.

During the ceremonies the State flag of Ohio, sent by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, was presented to the hospital.

John B. Larner presided at the ceremonies and the invocation was delivered by the Rev. Earle Wilfley, D. D., pastor of the National Christian Church, who also spoke of "Garfield, the Minister."

Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, deputy chief of staff of the Army, spoke of "Garfield, the Soldier," while Wade H. Ellis, former Attorney General of Ohio, talked of "Garfield, the Martyred President," and "Garfield, the Congressman."

"Woman's Tribute to Garfield" was delivered by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, of Ohio, president general of the D. A. R., and Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, District Commissioner, told of the progress being made in development of the hospital as the national Garfield memorial in Washington.

The addresses were interspersed with a musical program and the ceremonies concluded with the pledge of service of the ladies' aid and the singing of "America" by the junior aids.

Boy Violinist, 9, Legal Row Center

Father Asks Court to Have Prodigy Restored to His Custody.

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—Nine-year-old Ruggiero Ricci, San Francisco violinist, who attracted attention by his playing in Carnegie Hall and other places, today became the object of legal contention.

His father, Pietro Ricci, obtained a writ of habeas corpus requiring Mary Elizabeth Lackey, guardian of Ruggiero, to show cause why the boy and his brother, Giorgio, also a violinist, should not be given into their father's custody. Ricci charged the children's health has been endangered by exploitation of their musical talent by Miss Lackey, and attacked the validity of Miss Lackey's guardianship.

He also said signature of himself and wife on the adoption papers had been obtained by false representation, and added that he and his wife had not seen their children for more than a year, nor received any money from their earnings.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Headlights have received so much attention that many motorists may overlook the necessity for maintaining proper lighting equipment at the rear of the car. The tail light is placed there for the double purpose of preventing rear-end collisions in darkness and of illuminating the license plate.

The District regulations require the rear of the car to show a red light visible for 500 feet and a white light so placed that it illuminates the numerals on the license plate for at least 50 feet.

Example: The red lense in the tail light of a motorist's car is broken and drops out of its holder. The driver continues to use the car with only the bulb showing. It is a white light, however, not red as the regulations require. The motorist may be arrested and fined.

"I have used a good deal of your medicine and always find it gives wonderful help. I was feeling so weak and miserable that I had to lie down very often and I could hardly do my housework. I read in the paper how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped other women who were in the same condition so I said I will try it for myself. I am very much better now and I recommend this medicine."—Mrs. J. W. Albertson.

CHARGES DISMISSAL GOAL OF DONALDSON

Attorney Requests Court to Oust Proceednigs to Disbar Him.

PREVIOUS RECORD CITED

Asserting that charges of professional misconduct which form the basis of disbarment proceedings recently instituted against him in District of Columbia Supreme Court are without foundation or justification, R. Golden Donaldson, former president of the Commercial National Bank, yesterday asked the justices of the District of Columbia Supreme Court to dismiss the proceedings.

Charges of professional misconduct were filed against Mr. Donaldson several weeks ago, after acting Chief Justice Wendell P. Stafford had transmitted to the grievance committee of the bar association a recommendation of the grand jury that his conduct in regard to the F. H. Smith Co. and the Boyle-Robertson Construction Co. be investigated. Hearing on the charges and Mr. Donaldson's answer probably will be held at a general term of the court within the next few weeks.

Mr. Donaldson tells the justices that he has been a member of the bar for 30 years, "during which time he has held its confidence and respect in the highest esteem and the mandates of its ethics and practice in the most scrupulous regard." He sets out that "while inactive as a practitioner for approximately the last ten years he nevertheless retained his membership in its bar and always conducted himself in a manner which he believed reflected honorably his observance of the proprieties of the professoin."

Previous Conduct Cited.

He asserts that until these charges were filed, there had never been any official criticism of his conduct as an attorney, and declares that at no time in his office had he ever done consciously any act to bring upon him any complaint of misconduct.

Mr. Donaldson points out that during the time he had become a banker and a business man and was known as such among his former associates and the public generally. He declares he performed, therefore, practically no legal duties.

Mr. Donaldson explains to the court that during 1925 and 1926, the Boyle-Robertson Construction Co., from time to time, employed his law firm, well knowing that the F. H. Smith Co. was engaging it during the same period. He asserts that neither company objected to the employment of his firm by the other, but on the contrary, acquiesced therein. He adds that there was never any conflict between the interests of the two, and sets out that at no time was his firm ever exclusive counsel for the Smith Co.

Undue Advantages Denied.

While admitting that both companies were depositors at his bank, Mr. Donaldson denied that by reason of their employment of his law firm as counsel, either ever received any undue favor or advantage, and that as president of the bank he never performed any act in the negotiation, execution or performance of any of the contracts between the Smith Co. and the construction company which are cited in the charges. All the contracts were dissociated with any act of his as president of the bank or as member of the bar.

Mr. Donaldson declares that he did not initiate negotiations with Mr. Robertson, of the construction company, but that the latter approached him. He declares that he represented the construction company not only in endeavoring to secure contracts with the Smith Co., but represented it down to February, 1929, in attempting to secure contracts from other sources.

Assertion is made that an agreement was reached with Robertson whereby services rendered by Mr. Donaldson in regard to contracts were not to be of a legal character. He said that the company did not consult him in a legal capacity regarding the contracts complained of, and makes the same statement in regard to the Smith Co. He describes it further as "purely a business understanding and freely and voluntarily between the construction company and himself, calling for no professional services to be rendered by him either in his capacity as an attorney or banker."

Urged Contractor Selection.

He admits that he recommended the construction company to the officers of the Smith Co. and requested and urged them to do all they properly could do to have the construction company selected as contractor to erect the buildings mentioned in the contracts.

Mr. Donaldson denies that the officers of the construction company were induced to enter into the contracts because they were given to understand, although not expressly told, that if they refused to do so he was in position to and would influence the officers of the Smith company to let the building contracts to one or more of the construction company's competitors.

He declares that he considered the contracts as business propositions—that the construction company wanted them and that it was willing to pay him for his brokerage services in securing them.

Attorneys William E. Leahy and William J. Hughes, jr., appear for Mr. Donaldson.

SENATORS CONSIDER AUTO DRIVERS' BILL

INSURANCE AIDS HEARD

The Capper-McLeod bill aimed at irresponsible automobile drivers was the subject of a hearing before the Senate District committee yesterday. The bill passed the House Monday.

Under the terms of the measure, a driver found guilty of a major traffic offense would have his permit revoked, and could not regain it until he could show that he was able to meet a judgment for damages. This he would do my posting a bond or taking out insurance.

Among those who appeared yesterday to urge approval of the bill were Harvey L. Cobb, counsel of the American Motorists Association; Lewis W. Strahley, chairman of the insurance committee of that association; Owen P. Augspurger, chairman of the committee on safety responsibility of the American Automobile Association; George R. Wellington, chief clerk of the Board of Public Roads of Rhode Island, and Si Mayer, of Chicago.

To judge from his questions and observations, Senator Robsion (Republican), of Kentucky, is far from satisfied with the bill. At one point in the hearing he asked Mr. Augspurger the nature of his business. A bit embarrassed, Mr. Augspurger explained that he was in the automobile insurance business.

Mr. Strathley, another witness, said that he, too, was in the insurance business, but declared that the insurance he handled was limited to members of the American Motorist Association.

Woman Dies on Return To Capital From Texas

On her way home from Texas, where she had gone for her health two years ago, Mrs. Louise Moreland, 36 years old, of Chaney, Md., became suddenly ill when the train arrived at Union Station yesterday afternoon. She was removed from the train to Casualty Hospital, where she died a few minutes after being admitted.

Heart trouble was given as the cause of death.

Fort Holds Dry Law Repeal Vain

Rescission of Amendment Is Called Impossibility in Camden Address.

Camden, N. J., May 28 (A.P.).—Representative Franklin W. Fort, candidate for Republican nomination as United States senator from New Jersey, expressed the belief in a campaign address here last night that repeal of the eighteenth amendment is "a practical impossibility." Fort, who favors retention of present liquor legislation, criticized the declarations of his opponents and described their position as calling clearly for "a decision of the voters of New Jersey."

"The eighteenth amendment," said Fort, "is not going to be repealed. I do not say this simply on the practical reasons of the difficulty of repeal. So ardent an antiprohibitionist as former Senator Edwards said, in effect, it was all right to take a position for repeal as a means of getting votes, but that any one who took it and knew the sentiment of the people of the United States knew that he was not going to achieve it in his lifetime."

Fort held the only hope of prohibition foes was to produce nullification through nonobservance and the repeal of enforcing statutes.

Delay in Market Closing Favored

The joint resolution to delay the closing of Center Market at least until November 1 was approved by the Senate yesterday and sent to the White House for the President's signature.

The resolution, which was adopted by the House Monday, provides for the closing of Center Market between September 1 and January 1. Sixty days' notice must be given to the dealers, however, which would make November 1 the earliest date on which the market might be closed.

When it is closed depends upon when the Treasury Department decides to start work on the new Archives Building, which is to go up on the market site.

Italy Announces Big Navy Budget

Increase Is Said Not to Change Nation's Desire to Agree on Cut.

Rome, May 28 (A.P.).—A new Italian naval construction budget of $77,498,000—an increase over the previous budget of $12,750,000—was announced today simultaneously with a statement that the program did not change Italy's disposition to resume negotiations for reduction of armament.

The program, involving $32,000,000 in new construction, was announced in the Chamber of Deputies by Admiral Sirianni, minister of the navy.

"The agreements for which we hoped have not been reached," he said, in referring to the London Naval Conference, "but the possibilities of reopening negotiations have not disappeared. This year's naval program modifies in no respect these possibilities."

SIX ARE DEATH TOLL IN LOUISIANA FLOOD

More Hundreds Prepare to Flee Devastating Red River Waters.

STREAM 15 MILES WIDE

New Orleans, La., May 28 (A.P.).—Hundreds of residents of Grant and Rapides Parishes tonight were preparing to flee before the advance of the devastating flood down the Red River Valley, which has taken 6 lives, inundated 200,000 acres in northwest Louisiana, driven 6,000 persons from their homes to refugee camps, and caused property and crop damages of several hundred thousand dollars.

The flood has claimed the lives of a Negro near Rodessa, another near Minden, two white children at Bienville, a Negro near Haynesville and a white youth, William E. Laffoon, who drowned while driving his cattle to safety through flood waters from Sandy Bayou, in Grant Parish.

The Red River Rose 5 inches in twelve hours at Colfax, in southwest Grant Parish, cutting off the main highway to the north by flooding through Rock Bayou. A levee was being strengthened west of Colfax to prevent the flooding of a wide expanse of rich farm lands. Colfax proper was believed safe from immediate danger.

6-Inch Rise in 24 Hours.

At Alexandria, 30 miles down the stream, in Rapides Parish, the river rose a half a foot in the past 24 hours, reaching 37.7 feet on the gauge today, a foot and seven-tenths above flood level. The newly strengthened levees in the section were holding satisfactorily.

Vast areas were still under water from the extreme northwest of the State around Shreveport to the Rapides Parish line, a distance down the stream of more than a hundred miles. Expanses of water stretch at some points as far as 15 miles on each side of the Red River Valley proper. The water today was falling in the Shreveport area, while further down the rise continued, adding to the hardship of refugees and marooned.

The most acute conditions still centered in Red River Parish around East Point, one of nearly a half dozen towns standing in water. In the East Point section only about 50 acres of high ground remained above the water line, a dot on the surface of the 40 square miles inundated there.

Families Packed in Houses.

Reports said families by the half-dozen were packed under a single roof, provisions were scarce and unless relief is realized soon, the situation will become alarming.

Red Cross workers and local committees today were caring for about 4,000 refugees in Natchitoches Parish and 2,000 in Red River.

At Monroe, in Ouachita Parish, to the east, the Ouachita River rose seven-tenths of a foot overnight, placing the level at 38 feet, 2 feet under flood stage, with the levees holding.

Pearl River, at Jackson, Miss., was cresting today at 32 feet, 12 feet above flood level, with the prospect of early recession from the submerged residential sections.

Dentist Broke Up Home, Man in Attack Asserts

Hammond, La., May 28 (A.P.).—Isaac G. Starnes, one of five brothers under arrest here on charges of tarring and feathering Dr. Sedgie L. Newsom, prominent dentist, issued a statement today saying he participated in the attack because the dentist broke up his home.

"We don't deny we tarred and feathered him," said Starnes. "We'll tell why we did it. He broke up my home."

He said both the dentist and his wife had admitted misconduct before witnesses. In a statement last night Dr. Newsom denied any improper relations with any woman of the city.

Drug Smuggler Given Eight-Year Sentence

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—Jacob Blum, who tried to smuggle a trunkload of narcotics into the United States last March in the luggage of Sir Duncan Orr-Lewis, was sentenced today to eight years and six months in Federal Prison at Atlanta.

Blum was accused by the Government of being a member of an international ring which had been smuggling narcotics into New York for years.

Behind the Screens

—With NELSON B. BELL—

As the Wednesday afternoon chore of compiling this column is approached, the task is appreciably simplified by a sudden accession of reasonably important items of news.

Possibly of most immediate concern is the definite advice from Andy Sharick, managing director, that the Rialto Theater once more will lock its doors with the close of business on Friday of this week. The prospective period of darkness is indeterminate, but is expected to extend no longer than the middle of August.

Whether or not a refrigeration plant will be installed in the meantime also is problematical. For many weeks there has been an unbroken procession of engineers and cooling experts parading through the Rialto, but so far no contract has been let and no actual wheel turned.

The closing of the Rialto means that Universal's widely heralded and much lauded production of "All Quiet on the Western Front"—now running in Baltimore—will not be presented in the Capital before next fall. That is, unless Universal decides not to reopen the Ninth Street house at all and leases the picture to some other exhibiting concern for earlier showing. This probable delay is to be regretted, since it indefinitely postpones the opportunity to view the most notable work of a young director whose achievements entitle him to be listed among the great.

Lewis Milestone has made a name for himself with "All Quiet." The picture is said to be definitely a directorial achievement. It represents the most difficult of all accomplishments—the convincing presentation of great mass results, along with perfect human effect.

Directors who have been able to keep bigness and true sensitiveness in mind at one and the same time—and comparatively few have been able to do this well—have made movie history. D. W. Griffith did it with "The Birth of a Nation" and King Vidor did it with "The Big Parade."

"All Quiet," however, is not the first successful picture Milestone has directed. Strangely enough, he has made some very fine comedies.

As for Mr. Sharick himself, he is off to take charge of the road-show runs of "All Quiet" in seven important Eastern cities, including Toronto, Ont., Buffalo, N. Y., his home ballwick of Cleveland, O., and a quartet more.

It is Mr. Sharick's hope, as well as that of all of us who have been either directly or indirectly associated with him, that he will return to Washington in the late summer again to assume command of the Ninth Street property.

From Hardie Meakin, managing director of the Fox, comes word that beginning a week from tomorrow, June 6, the new bills at the Fox will be inaugurated on Friday of each week instead of Saturday, as heretofore.

This, it is emphasized, is not a move planned to "get the jump" on any competitor, but one that is necessitated by booking requirements in other cities as they pertain particularly to the Fanchon and Marco stage units. With all of the other cities they play opening their new bills on Friday and closing them Thursday night, it has been necessary for the F & M "ideas" to lay off a day every week in order to play Washington. This will be overcome by the new arrangement.

Incidentally, Mr. Brusiloff and his orchestra, at the Fox, are joining with all the rest of the world this week in paying tribute to the memory of Victor Herbert on the sixth anniversary of that great composer's death.

Five solo instrumentalists are being featured in a special medley of Herbert melodies, to wit: Henri Sokolov, concertmaster, in "Sweet Mystery of Life"; Ralph Ostrow, trumpet, "I'm Falling in Love with Someone"; Kingsley House, saxophone, "Gypsy Love Song"; John Alden Finckel, cello, "Kiss Me Again", and Ray G. Delphey, percussionist, "Czardas" from "The Fortune Teller", on the xylophone.

On Wednesday, June 4, John J. Payette, general manager of the Warner Brothers interests in Washington and vicinity, will present an experimental innovation at the Ambassador Theater in the form of a program comprised wholly of German talking-pictures.

It should be understood that these productions are not merely German made, but wholly in the German tongue. This unusual departure, I am given to understand, is in recognition of a bona fide demand from German-speaking residents of the District to be given an opportunity to enjoy the work of fellow countrymen who are reputed to have triumphed in the articulate celluloids when not compelled to tackle the intricacies of English.

Next week's downtown first-runs, you may be interested to know, will be as follows: Palace, Claudette Colbert and Norman Foster, in "Young Man of Manhattan;" Fox, Warner Baxter, in "The Arizona Kid;" Earle, Billie Dove, Clive Brook and Sidney Blackmer, in "Sweethearts and Wives;" Metropolitan, Belle Bennett, Marian Nixon and Leon Janney, in "Courage;" RKO-Keith's, Colin Clive and Ian MacLaren, in "Journey's End," second week; Columbia, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, in "Caught Short," second week.

Since Saturday there has been a lively contest going on at the Palace between George McManus, famous cartoonist, in the Hearst Metrotone News, and Richy Craig, jr., master of ceremonies with the "Vanities," stage revue. The aim appears to be to see which can dig up the oldest gags!

Don't forget to hang out the flag!

Nine Hurt as Mob Rushes Town Hall

British Mother, Thrown Into Jail, Indirect Cause of Riot by 3,000.

Bradford, England, May 28 (A.P.).—A serious riot broke out here last night when a crowd of 3,000 rushed the town hall attempting to rescue seven persons arrested in earlier disorders.

With cheers and boos, the cries of "Murder the police!" the mob met a hundred constables. The police used their batons freely and made many arrests. Eight rioters and one constable were injured.

The charge on the town hall started from a Communist meeting where a man, apparently a foreigner, said his wife was among seven persons arrested earlier for demonstrations outside a mill where wool combers were working in defiance of the woolen and textile strikes. "My children are crying for their mother!" exclaimed the speaker. This set the crowd off with a rush.

Dirigible R-100 Flight To Canada Postponed

London, May 28 (A.P.).—The projected flight of the new British dirigible R-100 to Canada has been postponed until the end of June or the beginning of July. Frederick Montague, undersecretary of state for air, informed the House of Commons of the postponement this afternoon, stating the repairs were required by the huge ship.

While on a recent 24-hour test flight over England, the R-100 had a section of covering torn from one of her fins and later it was found that she had suffered other minor damage. It had been expected that the R-100 would make the flight to Canada about the beginning of June.

Death Warrant Signed For Dry Agent's Slayer

Tallahassee, Fla., May 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Doyle E. Carlton signed a death warrant today for the electrocution next month of J. W. Buchanan, convicted of the killing of W. C. Mobray, a Federal prohibition officer. Buchanan's execution was set for the week of June 9.

Mobray was shot to death in Taylor County in a disturbance in which J. P. Brandt, another prohibition agent, was also killed, when the two are said to have attempted to search Buchanan's home for liquor. Buchanan was given life imprisonment for the Brandt killing.

CHURCHES TO MARK ASCENSION DAY HERE

SPECIAL RITES PLANNED

Catholic and Episcopal churches in Washington will observe Ascension Day with special masses and services. This religious festival comes 40 days after Easter and marks the day on which Christ ascended 1,930 years ago.

Washington Cathedral will observe the day with the formal opening and dedication of the crypt of the Nave. The dedicatory service will take place at 4 o'clock with the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, and other clergymen and the Washington Cathedral choir of men and boys participating. The exercises will open in the Bethlehem Chapel and the dedicatory procession through the passageways of the crypt will follow.

Services will be held at 11 a. m. when the Rev Lewis H. Webster, a deacon, will be ordained to the priesthood. The following will be ordained to the deaconate: George E. Schilling, John A. Bryant and Gordon L. Graser.

Early masses were held in all the Catholic churches and noonday masses for workers will be celebrated at St. Patrick's, St. Mary's and Immaculate Conception Churches.

Thousands of Catholic children and their parents will journey to Baltimore, where a pontifical field mass will be held in the Baltimore Stadium. Archbishop Michael J. Curley will be celebrant of the mass.

Preceding the services, a pageant in which more than 20,000 are expected to participate will be held. The procession will be reviewed by Archbishop Curley, Bishop McNamara and Gov. Ritchie.

The event, which is being held in connection with the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, is expected to be one of the most colorful demonstrations ever conducted by the archdiocese of Baltimore.

Attired in white berets, blue athletic sweaters, white skirts and white shoes, the entire roster of the Immaculate Conception High School for Girls will participate in the exercises. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney will accompany the pupils, who will be under the direction of the Sisters of St. Vincent, who teach in the high school.

Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 8 and 11 o'clock in St. Thomas Episcopal Church, with the Rev. C. Ernest Smith, the rector, as celebrant. A special service will be held at 8 o'clock tonight. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Charles E. Crusoe.

Indictment Cites Ralph J. Capone

Millionaire Is One of 350 Named in Chicago Jones Law Violations.

Chicago, May 28 (A.P.).—Ralph J. Capone and seven associates were indicted by a Federal grand jury today on charges of conspiring to violate the national prohibition act. The charges resulted from recent raids on the Cotton Club and the Montmartre, Cicero, resorts, alleged to be owned by Capone. More than 100 other indictments were returned naming about 350 defendants as violators of the Jones law.

Capone was named in two indictments which charged him with possession and sale of intoxicating liquor, maintenance of a nuisance and conspiracy. Both indictments came under the Jones law with possible penalties of five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Among others indicted was "West Side Frankie" Pope, named with a number of others in a bill charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. John W. Sheridan, said by State's attorney's aids to be a millionaire real estate operator, was named in an indictment charging him with being the owner of a farm on which a large still was seized recently.

Now! A Totally New and Different Hygiene

That Banishes All Chafing from Women's Sanitary Problems

Pure RAYON Cellulose Filled

Soft and Gentle as Fluffed Silk —And Effective 3 Times Longer

THERE is now an utterly new and totally different hygiene for women. Not merely another sanitary pad, but an invention of world-wide importance to women.

A sanitary napkin that is NEW in design. New in material. New and remarkable in the results that it gives.

Women by the thousands are discarding old-type pads and adopting it. For it does two things no other pad made now or ever made can claim.

Ends All Chafing—All Irritation!

Developed in the world-famed laboratories that cradled the Rayon industry, it is filled with pure RAYON cellulose. Thus It Cannot Chafe or Irritate. Hence, no more discomfort, no more irritation from wearing a sanitary pad! Consider what this means.

Its softness is the gentle softness of Fluffed Silk. Its "feel," a contrast that once you experience, will keep you forever from the irritating old ways. Try it. What you find will amaze you.

Wear In Safety Hours Longer

Made under an exclusive process, it is 10 or more times more absorbent than any other sanitary pad now known or ever known to women.

Thus it can be worn in complete Safety and protection Hours Longer than any other pad yet developed. Consider, too, what this means.

Specially treated, its deodorizing power is far greater than that of any other pad—and thus ends even slightest danger of offense. Discards, of course, easily as tissue.

ACCEPT TRIAL

Go today to any drug or department store. Obtain a box of Veldown. Use six. Then—if you don't feel that it is a Vast and Great Improvement on any other pad you have ever worn, return it—and receive your full purchase price back.

A BOTTLE WATER COOLER by GENERAL ELECTRIC

WE are now able to offer you the General Electric Bottle Water Cooler created by the same scientific and engineering skill that gave the world the General Electric Refrigerator.

The cooling unit of the General Electric Bottle Water Cooler is of the sealed-in, trouble-proof type . . . guaranteed against maintenance difficulty and expense.

Place it where employees may easily use it. Connect its cord to any electric light socket. That's all. It does not even have to be oiled.

The General Electric Automatic Regulator keeps the drinking water at whatever degree of coldness that is best for health and efficiency.

General Electric guarantees it.

No Owner has paid 1¢ for Service

Let us show it to you TODAY.

General Electric Bottle Water Cooler

Sanitary—Has seamless white porcelain cooling chamber and rustless tubing.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

FORMERLY light was chiefly used to see with. However, an entirely new application was suggested yesterday by O. H. Caldwell at the lighting conference in New York.

"Most of the little 'nuisance' broadcast stations which clutter up the air might better give up their radio wave lengths and utilize the new light-ray method of broadcasting," Mr. Caldwell said. "These little stations can usually be heard only about as far as their antennas can be seen, so that the light-ray method would cover about as many blocks as are now covered by radio, while making these now-wasted radio wave lengths available for great high-power stations from whose programs millions would benefit.

"There are 50 broadcasting stations in the New York area, only six or seven of which are regularly listened to by the discriminating public. The rest could shut down without a ripple of public attention, but as a substitute they might be offered the alternative of broadcasting over modulated light-waves, which could be heard as far as the station could be seen."

One of the Democratic party's great orators, Claude G. Bowers, author and editor, will make his first national appearance on the radio tonight (Universal Series, WRC, 6:15 p. m.) since he delivered the keynote address at the Houston convention.

IT seems the laugh is on Senator Dill, of Washington. Although co-author of the radio act and admittedly a factor in national radio matters, when it came to the apparently inconsequential matter of securing a better frequency for his home town station, KGA, in Spokane, he didn't get to first base.

It is understood that Chairman Saltzman readily agreed to grant Senator Dill's request. But even before counsel for Station KHJ, Los Angeles, slapped on the injunction when it appeared the latter's frequency was jeopardized, other commissioners demurred at the speed with which the change was being put through, it is said.

If John Hays Hammond, jr., who has just invented a television system that gives an airplane an eye like a hawk and already has more than 100 other radio inventions to his credit, doesn't slow down a little he will be more famous than a gentleman bearing the same name who lives in the large, beautiful home on Kalorama road.

A DRAMATIZATION of scenes at the court of King George I of England, with a musical setting adapted from the works of Handel, will be the offering tonight (WRC, 10 p. m.) of Great Love Scenes in Music.

This is one of the finest series on the air.

In response to numerous requests about the Selberling Singers, we repeat that this quartet may be heard now on Friday evenings (WRC, 9 p. m.) in the Raleigh Revue, under the title of The Rovers. The members of this quartet are heard individually in several other broadcasts also.

With the President at Gettysburg, WJSV will be the only station broadcasting the Memorial services at Arlington tomorrow. James P. McGrath, WJSV manager, is planning to put the exercises on from 1 to 3 o'clock p. m.

THERE seems to be a squabble over broadcasting the Sharkey-Schmeling fight, June 12. When Madison Square Garden received bids for broadcasting rights, the Majestic people, Columbia clients, with $25,000, were the highest bidders.

The figure the National Broadcasting Co. offered was lower. When N. B. C. saw that they had lost, they are reported to have hunted out an old broadcasting contract between the N. B. C. and the Garden.

N. B. C. lawyers claim the contract valid, but Columbia's counsel declare it not legal.

FROM the Columbus (Ohio) State Journal:

Anne Adams INTERPRETS the MODE

In this wedidng ensemble, white satin for the bride and pale blue faille for her maid, and soft flowing lines for both. (Courtesy of Patou, Paris.)

Paris, May 28.

I'VE always liked monkey fur! There's something so wispy wistful about it, if you see what I mean. And I seize with relish upon the fact that it is quietly and all in its own good time coming back to favor.

Monkey fur and fringe seem synonymous to me. They aren't, of course, but you don't mind if I think so, do you? And just maybe to prove that I'm not so goofy after all, speaking synonymously, of course, fringe is also making a slow but sure way back into favor.

This article, however, is to be about monkey fur and not about fringe! And as to monkey fur, one sees it trimming many of the summer dresses and coats, especially, of course, those in black and those in white, and some in red. Remember I told you about the lovely Martial et Armand ensemble in white heavy lace coat and the band of monkey fur around the bottom? A white lace hat with a couple of million dollars' worth of black aigrettes all around the back of it was worn with this outfit.

Tollman has a black fishnet dress with large blue velvet dots on it, entirely banded in monkey fur at the bottom. Some one else has a lovely short white evening coat trimmed in monkey fur.

So get out your monkey furs while ye may, before all the world and her sister beats you to it, and monkey fur loses out in smartness.

This is the first time since this fashion column began that we have been able to remember to show you the brides' costume of the season. So this time we're doing it up right, by showing you the three most beautiful ones in all Paris! Today it's Patou's bride and bridesmaid, the bride in a beautiful gown of the traditional white satin that depends upon line for its stately graciousness and charm, and the bridesmaid in pale blue faille with chiffon collar. Holding the bridesmaid's collar together are little pink roses.

And, if I may be allowed to express my ideas, I would say that this bridesmaid should wear matching pale blue gloves and hold a little bouquet of pink roses. And, of course, a large hat, which I would prefer to be of the blue.

What Today Means to You

"GEMINI."

IF May 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 4:30 a. m. to 6 a. m., and from 11 p. m. to midnight.

The benign influences of this date should create a feeling of genuine good fellowship among all, and it should be a splendid time to patch up quarrels and misunderstandings. Lovers, take advantage of these propitious moments! A gain through inheritance or speculation.

The child born on this May 29 will be industrious, but will lack initiative. It will have a good head for detail work, and will have the patience to dig things out, step by step. It will be sensitive to slights and easily offended.

You are rather a last minute person, inasmuch as you do your best when racing with time. To catch a train by the skin of your teeth, to write a club paper the day of delivery, or to entertain impromptu, is the very breath of life with you. You do not need to be pitied in the midst of your self-created turmoil—you love it. Highly concentrated is one of your strong points. Your mind and your hands can work in harmony with speed, and it may be said that you are not a slovenly worker. As a loafer, however, you are an entirely different person. You know the secret of complete relaxation, both mind and body. It is not always easy to interest or enthuse you, but once you go into things, it is with your whole heart and soul.

You are good at the "give and take" of life, and if anything you will meet the other fellow more than half way, in order to keep peace and harmony. You do not have a pugnacious nature, and you would rather reason than fight, but those who step on your toes too hard, soon regret the fact. You do not allow yourself to become easily prejudiced, and are always ready to give any one the benefit of the doubt. You will not be a millstone around the neck for your wife or husband, but a "fifty-fifty" partner.

4 eggs.
1 cup milk.
5 teaspoons baking powder.
1½ teaspoons ground cardamon seed.
1½ teaspoons ginger.
¾ teaspoon cinnamon.
¼ teaspoon cloves.
1-3 cup raisins, seeded and cut in pieces.
1-3 cup figs, finely chopped.
1 tablespoon honey.

Rub the butter and sugar together and add the yolks of the eggs. Sift together the flour and baking powder and add them to the mixture, alternating them with the milk. Finally add the whites of the eggs well beaten. Bake two-thirds of the mixture in two layer cake pans. To the remainder add spices, fruit and honey and bake it in a layer cake pan. Put layers together with crystallized honey.

The Goofus Pest

The older and staler is the jest
The louder laughs the Goofus Pest!
Right here he's doubled up with mirth
Over the oldest joke on earth
Which he'll retell to all his friends,
And at all dinners he attends.
Of course I know he might do worse,
He might make puns—he might write verse!

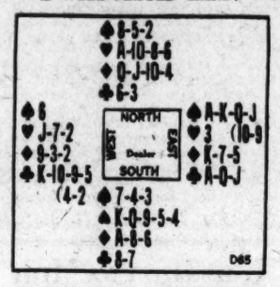
WORK ON BRIDGE

A WELL-PLAYED HAND.



The above hand was played in a game of Contract. South bid one Heart, West passed, North passed; but East was bold enough to bid four Spades, which became the final bid.

At Auction Bridge East would have obtained the contract at Spades, but probably would have been obliged to bid more than two.

When the hand was played with East the Declarer and Spades the trump, South led the King of Hearts, dummy played the Deuce, and North then realized that by playing the Ace of Hearts on his partner's King he would make dummy's Jack good on the third round; but that it was unlikely there would be a third round of Hearts. South had bid the suit originally without either the Ace, Jack, or Ten; so the only high Hearts he could have would be the King-Queen which his lead showed that he possessed.

It was almost sure that South had bid a five-card suit, and consequently that East had not more than one Heart; it was equally safe to assume that South must have had a side Ace to support his King-Queen Heart bid if it were the Ace of Clubs, it would be sure to make, and a lead of that suit by North up to dummy's King would not be advisable; but if it happened to be the Ace of Diamonds, it would be essential for North to lead Diamonds because dummy was weak in that suit and there was an excellent chance that East held three Diamonds to the King. If only one Heart trick could be made, the only probable way to save the game would seem to be a Diamond lead by North.

Reasoning thus, North won the first trick with the Ace of Hearts and led his Queen of Diamonds. This produced the result that North was looking for; he and South took three Diamond tricks in addition to North's Heart and saved the game.

JONES ELIMINATES TOLLEY IN 19-HOLE THRILLER

NEW YORK, May 28.—Jack Sharkey is said to place great value on the cheers of the prize fight customers who reared up from their chairs and gave him a series of good substantial yells when he climbed into the ring for an honorary introduction at the lightweight prize fights in the Garden last Friday night.

Resuming his training for his own prize fight with Max Schmeling, Sharkey seems to have been invigorated by this spontaneous show of faith and affection, he being very sentimental and inclined to break down and bawl over a bruised wildflower, a cracked robin's egg or a touching scene in the weeping pictures.

Up to that moment in the Garden, Sharkey did not know the public cared, but now that he does know this, the young man will take the ring against Schmeling in a mod of dangerous ferocity, full of responsibility to the people who hoisted up and hollered "Yea! Yea! Wha! Sharkey!" This may not have been the exact text of the people's remarks that night, but I have never been able to sort out such sounds and determine just what they do yell when they let themselves go for some momentary favorite of theirs, the general effect being mere noise.

It Is Not "Hurrah" Or "Huzzah."

It is not "Hurrah," because this is a word that is only printed, never yelled, and it is not "Huzzah," either, for there is another one that meets only the eye, never the ear.

"Yea! Yea! Wah!" is about as close as I can come to the remarks of a crowd in full cry of approbation, although I can give you verbatim quote on their comments when the mood is otherwise. In such cases they enunciate distinctly, uttering a deep, growling word, "Boo," and here may be thought for a serious essay in the fact that heroes of whatever kind invariably remember that "Boo" sound longer than they remember "Yea! Yea! Wah!" This is a very positive sound, indicating that people can express themselves in hatred much more easily than in friendship.

But, to a party in Mr. Sharkey's position, it really makes no material difference what the customers yell if they don't forget to yell, and if he were not such an easy weeper, so easily touched by praise or scorn, I should be inclined to disbelieve this talk of his going back to his training camp all hucked up and wellnigh frantic to be at Schmeling's throat. Having seen him pucker up his face and cry like a melancholy inebriate over routine incidents in his prize fights, not once but often, one may easily believe that he left the Garden deeply in love with the customers one and all, and resolved to massacre Schmeling just for them.

Bash on Nose May Weaken Resolve.

Of course, his resolve may weaken on the night of the boxing match if Schmeling pops him one or two stiff bashes on the nose as Fainting Philip Scott did in Miami a couple of months ago. That is another peculiarity of this emotional artist, tending to support the contention of Mr. Ben Atwell, the grand opera press agent, who has always maintained that the best sedative for an eruption temperament is a good swift kick in the pants.

Mr. Atwell put his theory to the test one night using an Italian tenor for his subject and the effect was just as he had predicted. Certainly Mr. Sharkey's ferocity abated abruptly in the Scott affair when Philip, in timid flight, reached out with a womanish left-hand poke and took Mr. Sharkey on the chin. A moment later, Sharkey began to wallop him out of bounds and Philip sat down to discuss his right with Lou Magnolia, the referee, a most opinionated judge, who ignored the facts of the case and delivered the victory to Sharkey by hand.

About a year ago, Sharkey received a salute of twenty-one rousing "Boo's" from a crowd in the Garden and, on that occasion, remarked, "let them yell; I get their money." That, however, was a speech from the neck, not from the heart. Like Gene Tunney, this young man has always wished to be popular and his feelings respond quickly to the temper of his public.

Tunney Offended Deeply by Boos.

Mr. Tunney, proud of his championship and particularly pleased over the discomfiture of the experts who had picked him to lose to Dempsey, was deeply offended when, on a subsequent night, the customers turned on him and booed him with wild enthusiasm. That was when he began to call the customers wolves and so painful was his hurt that he went into a sulk from which he never did

NATS' 8TH STRAIGHT IS AIM AS MARBERRY FACES YANKS TODAY

Shawkey Nominates Pipgras to Pitch in Series Final; Braxton Sad as Rain Erases Chance to Start First Game.

Mack's Custom of Using Starting Pitchers in Relief Roles as in 1925 Blamed for Decline of A's Staff.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 28.—One of the saddest individuals in the Washington Club party here this afternoon was E. Garland Braxton, southpaw pitcher, who was scheduled to have done the slab work in this afternoon's game against the Yankees. "Brax" has had a craving to start a game ever since the season opened, but has not had a chance and the opportunity he was to get today was prevented by rain and cold weather.

Now, Braxton has to wait for another "break," for while his other flingers are doing nicely, Manager Walter Johnson plans to continue with his rotation system with Fred Marberry, in view of his good effort of last Sunday, crowding in the picture and getting the call tomorrow when the Nats will be seeking their eighth consecutive victory. In the hope of his Yankees winning this final game of the series here, "Bob, the Gob" Shawkey has let it be known that he, too, will make a shift and that he plans to use George Pipgras tomorrow, this flinger being the only one who has been able to beat the Nationals this season.

All Twin Bills Won by Nats.

As a result of today's enforced idleness, a double-header will played here, probably on August 2, making two twin bills in a row for the Nats, as they are listed to entertain the Red Sox in a brace of games in Washington on the following day. Twin bills, however, are not worrying the Nationals any this year, for they have won both ends of the three they have already played and are beginning to look upon them as lucky.

Drifting back to the subject of pitchers, those on the Nat pay roll certainly have done themselves proud this season. With the two best relief hurlers in captivity hanging around ready to jump in and save a tottering mate in Braxton and Marberry, the occasions Johnson has had to call on them this season are few and far between. Since the end of the last stay against the West, for instance, the Nationals have played eleven games and in only two has a pitching change been necessary, not counting the shift from Brown to Braxton against the Mackmen on May 16, which came with the starter in no trouble in the eighth after he had allowed but three scattered hits.

Hurlers Go Route for Five Games in Row.

Since that time Hadley, Liska and Jones have gone the route twice each and Brown, Burke and Marberry once apiece. For five games in a row last week, the Washington starter was still on deck at the finish, which surely is going some in these days of the rabbitt ball and small parks.

While the Nationals are studiously avoiding mentioning pennant possibilities, there is no question but what they are finding it a difficult matter to do so, for the brand of pitching they are getting, plus the way they are pounding the ball behind it, has every man jack of them keyed up to a high pitch.

As a matter of fact, since as far back as last August they have traveled at a faster pace than any other team in the league, while this season, against every club in the circuit, they have lost as many as two games in succession only on one occasion when the Browns beat them on May 3 and 4 to take the only series which they have dropped to date.

The advance dope indicated that the Eastern clubs stood out head and shoulders above those of the West, yet against the teams in their own sector all the Nats have done is to win 20 out of 24 starts, eight out of nine from the Boston Red Sox, seven out of nine from the world's champion Athletics, and five out of six from the New York Yankees.

Rate Yankees Superior To A's and Tribe.

Even assuming that they lose to the Yankees tomorrow and break even in the coming four games with the Athletics, the Nats will start West next week at the top of the heap, and, in view of how they looked as compared with Western opponents during their last home stay, they should do even better on their invasion than they did in Griffith Sta-

Browns Beat Tigers, 4-2; Stewart Allows Six Hits

St. Louis, Mo., May 28 (A.P.).—The Browns, after losing three in a row to Detroit, defeated the Tigers today in the final game of the series, 4-2. Southpaw Walter Stewart turned in his seventh victory of the season, letting the Tigers down with six hits. The only runs he allowed were made in the first inning.

With the score tied at 2-all, the Browns scored twice in the eighth on Blue's double, a sacrifice by O'Rourke and singles by Manush, Kress and Schulte.

The southpaw veteran, Earl Whitehill, went the distance for the Tigers.

Cubs' Shifted Line-Up Brings Defeat of Reds

Chicago, May 28 (A.P.).—A drastic rearrangement of the Chicago Cubs' line-up had its good effect in the first inning today and enabled the Cubs to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5. Chicago scored four runs in the opening frame and barely outlasted the Cincinnati rallies.

A triple by Hack Wilson and a fluke homer by Kiki Cuyler in the first brought about the downfall of young Benny Frey, who had beaten the Cubs twice before. Frey settled down after this inning, but finally was removed for a pinch-hitter, Kolp finishing. Cuyler's homer gave him a bad break. The ball bounded along the first-base line and into the right field seats.

Power Shown By Sharkey After Rest

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., May 28—(N Y W N S)—Jack Sharkey's two-day rest from training was apparently just what he needed for this afternoon in Gus Wilson's indoor arena the former sailor was witnessed in one of his best glove exhibitions—for two rounds.

The third session found him warmed to his task and sparmate Johnny Grosso absorbed something of a severe beating about the head and body. Hard left hooks found their mark on Grosso's head frequently and once or twice Sharkey was compelled to relinquish the attack.

Sharkey Hits Beam At 201 Pounds.

Sharkey also performed four sessions of floor exercises. He weighed 203 before going through his stunts and a bit over the 201 mark when activities for the day were over. He will be seen swinging through the strenuous period of his grind probably this week and will soon begin to taper down to the desired 196 mark.

Sharkey's first two rounds in the ring today against Johnny Grosso and King Solomon, who alternated, saw the American champion employing all the boxing ability at his command. The result was that his mates were unable to land a solid blow.

Paulino Meets Risko At Detroit June 19

Detroit, May 28 (A.P.).—Paulino Uscudun and Johnny Risko have been matched for a bout at Olympia Stadium on June 19.

Announcement that articles have been signed and that the date had been awarded to Olympia was made today by James E. (Bingo) Brown, chairman of the State boxing commission.

Seibold Hurls Braves To Victory Over Phils

Braves Field, Boston, Mass., May 28 (A.P.).—Harry Seibold held the whip hand over the Phillies this afternoon in the thrice-postponed first game of the series with the Braves, and Boston won, 5 to 1. The visitors made six hits and it was Seibold's seventh win of the season as against two losses. Walter Berger made his eleventh homer of the season off Phil Collins in the sixth.

Killefer Fines Catcher $50 for "Dumb Play"

St. Louis, May 28 (A.P.).—Rick Ferrell, catcher for the St. Louis Browns, was fined $50 today by Manager Bill Killefer for what the manager termed a "dumb play" in yesterday's game with the Detroit Tigers. It was the seventh inning, the Tigers were at bat and runners were on first and second when Sorrell, Tiger pitcher, bunted. The ball rolled outside the foul line and then back into fair territory. Ferrell picked it up in time, Killefer said, to force a runner at third, but instead stood there holding the ball until all three runners were safe.

Killefer said he expects to fine all players for "dumb plays," in the future.

Young British Girl Extends Mrs. Moody

By THOMAS T. TOPPING.

AUTEUIL, France, May 28 (A.P.).—The capture of the mixed doubles championship by Bill Tilden and his young German partner, Cecilie B. Aussem, and the stubborn opposition encountered by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody on her way to the fourth round in singles featured the French hard court tennis tournament today.

Tilden and Fraulein Aussem dethroned the defending champions, Henri Cochet, of France and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, of England, in straight sets, 6—4, 6—4, in a somewhat tame and disappointing final match. Mrs. Moody was forced to produce her best game to defeat a courageous English girl, Phyllis Mudford, 6—2, 6—4.

The Moody-Mudford match just about stole the show as it produced the unusual spectacle of a comparatively obscure youngster holding her own in driving with the world's champion and handling Queen Helen's powerful service with deftness and dispatch.

English Girl Opens Attack.

Miss Mudford displayed not the slightest trace of stage fright at being pitted against the French, English and American titleholder. She began to attack the moment the match began with the result that Helen was on the defensive a good share of the time. Many of Mrs. Moody's points, especially in the second set, were earned through wider tournament experience and finesse.

Called the Sarah Palfrey of England because of her swift rise to tennis heights in the last year, Miss Mudford was not averse to exchanging fast ones with the greatest feminine driver in the game. She fared so well at this that the gallery witnessed the unusual sight of Queen Helen shifting to a soft, lobbing game intermingled with volleying. In this manner she took the first set. The two games that Miss Mudford won, strangely enough, were breaks through Mrs. Moody's usually impregnable service.

The stocky little English girl led 2-2 and 3-2 on service in the second set only to have her more experienced adversary break through her delivery and take the lead. Mrs. Moody was driving hard now and the pace was fast and furious. The final game went to deuce seven times before the English player succumbed. Of the total of 28 games played, 25, were carried to deuce as the players battled grimly for every point.

Tilden and Cochet Careful.

What had been expected to prove a fierce struggle between Tilden and Cochet in the mixed doubles final turned out to be a carefully played match. Neither player appeared desirous of putting the cards on the table before Sunday when they are expected to meet in the singles final.

Cochet was far below his form of yesterday when his amazingly bold strokes were rewarded with the men's doubles championship.

Tilden was content to outdrive the Frenchman from the base line, gallantly refraining from centering play upon Mrs. Whittingstall, who is recuperating from a week's illness.

Big Bill won in the singles from Nicholas Mishu, of Roumania, at 6—3, 6—0, 6—2, to reach the fourth round and two other American players also won in straight sets. Helen Jacobs, who seems at last to have struck her stride, defeated Anna Payot, Swiss champion, at 6—0, 6—2, to reach the quarterfinals.

Coen Shows Form In Victory.

Wilbur Coen showed classy tennis in disposing of the left-handed Georges Glasser, who ranks among the first twenty players in France, 6—0, 6—2, 6—3. Coen's fourth-round match against Baron Humbert de Morpurgo, of Italy, should be the acid test for the Kansas City youth.

All three doubles events have been decided with the United States in possession of the biggest share of the honors. The women's doubles title went to the American combination of Mrs. Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, the men's doubles to Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, of France, and the mixed doubles to the German-American team of Fraulein Aussem and Tilden.

MAJESTICS PLAY TOMORROW.

All Majestic Radio ball players are to meet at 12th and the Avenue at noon tomorrow for the trip to Arlington where the first game of a double-header will be started promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

12,000 SEE AMERICAN CHAMPION CONQUER BRITISH TITLE HOLDER; MACKENZIE LOSES, VOIGT WINS

BOBBY JONES AND HIS VICTIM

Cyril Tolley (left), defending champion in the British amateur tournament, who was eliminated yesterday by Bobby Jones (right), in a thrilling nineteen-hole battle.

Great Crowds Hamper Two Stars in See-Saw Battle.

Jones and Johnston May Meet in Match This Afternoon.

By FRANK H. KING.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 28 (A.P.).—In a great 19-hole match with a thrilling finish, Bobby Jones today defeated Cyril Tolley, holder of the British amateur title, for which the American open champion is campaigning and the only one he needs to complete his list of major golf honors.

Jones started his hard day of golf at 8 o'clock this morning against Cowan Shankland with 500 early risers trailing, and with Tolley finished a terrific fight with crowds estimated at 10,000 to 12,000 racing after them in uncontrollable excitement.

It was a golfing crowd second only in size to the gallery which saw Jones win the open title here in 1927.

Bobby's matches were the feature of the third day of the championship, but other Americans advanced to the fifth round with him by successfully battling the winds and difficult putting conditions, although they did not have to fight the crowds.

Johnson, Von Elm, Ouimet Win 2.

Jimmy Johnston, George Von Elm and Francis Ouimet each won two matches and George Voigt the one he had to play. Roland Mackenzie, after eliminating H. L. Holden in the morning, fell before Kennith Grief, St. Andrews star, in the afternoon, reducing the Walker Cup survivors to five.

Dr. O. F. Willing, and Don Moe today saw the players who defeated them yesterday, William Spark and Rex Hartley, removed from the competition.

As for the remainder of the 30 Americans of all ranks, with the exception of Douglas Grant, who has long lived in London, they have gone the way all golfers go who cannot solve the varied and changing problems these famous old fairways and huge putting greens present.

Jones and Johnston May Clash Today.

Against the American bidders for the title the British still can muster strong opposition. Roger Wethered, for instance, seems to have found his old time form and T. A. Torrance is going strong. John Nelson Smith, William Sutton, Major C. O. Hezlet are others capable of going through.

Jones, Johnston and Voigt are in the upper half of the draw and if they win their morning matches the open and amateur champions of the United States will clash tomorrow afternoon.

Conditions of play generally continued today as perplexing as was the case yesterday with a 30-mile wind whistling directly across the fairways.

After defeating Shankland, five up and three to play, Jones, garbed in his plus fours and sweaters that he had worn in the morning match, entered on his nerve-racking clash with Tolley.

From the outset the match developed into a terrific battle with neither player ever more than one hole in the lead. The match was squared six times.

Jones' Shots Strike Crowd 4 Times.

The play was adventurous all the way with the drives scattering the crowds at many holes. Jones' shots hit spectators four times, and while he received a lucky break at the seventeenth when his ball bounded back on the green, he was equally unlucky at the ninth when his ball bounced from a spectator deep into whin bushes, completely out of sight.

Tolley's tremendous drives coming home were among the longest shots ever seen at St. Andrews.

Jones made a great putt at the seventeenth to halve the hole with birdie 4s, and Tolley made good a difficult one at the home hole to halve and carry the fight on to the nineteenth.

SCHMELING PUMMELS MATES IN 7-ROUND SESSION

Max Vicious From Bell To Bell

Admits No Liking for Favorite Foods of Fatherland.

By MAX SCHMELING
(As Told by Jimmy Powers).

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 28.—Heavenly days. And similar rascally expressions of amazement. Wotta wicked thumping in the tummy this Sharkey guy is going to get June 12. Er, ah, that is to say, if this Schmeling chap lands any of those stiff pokes he was shooting in there today. You see, Schmeling is beginning to bop these stuffed shirts pretty hard now, and this afternoon he had them leaking sawdust at the seams.

He worked seven rounds and—tch, tch—was he vicious? Why, he went berserk, he did. He leered, he grimaced, he frowned, he snarled, he clinched his teeth, he growled and he grunted his way from bell to bell, always shuffling in with those manly feet (in the factory parlance they are known by the stock-room foreman as No. 12½ Charleys, which means size 12, width C. If they were width B they would be "Bennys," &c.).

Sparring Mates Battered.

He worked three rounds with Cousin George Neron, two with Stanley Poreda and two with Jack Demave. All were considerably punched up with the exception of Poreda.

I am afraid our German clientele in New York will not like this discovery. We were having dinner with the man of destiny today. He was eating good old roast beef.

"Why don't you eat sauberbraten, weiner snitzel, apfelkuchen or kartoffensalat?" we asked him.

"Ah, das ist nicht gut," he said, and every chubby Deutsch hausfrau in New York can wave her skillet threateningly, but Unser Maxie is not loyal to the food of the fatherland.

Scorns Fatty Meats.

He scorns fatty meats, especially pork. He abhors heavy gravies. He glances askance—mind you—at desserts. He eats lean meats, fruit uicess and milk. He has been personally witnessed drinking enough milk to float a battleship—oh, well, we'll compromise on a rowboat and let it go at that.

But Unser Max is in great shape and don't let any training camp yarns on his condition mislead you. He has not drawn a deep breath since we have been here and he was as fresh as an Izzy Kaplan at the end of seven rounds here this afternoon.

Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Churchill Downs Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

A SMALL field will start in the Kosmosdale Purse feature of the Churchill Downs card today. If the track remains fast SILVERDALE, which has rounded into form, should win over ROYAL JULIAN. SILVERDALE in his last start showed the best form he has exhibited this season, and he has more early speed for mile test, and will concede three pounds to the contender. The race appears confined to these two, in a large measure, both on class and recent racing. PLUMBAGO is better than the others.

FIRST RACE—BIG SANDY seems best of the platers in the opener, which is a mile and a sixteenth. JUDGE MURPHY should be close to the face, but it is somewhat beyond his distance. St. Ignatius may get the show money. The field is large and there is little preference outside the top horses.

SECOND RACE—Maiden 2-year-old fillies will start in this race. SUGAR KISS has shown speed, and doubtless will be the favorite. She has had racing experience and is well bred. TRANSGRESSION is rated next, with JEAN D for third money, on the idea that the Greentree Stable's TAVY will not start.

THIRD RACE—ON THE AIR is selected to defeat the consistent PERCENTAGE in the third race. PERCENTAGE has had so much racing that he appears to have stalled. ON THE AIR has been brought to his best form. OLD TIMES is dangerous to both, and has much early speed.

FOURTH RACE—ANTE BELLUM should take the fourth. This gelding was conditioned for the Derby, horses to beat than in her last race, and started in Maryland, and in this race has been thrown in with horses below the class of the previous company he has run with. He was not cut out for a Derby horse, but surely can beat the ordinary field that will compete in this 6½-furlong purse. BETTIE ANN is probably best of the others. Her last race showed she was fit. VOLDOSOTA is tabbed for third money. ONE LONG HOP may prove troublesome.

SIXTH RACE—RUNNING GIRL should win right back in the sixth race for 2-year-old fillies, called the Jonquil Purse. She has no better PLUMAGE can run, and will be the contender. PURPLE LADY should take the show money.

SEVENTH RACE—Finding a winner in the last race, the largest field of the program, and claiming horses, is difficult. NANCY SETH looks best, but has a dangerous rival in MARY'S TOY, winner last out. LADY CLARENCE seldom wins, but usually runs close up. The race is for fillies and mares.

JACK HIGH, George D. Widener's star, which Saturday set a new world's record on a circular track for a mile, going the distance in 1:35, has been entered for the famous Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park on Memorial Day with 122 pounds, at a mile and a quarter. The John P. Grier colt will be favorite.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ZETA, $16.54, $6.04, $3.18; MY HOBBY, $6.46, $3.20; MOSCOW, $3.06.

ZETA was taken to the front right after the start and, lucky to get through, opened a good lead and, holding off MY HOBBY at head of stretch, won easily. MY HOBBY, away well, displayed good speed throughout and lasted to hold MOSCOW safe in a mild drive. Latter was forced wide in early stages and again on the turn, closed gamely in last eighth.

SECOND RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds, maidens, colts and geldings. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:33½. Off at 2:35. Winner, J. N. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TWILL, $4.12, $3.30, $2.24; BURNAM, $7.22, $3.38; WEST VIRGINIA, $3.06.

TWILL, under clever handling, assumed the lead rounding into stretch, was taken to the inside and, responding with a rush, was drawing out at the end. BURNAM, badly outrun to the final three sixteenths, moved up stoutly, closed with unusual courage and was up to take the place in a drive. WEST VIRGINIA, in close racing quarters first part, and much used after finding clear going, weakened in final drive.

THIRD RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:59½. Off at 3:00. Winner, C. C. and G. Y. Hieatt's b. f. (4), by Playfellow—Starlight Dance. Trained by A. D. Steele. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:25, 0:49 3-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:39 3-5, 2:05 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLORHI, $15.06; $5.72, $6.50; TOMMY TICKLE, $3.72, $2.82; RAY RUDDY, $7.08.

FLORHI, away well, followed TOMMY TICKLE under steadying restraint, moved up going into backstretch, bearing stretch turn and, getting on even terms with pacemaker midway of stretch, drew away to win easily. TOMMY TICKLE was taken into a long lead first quarter, held his opposition safe until the stretch where he faltered in final drive.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:35. Off at 3:36½. Winner, B. O. Hickman's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIRY RING, $50.70, $16.58, $9.50; AGITATOR, $4.28, $2.86; NETTIE PEBBLES, $4.76.

FAIRY RING, away well and displaying good speed while saving ground, drew out to a long lead at head of stretch but, tiring in the drive, just lasted to hold AGITATOR safe. Latter, in close quarters first three furlongs and forced slightly wide into the stretch, came with a good burst of speed when straightened out and was rapidly getting to winner near the end.

FIFTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:55. Winner, J. W. Parrish's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—STOCK MARKET, $9.92, $4.08, $2.54; THE SOUTHERNER, $2.98, $2.28; HERRICK, $2.76.

STOCK MARKET, outpaced to the turn, came strongly when straightened and, taking lead a sixteenth out, began drawing clear. THE SOUTHERNER saved ground to the turn where, meeting with slight interference, came out, but could not withstand winner's bid. HERRICK set the pace under pressure, relinquished it momentarily on the turn and again taking the lead when UNCLE MATT went out, weakened badly in the final drive.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:23. Off at 4:26½. Winner, Furst and Baer's b. g. (4), by Sir Martin—Adore. Trained by J. M. Hukill. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 1-5, 1:14 4-5, 1:41, 1:48.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOODMAN, $16.26, $8.04, $4.58; MAYOR WALKER, $43.74, $12.84; ROYAL SON, $3.78.

GOODMAN, away slowly and in tight racing quarters to the far turn, worked his way through on the rail when clear rounding stretch turn and, continuing gamely under punishment, was up in final drive to win with something in reserve. MAYOR WALKER, always nearest to the pace saved ground under pressure and, holding on determinedly in the drive, outlasted ROYAL SON. Latter raced on the outside where, taking slight lead, held on to the final sixteenth where he weakened badly.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:53. Off at 4:56. Winner, Harned Bros.' ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CONGO II, $18.20, $7.52, $8.52; CHATTERBLACK, $3.90, $3.34; SPOTLIGHT, $3.88.

CONGO II, slow to get going, moved up steadily on outside on far turn and, racing strongly through stretch under hard urging, gradually wore CHATTERBLACK down. Latter saved ground to stretch where, racing in close quarters, tired in final strides.

Western Club Bows, 13-4, In Finale

Eastern Never Headed as Noonan Scatters 11 Hits.

Guyon's Nine Finishes 3d Straight Series Undefeated.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, Jr.

WHEN Jimmy Thompson, Western High School left fielder, tried to steal second base in the ninth inning yesterday, with that bag already occupied by Quincy Owens, who was forced off and tagged for the third out, giving Eastern its fourth straight victory of the series, 13 to 4, the 1930 interhigh baseball season was brought to a fitting close.

That the final game should end in such a manner was only appropriate, considering the set of games which have produced everything but good baseball. In the light of the ten contests, Thompson's boner can be considered no heinous offense, the Red and White player having been given plenty of examples of how "not to do things" in the baseball world for the past four weeks.

Eastern Shows Another Pitcher.

In annexing its twelfth straight interhigh victory to keep its championship record spotless for the last three years, Eastern illustrated that it was not forced to depend upon the man who was considered its only dependable pitcher.

Instead of sending Dick Lanahan, acknowledged ace of the pitching staff, to the mound, "Chief" Guyon placed his trust in the right arm of Bill Noonan, and the big lad came through nobly. While hit rather freely throughout the game, Noonan was in trouble but two innings, when Western bunched its four runs. For the other seven innings the big boy was unscored upon and allowed Lanahan to rest again when it appeared that he might have to warm up.

Bob Snyder, outstanding catcher of the series, was the batting star of the game, lining out a home run, double and two singles. Ben McCullough and Bernie Smith also smacked round-trip blows.

Two Double Steals Registered.

Double steals, performed by each team in exactly the same manner, provided the only fine points of the game. In the first inning Calevas, of Eastern, drew a throw to second, which was caught off by Shortstop Bob Freeman, but before he could return the ball to the plate Snyder had stolen home. In the fourth Western turned the tables, when Oliver scored after Taylor had made Catcher Snyder throw to second, Shortstop Danny Kessler being just too slow to flag Oliver at the plate.

3 Youths Annex Pole Position at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, May 28 (A.P.).—Three young men from Flora, Ill., will have the pole position outside the Indianapolis Motor Speedway when the gates are opened for the 500-mile race Friday morning. The youths arrived some time during the night in an ancient sedan and parked as close as possible to the main entrance.

The three early birds were Ed Workman, Robert Hargis and Delbert de Busk. They claimed they were first last year and also in 1927. They have before them a vigil that will last until 6 a. m., Friday, the hour when the gates will be opened.

NATS TO GO WEST WITH CONFIDENCE

dium, where they won seven games while losing six.

As the players themselves figure things out, they are not afraid of the Indians, being confident that the Nats have the better team, while they rate the Yankees as having more of a punch than the Mackmen. While giving the latter the pitching edge on paper, they point out that Connie Mack is making the same mistake handling his flingers this season that he made in 1925.

Mack Heaped Work on Starting Pitchers.

During this latter year, it will be remembered, the Mackmen had a fairly substantial lead over the Nationals. Their pitching staff was pretty well shot because Mack insisted on using his flingers as starters one day and as relief men the next. Instead of losing four or five games by using some of his rookies while his worn out regulars were getting freshened up, he persisted in piling more work on his regulars, the result being 12 losses in a row and 19 out of 21 with the Nationals, the latter, meanwhile, stepping out and winning their second championship.

Connie Mack apparently has not learned a lesson from this for he is doing the same thing this season and, if he continues, he probably will "manage" his team out of the race, which won't hurt the feelings of the Nats and Yankees any.

The secret of Joe Judge's hitting power of the last two games has leaked out. In Monday's game he broke his pet bat and there was considerable moaning and gnashing of teeth. However, he discovered another to his liking, poling out two home runs with it and continuing yesterday with a triple, two doubles and a single. In order that nothing happens to this one, Joe takes it to bed with him at night.

With seven straight victories to their credit, should the Nats make a series clean-up here tomorrow, they will equal their winning streak of earlier in the season.

PEEWEE LINKS OPEN.

With special sand greens that are green in color, the Peewee miniature course, 2436 Georgia avenue northwest, will be opened tonight at 6 o'clock. Like most of the other miniature courses, it has eighteen small holes that demand sharp putting. The owners of the course plan to have tournaments and will offer worth-while prizes.

PLAY UNION PRINTERS.

The Capitol Heights Junior Order will play the Union Printers Sunday at 3 o'clock. Harold Gates will be on the pitching mound.

Georgetown, Maryland Games Are Rained Out

Rain caused cancellation of Georgetown's baseball game with Army at West Point yesterday, it being the third successive day of idleness for the Hilltop Nine. Today Georgetown is scheduled to play New York University in New York City.

Maryland's final game of the season scheduled yesterday with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia was called off due to inclement weather.

Dyre Elected President of Masonic League

William Dyre, of the Takoma Lodge, was elected president of the Masonic Bowling League for the 1930-31 season last night at a meeting at Convention Hall, at which time it was announced that 42 teams, the largest number in the league's history, were expected to enter next year.

Carl Heinzman, of Congress Lodge, was elected vice president; Arville Ebersole, of Albert Pike, was elected secretary-treasurer for the eighth consecutive time and Ray Cross, of Hope, was chosen official scorer and publicity man for the fifth time. The teams will again bowl at Convention Hall.

Shamrock V Beaten In 34-Mile Contest

Ryde, England, May 28 (A.P.).—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V suffered her first defeat today in a race over 34 sea miles, the Lulworth finishing 26 seconds ahead of the America's Cup challenger. This was the first race in which the Shamrock had started against bigger boats without the advantage of a time allowance.

APPLAUSE OF FANS HEARTENS SHARKEY

emerge so long as he was champion.

But such an intellectual young man should have realized that the customer is not capable of discrimination or reason in his moments of excitement and should have drawn upon his knowledge of the show business for comfort when the patrons turned against him, and Sharkey, who is certainly no novice now, must also know that there are men who can deliver an ovation or a denunciation for a few hundred dollars, cash in hand.

Jack Dempsey was no less eager for the friendship of the crowd than any of his contemporaries, but when the crowd in the Garden bored him with sudden, bitter wrath one night, he did not sulk because he understood. That night the same crowd almost split the roof cheering for Harry Wills, the negro, and Dempsey, sitting in his chair near the ring, quickly realized that some one had sounded the pitch for both demonstrations.

Made-to-Order Applause Is Explained.

Mike Jacobs, the ticket broker, explained it all some time later. In his youth Mr. Jacobs toured the country for a big New York theatrical firm, stimulating applause for dramas, and this early experience gave him a cynical opinion of the intelligence of crowds. His system was to plant a few assistants, bribed with tickets, in the galleries of the theater, and to pat his palms together at moments which he thought appropriate as a cue for his confederates.

"Give me ten or fifteen guys planted in the Garden to cheer or boo when I tell them to and I will carry the whole house for anybody any time I want to," Mr. Jacobs said. "But I didn't handle that Dempsey-Wills job. Lew Raymond did that. He had a piece of Wills. It was a very good job, though."

One sees similar mechanics in the national political conventions, where the delegates and the spectators sit eager and expectant for the cue line in the orator's nominating address, waiting for the final "man than whom" to break out their rattles and horns, yank up their standards and be on their way in great demonstrations of sound and devotion as spontaneous as the pyramids and as honest as a billboard testimonial. It seems an unreliable test of a statesman's fitness. Mr. Sharkey probably exaggerated the importance of the cheering. That young man would be a sucker for a 40-piece band.

Entries for Legion Baseball Series Will Close Tonight

TEAM entries and player contracts for the District American Legion baseball championship series, which is scheduled to start June 8, must be filed before midnight tonight, it was announced last night by Wessal Stewart, athletic officer of the District department and director of the diamond series.

All rules and regulations have been carefully set down and a successful race is in prospect, the series director stated. Six, and possibly more teams are expected to file entries, player contracts and franchise fees today and tonight.

George Washington Post, sponsor of the championship team of last season, will sponsor the former Eastern A. A. and present King's Palace Midget Nine. Thomas Suter, who coached the winning team of 1929, will direct the Sergt. Jasper Post Nine. J. P. Koener will again direct his Lionel Midgets under the colors of Lincoln Post.

Spengler and Victory Posts, both of which sponsored strong teams last season, will again be represented. Nash Post, which was not represented last year, will have a contender in the field. The Delaney and Forty and Eight Posts, which fostered teams last season, are not expected to have entries in the impending race. Quentin Roosevelt Post, which had planned to enter a team, is not expected to be represented.

Entries should be filed with R. J. Atkinson, secretary, in the Sports Department of The Washington Post. Contracts may be obtained at District department headquarters of the American Legion.

TEMPLE NINE BEATS NAVY BY 13-5

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 28.—Naval Academy tossers were rather erratic today and their own misplays, aided Temple University Team to defeat them, 13 to 5. The defeat was only the third of the season for the Midshipmen. Temple proved a stronger combination than expected.

While Navy errors of judgment and commission were frequent, Temple stung the ball hard, yet up to the sixth inning, when Wearshing, of the visitors, hit a long home run to right with the bases filled, the game had been nip and tuck. That circuit clout, the first of the season here with three on, appeared to take the heart out of the locals, and it also marked the finish of "Thug" Bauer, the second of four Navy right-handers to be called to the mound by Coach Kid Mohler in an effort to stem the onslaught by the Pennsylvanians.

Englehart began hurling for Navy, and while he was touched up for two hits, the final a triple by Young in the third, sending Rambone over with the third run, he walked Bonner and hit Godfrey. Godfrey greeted Bauer's first pitch for a long sacrifice play to right, scoring Young.

Bauer in Continual Hot Water.

Bauer was in continual hot water, but Navy hung on and at the end of the fifth the count was 4 to 4. Navy had bunched nine hits in the first four innings to gather a quartet of runs. Snappy fielding on Temple's part, however, kept the Middies' score down. In the sixth Bauer went to pieces. One run had been shoved over, and singles by Dougat and Rambone, an error of judgment on Bauer's part in handling Leaness' tap, filled the paths, when Wearshing, who it is reported is sought by the New York Yankees, uncorked his Ruthian clout. At this stage Schultz relieved Bauer and ended the rally.

Given this lead, Joe Dougat, who twirled the full route for Temple, settled down and was given steady and at times flashy support. In the last five innings he allowed Navy but two hits after being hit hard at the outset.

The visitors filled the bases on Schultz in the seventh, but could not score. In the eighth they got to him for three runs.

Stomach Ailment Is Fatal to Veteran in Hotel Room.

CHICAGO, May 28 (A.P.).—Pennant hopes of the Cubs, already staggered by a series of injuries to several of their outstanding stars, received perhaps a knockout shock today with the sudden death of Hal Carlson, one of the veteran mainstays of the pitching staff.

Death overtook the Cub pitching ace at 3:35 a. m. today at his apartment in a Northside hotel. He arose shortly after 2 a. m. after a sleepless night, called in his teammates, Riggs Stephenson, Kiki Cuyler and Cliff Heathcote, but died shortly after the Cub physician, Dr. John F. Davis, arrived.

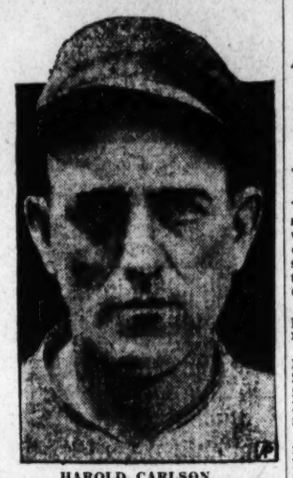
Dr. Davis said death was caused by hemorrhage of the stomach. Carlson had been suffering from ulcers of the stomach for two years and often predicted just such a sudden death as overtook him this morning. He was 36 years old, married and the father of a three-year-old child. His home was in Rockford, Ill.

Game Postponed Out of Respect.

The Cincinnati-Chicago game, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed in respect for the veteran ball player.

Carlson was one of the few members of the Cub pitching staff to cause any comfort to Manager Joe McCarthy this season. A veteran of many campaigns, he possessed remarkable control and a good change of pace that not only won many games for the champions, but saved almost as many in the relief role. His career was blighted by an oversight during the World War, when it was decided to eliminate the "spitball" pitchers. He came to the Cubs three years ago from the Phillies for $30,000 and two players, Kaufman and Cooney.

Carlson's death was mirrored in sadness over the Cub camp not only because of the shock to the Cubs' pennant hopes, but because he was regarded highly personally. Owner William Wrigley, Jr., President William Veeck and Manager McCarthy all lauded him, both as a pitcher and as a splendid personality.



HAROLD CARLSON.

Climaxes Series of Blows to Cubs.

Carlson's death climaxes a series of blows to Cub pennant hopes. Not once during the season have the champions been able to put on a solid front. Rogers Hornsby is still handicapped by his sore right heel, and, while he is playing, he may be jerked any day for a long rest. The extent of his injury is mystifying and only last night he remarked that the average fan knew about as much about it as he did. Riggs Stephenson, hard-hitting outfielder, who has been out of the game most of the season, is playing under the handicap of a bad shoulder, and he, too, may be forced to the bench again. Third Baseman Lester Bell, purchased last winter in an attempt to plug up the weak spot of the line-up, is out again with his sore arm, while Guy Bush, one of the pitching aces of the Heydler circuit last year, is far from his usual form. Bush is underweight and probably will not come close to his 1929 record.

Favorites Extended to Win In City Tennis Tournament

THE City of Washington tennis championships passed the third day on the Rock Creek courts yesterday an dstil couldn't show more than a mild upset. The seeded players in both men's and women's singles survived and everything went off according to predictions of the form sharks.

Old Man Upset was hovering over the scene, however, but when Dooly Mitchell, seeded No. 1, finally overcame the determined young Harry Ritzenberg in a marathon two-set match of 38 games, the old man found himself quite out of place and slunk away muttering threats of later visits. Mitchell's winning scores were 7—5, 14—12.

If there are going to be any surprising reversals in this tournament, today may bring them, for four of the seeded group will perform against sapiring lesser lights. Bob Cosidine, whose chances to win the title are rated near the top, will be opposed by John Purinton in the probable feature of the men's singles card. This will be the last match of the day in this division, starting at 5 o'clock, one hour following the other trio of contests in which Colin Stam will play Douglas Love, Deane Judd will engage William Buchanan and Alan Staubley will encounter S. Utak Dan, the mystery man of the tournament.

In addition to these matches today, there will be six men's doubles affairs and four first round matches in the women's doubles division. Frances Walker and Phoebe Moorehead, seeded No. 1, have drawn a bye and will not play today.

While Mitchell was meeting hard opposition from Ritzenberg yesterday, Staubley was having a difficult time of it against Stanley Haney. Staubley staged a fine rally in the third set to win, however. The scores were 6—3, 4—6, 6—2.

Frank Shore, District junior champion, another of the seeded stars, advanced to the fifth round at the expense of Charles R. Allen.

Tom Mangan, defending champion, also went forward, defeating Hugh Trigg rather easily by 6—2, 6—1. This placed Mangan in the fifth round along with Shore, Mitchell and Maurice O'Neill, who defeated Pat Deck, 8—6, 6—4.

Mrs. Ruth Martinez and Josephine Dunham, seeded No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, reached the semifinals in women's singles by eliminating Dorothy Kingsbury and Marion King. Frances Walker and Margaret Graham also went to the semifinals by downing Mary Ryan and Alice Rose, respectively. The semifinals will be held tomorrow morning, starting at 10 o'clock.

Pairings for mixed doubles will be announced in tomorrow morning's newspapers.

Yesterday's results and today's schedule follow:

MEN'S SINGLES.

THIRD ROUND—Colin Stam defeated Bob Newby, 6—2, 6—2; Alan Staubley defeated Stanley Haney, 6—3, 4—6, 6—2; S. Utak Dan defeated Fred Suttenfield, 6—2, 8—6.

Douglas Love defeated Murray Gould, 8—6, 4—6, 6—3; William Buchanan defeated Bob Burwell, 10—8, 6—3.

FOURTH ROUND—Maurice O'Neill defeated Pat Deck, 8—6, 6—4; Tom Mangan defeated Hugh Trigg, 6—2, 6—1.

Dooly Mitchell defeated Harry Ritzenberg, 7—5, 14—12; Frank Shore defeated Charles R. Allen, 6—2, 6—4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

SECOND ROUND—Josephine Dunham defeated Marion King, 6—2, 6—3; Mrs. Ruth Martinez defeated Dorothy Kingsburry, 7—5, 6—2; Frances Walker defeated Mary Ryan, 6—3, 6—3.

Margaret Graham defeated Alice Rose, 6—2, 6—4.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

CHEVY CHASE NET CHAMP ADVANCES

Lambert Eliminated by Irwin in First Round, 6-1, 6-1.

HARRY IRWIN, defending champion in the Chevy Chase Club championship tennis tournament, advanced to the second round without trouble yesterday, when he defeated A. G. Lambert in two straight sets, 6—1, 6—1, in the continuation of the tournament on the Chevy Chase Club courts.

It was the only first-round match played in the men's class, five second round affairs being completed.

The defending women's champion, Mrs. C. F. Norment, also succeeded in her first-round match, eliminating Margaret Bouve in two love sets. Eight of the women's first-round matches were finished.

The results:

Mike Gibbons Throws Hat in Political Ring

St. Paul, Minn., May 28 (A.P.).—Mike Gibbons, once the "phantom" of the middleweight boxing ranks, is training today for another fight, this time in the political arena. Gibbons "weighed in" by filing for Ramsey County sheriff, one of nine candidates for the office.

JONES BEATS TOLLEY IN 19-HOLE MATCH

the green was off line to the right, while Jones' ball stopped 30 feet from the cup. Tolley was short with his approach putt, leaving himself a 7-footer for a four and, as he said after the match, leaving himself in position to be stymied. Jones sent his approach putt within 15 inches of the cup and at the same time closed the door to Tolley with a dead stymie. Tolley's attempt to jump his opponent's ball failed and he stepped over to Jones with hand outstretched in congratulation.

Roland Mackenzie fell before a player who knows all the kinks of the St. Andrews course, rain or shine, gusty or calm. Grieg was out in 36 strokes, which indicates his mastery of the situation today. Mackenzie has not been pleased with his practice rounds at St. Andrews and has been a severe critic of the golfing landmark as a championship course.

The field tonight was reduced to 32, and tomorrow night there will be but eight. Two rounds of Friday's play will result in naming the two survivors who will fight out the final over 36 holes Saturday.

SKINKERS VS. SAKS.

The Skinker Eagles will meet the Saks Co. Nine tomorrow on Friendship field at 3 o'clock.

How to Keep Well

THE NATURE OF JAKE PARALYSIS.

IT is said there are 10,000 cases of jake paralysis in the United States, all having developed since the 1st of March. If there are only one-tenth as many—and that would be an understatement—the disorder is one of considerable public health and economic importance. Not one-tenth of those who have it will make a crop this year or will materially contribute to the support of their families before next Christmas. While none will die, they will have to be supported by their relatives or by the country for six or twelve months.

The history of a case of jake paralysis is about as follows: About two weeks after drinking from two to six ounces of jake the symptoms appear. Jake is a mixture of alcohol, water, pepper and some coloring matter. The alcohol used is probably the denatured product. It is not wood alcohol. The two-week interval is spent in ordinary comfort. The first symptoms is pains in the calf of the legs. About a day later weakness in the feet is noticed. The paralysis centers in the front of the foot and in the muscles which lift the toes. A good name for it is "toe drop."

The gait is determined by the inability to raise the toes off the ground. The pain in the feet and other disturbances of sensation there are of minor importance, though an intelligent patient describes minor feelings in the feet which a careful physician recognizes as due to neuritis. The loss of muscle power in the legs extends sometimes to those muscles which move the knees.

In the arms the trouble does not extend above the elbows and it is almost limited to the hands. The principal involvement is in the thumb muscles. There is no involvement of the eyes or of the optic nerve. Nothing suggests encephalitis.

It is plain that jake paralysis is a toxic neuritis, involving especially certain nerves in the lower leg and lower arm, and followed by considerable muscle atrophy. None of those who have it should die from the disease. Recovery can be expected, though it will be slow and it may be incomplete.

Treatment by medicine will do very little good. The poison in the liquid, except that which was quickly absorbed by the sick nerves, was all eliminated days before any symptoms appeared. That absorbed by the sick nerves can not be eliminated. The kind of treatment which will help is proper use of sick muscles and nerves. Unless they are used they will waste. They are very weak and if they are used too much they will suffer permanently. The effort should be to decide just how much use, how much massage, how much passive motion each group of muscles needs and to see that it gets it and, even more important, that it gets no more. Treatment of jake paralysis along these lines is worth while. Other treatment is not.

ALTITUDE A FACTOR.

Mrs. M. O. writes: I have been suffering all winter long from hot flashes. The blood rushes to my face every so often. I am 54 years of age. The altitude here is 3,000 feet.

REPLY.

The treatment consists in using ovarian extract properly. Altitude is a factor, but you can be relieved wherever you are.

STOCK SALES RULED BY IRREGULAR TREND

RAILS CONTINUE TO SAG

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—Returns from the security and commodity markets were generally colorless and indecisive today. Professional stock traders made valiant efforts to swing the list one way or the other and only succeeded in making it irregular. Bonds were dull, despite another easing in time money. Grain prices fluctuated narrowly.

The share market was lagging in normal preholiday fashion until the last hour. In that interval bullish pool operations in a few issues drew out covering elsewhere and sales during the last 80 minutes accounted for 25 per cent of the day's total business, which was 2,405,350 shares. The prominent stocks, with the exception of the rails and related issues, closed higher. There were several new highs for the year, but a larger number of new lows.

Wall street has become accustomed to unfavorable news and paid little attention to the announcement that steel operations had declined to 73½ per cent of capacity, against 75 per cent last week and 76 per cent two weeks ago. The fact that U. S. Steel was being maintained at recent levels drew some encouraging comment, and there was also a ray of good cheer in the weekly trade reviews. Iron Age said that although demand and prices continued to sag, there was a noticeable improvement in some lines, especially pipe and reinforcing bars. The survey also called attention to the prospect that the present rate of automobile production would be maintained and to the sustained activity among shipbuilders and road machinery manufacturers.

Rail Equipment Shares Soft.

There was no relief from the series of poor railroad earnings statements. The first 70 carriers reporting April operating income showed a decrease of 33 per cent over the same month a year ago, although this figure represented an improvement from the March comparison. Liquidation of the railroad stocks continued, with Southern Railway, Atchison, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern preferred, Reading and New York Central selling down 1 to 5 points. Part of the losses were recovered in some instances. Rail equipment shares were conspicuously soft. Pullman and New York Airbrake made new lows. General American Tank Car joined the decline on large offerings.

Utilities featured the morning trading and American & Foreign Power, Detroit Edison, North American, Standard Gas & Electric and Stone & Webster carried through gains of 1 to nearly 5 points. The group yielded place to the petroleum and food shares in subsequent hours, the former responding to the signs of improvement in the industry. Standard Oil of New Jersey was the leader and crossed 80, showing a net gain of 1¾. Buying in the food division, which has profited by the low prices of staples, carried National Biscuit, United Biscuit common and preferred, Coca Cola "A" and the Hershey Chocolate issues to new highs for the year. Park & Tilford was also strong.

U. S. Steel, which sells ex-dividend tomorrow, did well and reached 175. It, as well as General Electric and Westinghouse Electric, rose a point on the day, while American Can, Continental Can, Vanadium, Radio, International Harvester, Eastman Kodak, Fox Film and J. I. Case improved somewhat more. American Rolling Mill and Lambert went to new lows, but were supported by short covering. Great Western Sugar made a new low on the dividend reduction.

Credit Situation Favorable.

The credit situation was decidedly favorable. Time money rates, pared a quarter of a per cent in the short maturity, are now at the lowest levels in about ten years. There was a contraction in the supply of funds available in the outside call market at 2½ per cent, but otherwise there was no indication that both the month-end and a holiday, with their heavy monetary requirements, were at hand.

The decline in bar silver persisted, carrying the quotation down to the lowest since 1883. In consequence far Eastern exchanges softened again, but European rates firmed.

Wheat was up ½ to ⅞ of a cent at the close on reports of dry weather in Canada and a frost forecast in Illinois. Corn was an eighth higher to an eighth lower, while cotton was equally quiet, net unchanged to 9 points higher. Sugar was dull.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet again today. The undertone was steady on covering or scattered buying promoted by some of the unfavorable features in weekly reviews of the crop situation and an apparent scarcity of contracts. Advances of some 6 to 14 points met considerable realizing. After selling up to 14.87, the new October contract closed at 14.82. The general market closed steady, net unchanged to 9 points higher, with July relatively easy.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points. Relatively easy Liverpool cables evidently failed to stimulate selling. There was some buying on unfavorable private crop reports. These referred largely to the effects of recent excessive rains in Western and Central belt sections and complaints of recent low temperatures. The weekly report of the Weather Bureau also proved to be rather less favorable than expected with the advance extending to 16.17 for July and 14.93 for the new December contract during the middle of the day, making net advances of about 6 to 14 points on the more active positions. The demand then tapered off and there were moderate setbacks under realizing, but the offerings were light and the close showed net advances of 4 to 9 points on the more active new crop positions.

The detailed weather reports for the day were called generally favorable over the greater part of the belt with temperatures higher than they were earlier in the week, but the outlook for showers in the Southwest was considered generally unfavorable although some moisture is supposed to be needed in northwest Texas.

One private report today said this season was about 4 to 5 days later than normal and that, on the whole, dry warm weather is needed. Liverpool cables reported an inactive market there with scattered liquidation absorbed by trade calling. Moderate sales of cotton cloths were reported in Manchester to the home trade and South America. Yarn sales were said to be running below the limited output.

Port receipts today, 10,230; United States port stocks, 1,726,112; exports 4,800 making 6,451,451, so far this season.

BONDS VARY LITTLE IN QUIET TURNOVER

Prime Issues Hold Steady, While Other Groups Are Depressed.

U. S. LIST PROVES FIRM

New York, May 28 (A.P.).—Not even further easing of time money rates, already close to lowest levels, aroused the bond market from its lethargy today. The day's trading in listed bonds cut a ragged pattern, and the net results left the price levels unchanged.

The activity of the bond market has been particularly disappointing this week. It started dull and irregular with the smallest volume of the year, and the last two days have not added strength to the tone. Here and there prices have improved, but generally narrow. That was true today when prime bonds held firm, while others were depressed. Stock privilege issues gave a mediocre performance.

Money rates are now at the lowest point in a decade. Call money has continued for a prolonged period at 3 per cent, and time loan rates are being gradually pared. Today the short maturities were cut.

Liquidation of a substantial block of American Metals 5½s drove the price down 1⅞ points to a new 1930 low. Colorado Fuel & Iron 5s touched a new high for the year on a 2 point rise. Pathe Exchange warrant 7s continued down grade, losing more than four points. Yesterday the bonds lost 6½ points.

United States Governments showed quiet strength with Treasury issues most in demand. Treasury 4¼s advanced 6-32ds, and Liberty 1st 4¼s rose 7-32ds to make the greatest improvement.

Foreign bonds ruled steady. Chile Republic 6s, of '61, lost 1⅞ points and Japan Government 5½s eased on extensive trading. German Governments and industrials were steady to firm, reflecting the stimulus to buying of these issues given by the approach of the German annuity issue. Unconfirmable reports today indicated the $85,000,000 American Portion may be out Monday, priced at 91.

CAPITAL TRACTION'S NET INCOME DROPS

BANKERS LAUD WALLER

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Business recessions were shown in the April statement of operations of the Capital Traction Co., filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia. Net income of the company for last month was $97,905.65, a decrease of $10,775.50 from the month a year ago when it totaled $108,681.15.

For the first four months of the present year net income of the company amounted to $374,281.66 which is showing a decline of $43,104.65 from the corresponding period in 1929. Then it registered $417,386.30.

Framed resolutions expressing the appreciation of the District of Columbia Bankers Association for the excellent service rendered it by President Wilmer J. Waller during his administration, which ends next week, were offered yesterday to the retiring chief executive at the weekly luncheon meeting of the association at the Willard Hotel. The resolutions were presented to President Waller by Vice President C. H. Pope, of the Munsey Trust Co., secretary of the association.

President's Experience Stressed.

The resolutions referred especially to the mature experience which he had brought to bear on the association's affairs during the past twelve months, the amount of time he has devoted to its work and the able guidance he displayed in the furtherance of the association's welfare. The resolutions were signed by 46 local bankers.

A nominating committee appointed by the executive council of the safe deposit section, District of Columbia Bankers Association, has nominated the following members, five of whom are to be elected to the council for the next administrative year: Hans W. Ireland, American Security & Trust Co., Miss Mary J. Pearce, Columbia National Bank; Earle M. Amick, Riggs National Bank; Charles W. Hass, Union Trust Co.; William H. Schofield, Commercial National Bank; F. E. Miller, Federal-American National Bank; Albert V. Pohl, Anacostia Bank; Eugene F. Marks, Merchants Bank & Trust Co.; Joseph D. Yerkes, Federal-American National Bank; William Ashdown, Northeast Savings Bank; George L. Walden, Washington Savings Bank. The election will be held at the annual convention of the association at Asheville next week, should a quorum of the section be present; if not, at a later meeting.

Nominating Committee Members.

Members of the nominating committee are Arthur P. Miller, Liberty National Bank, chairman, Eugene F. Marks, W. Clarence Miller, National Metropolitan Bank; William Ashdown and George L. Walden. Present officers and executive council of the section include Charles E. Howe, American Security & Trust Co., chairman, F. H. Cox, Commercial National Bank, vice chairman, Joseph D. Yerkes, secretary, Samuel R. Baulsir and William H. Harper.

Frank J. F. Thiel, resident partner of M. J. Meehan & Co., bankers, announced yesterday that all employes of that company, including personnel of its local office, have been voted three weeks' extra salary in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of Mr. Meehan's election to membership in the New York Stock Exchange, May 27, 1920.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the National Business Survey Conference appointed by President Hoover last November, has been elected president of General Bronze Corporation, succeeding John Polachek, founder of the company.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me why the fronds of my fern are turning black and why the roots are becoming so dry. I water it twice a week and keep it three feet away from my radiator. MRS. T. T. M.

Your fern is suffering from want of water. Better water it every other day. Keep it where it will have a great deal of light but very little sun. Be sure that it is receiving plenty of fresh air.

Inclosed please find a leaf of a plant which I prize highly. The first and second years I had the plant it flowered beautifully. Since then I have been unable to coax it into bloom. The leaves are healthy and beautiful. Each year I repot it in February and start it into bloom. Please suggest a remedy. EMME K.

The leaf was so badly wilted when it reached me that I can not definitely identify the plant. However, I imagine it is an Easter lily. If I am correct, merely plant the bulb in the garden in June and you will likely have blossoms in August or September. The Easter lily is hard to manage the second year in the house.

Please give me a list of shrubs that you think with reasonable care, might be induced to live in a shady garden. MRS. THOMAS G. T.

Regel's privet, California privet, rhododendrons and barberry will all live in a shady place.

Please tell me if you know of any way to encourage moss to grow on stones. HANNAH F. K.

The following words from a Scotch gardener may prove useful: "This method I have used on new plaster and mortar work. A very strong infusion of fresh manure was made and the stones kept always moist with it for several days during warm weather. This is generally all that is necessary to make a greenish stain to appear and eventually tiny growths cause the stone work actually to moss over. There is no reason why this method should not work on cut flagstones of any description, save that the time needed might vary with the hardness of the stone."

Please tell me if milfoil will bloom from seed the first season, also when old plants of this variety should be divided. MISS NANCY T. L.

If the seeds are sown early, the plants will bloom the first year. The large flowering clumps should be divided in either the spring or fall.

Please tell me whether Japanese anemonies require a very rich soil. MRS. GEORGE T. Y.

All anemonies like a rich, moist soil, but it must be well drained in winter. Do not forget that while the early dwarf varieties thrive in shade, the Japanese varieties require plenty of sunshine.

Please tell me the proper time to begin to mow a new lawn. ELSIE G. T.

Begin to mow your lawn whenever the blades of grass are sufficiently tall to reach between the knives of the mower.

Please tell me whether it is a good thing to top dress a city grass plot with lime and bonemeal. If so, when should this be applied? MARION T. T.

Yes, this is an excellent tonic for a grass plot. Better apply it in the early spring or in the fall.

Wives of Tomorrow

"The Zero Hour."

DEAR MISS M'DONALD: I wrote you some time ago signing my name "Wronged" and asked you should I leave my husband and put my 6-year-old boy in an orphans' home after my husband had wronged me greatly, but had atoned. You told me to forgive him and maintain my home. I have, and I am asking you now, what I might do to change his disposition. If I were to blame for the fits of temper or just plain, rotten disposition he displays, I would do everything in my power to change my ways, but I can't see where it's my fault. He will leave in the morning, in the best humor, and, behold, on returning at 5:30, he will be like Jekyl and Hyde, a completely different man. Won't talk, look disgusted, and acts hateful. Occasionally—not often— I ask, "What's the trouble, or did anything happen at the office today?" &c. I haven't found out yet.

We get along, as to the house and money affairs without any trouble. We spend our time mostly together—and by choice. We entertain a great deal at little cost. I am very economical, as I can sew and do outside sewing, make all my own clothes over and over, can cook and bake wonderfully, &c. My parents are very good to us in money matters and visit us twice a year. Everything goes along nicely (and, I am glad I did not leave him). He attends church. I play for the male chorus, of which he is a member, and he is captain of his Sunday school bowling team, and they play every Saturday evening. Sometimes—not as often as he would like—go down and take the boy along, to come home all together. He does not drink—stopped after our former trouble—but gets these spells. He absolutely does not run around alone. And, as far as the money is concerned, hands it over to me, and I see that the bills get paid. We live as well as we can on our income, which has always been rather slim. We own our home and there isn't anything to cause him to get like this as his health is good as far as either one of us knows. Now if he were your man, what would you do?

"PERPLEXED."

Well, if he were my man he would be writing to some newspaper column with the same story you have told, for after a hard day all I ask of life is to be quiet for an hour, and not be expected to contribute any small talk to the gaiety of nations, and I often wonder why women expect a man to work eight hours, stand all the way home in a crowded car, and arrive in a mood to make whoopee.

No man should be expected to be chatty after a day spent in struggling for a living. All he wants then is rest—and he has earned it. Begin today to consider the man's side of the question. Give him his dinner smilingly and cheerfully but silently. Ask him nothing. Tell him nothing until some good hot food and a little quiet has restored him to normal. As his nerves relax he will want to talk, and then you can tell him all about Junior's disobedience, and get his opinion of the people next door.

But, for at least one hour, let the poor man recover himself. A man's day is by no means joyous in this blithe and peppy age. So have pity, and reserve all conversational endeavors until after the evening meal has begun to do its work.

Just remember that the moment of a husband's home-coming may be the high spot of a woman's day, but it is his zero hour! Act accordingly.

Divorce Plea Cites Wife's Tap Dancing

Man Claims Her Steps Kept Son Awake, Causing Sleep in School.

Charges that his wife kept their 7-year-old son awake at nights while she was learning to tap dance and that as a result the lad fell asleep in school, feature a suit for limited divorce and custody filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Charles Christian Schmidt, a Southern Railway employe, against his wife, Mrs. Lydia Mae Schmidt, said to reside in Arlington County.

Schmidt alleges that his wife left him in 1928 and that she is now seeking to establish a residence in Virginia in order to sue him for divorce. He says that he made an agreement to pay his wife $40 a month for support of the boy and that she had failed to use the money for him, neglected him and spent most of her time associating with a male friend.

In addition to seeking a divorce and the custody of the boy, Schmidt wants the court to restrain his wife from prosecuting a suit for $120 against him in Municipal Court and to cancel a separation agreement.

CLAIRVOYANTS

CLAIRVOYANT THE MAN WHO KNOWS
608 12th St. N.W.
Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

PUBLIC NOTICES

ZONING COMMISSION OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia, May 23, 1930. In accordance with the provisions of Section 7 of an Act of Congress, approved March 1, 1920 (Public No. 153, Sixty-sixth Congress, entitled "An Act to regulate the height, area and use of buildings in the District of Columbia and to create a Zoning Commission, and for other purposes"), notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the Board Room of the District Building beginning at 10:00 a. m., June 4, 1930, for the purpose of considering the following proposed changes in the zoning regulations, and the boundaries of the use, height and area districts, to wit: Add to Section XIII, page 11, of the zoning regulations a new paragraph, as follows: "13. In the residential, 90', C area district on streets 110 feet or more in width, buildings may be erected to any height not to exceed 90 feet, provided that for each 3 feet or fraction thereof, above 60 feet, the allowable lot occupancy shall be reduced by 4% of the total lot area, and provided further that Paragraph 4, Section XIX, shall not apply to such a building." Add to Section IV, page 8, of the zoning regulations a new paragraph, as follows: "In the first commercial district, a vacant lot may be used for the temporary parking of cars, provided no repairing or servicing is permitted and no gasoline, oil or grease sold, and provided further that when the permit is issued there are on file with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia the written consents of the owners of 75 per cent of the property within 200 feet of the proposed establishment."

SCHOOL BOND PLANS PUSHED BY COUNTY

GAS EXTENSION PLANNED

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

All plans and specifications for enlargement of a number of county school buildings, as provided in the proposed $640,000 bond issue, will be prepared by the State architect, Raymond V. Long, the Arlington County School Board announced yesterday. All inspection work as construction progresses will also be under his supervision. Inspectors will be appointed upon his recommendation.

With the State architect in charge of the work following approval of the bond issue by the citizens it is pointed out that the county's saving will be estimated at about $15,000.

If the county continues its growth as it has during the past five years, the present school levy of 90 cents will be sufficient to retire the bonds and take care of operation of the schools, the board points out.

The county board of supervisors will receive applications from the Rosslyn Gas Co. at its meeting today for permits to make a number of extensions to its present lines, according to an announcement from County Engineer C. L. Kinnier.

The proposed extensions will carry one main from Rosslyn south along Georgetown and Military roads to Columbia pike and continuing along Columbia pike to Alcova Heights. Another extension will join the main at its intersection with Columbia pike and continue south along Mount Vernon avenue to provide service to the residents along Arlington Ridge, Aurora Hills and Virginia Highlands.

Another extension will continue the main at Ballston west out Memorial Drive to East Falls Church, taking care of that section lying within Arlington County.

Despite the many proposed extensions of their mains, there is every indication that within a short time residents of Arlington County will enjoy a reduction in their present gas rates, it is stated.

The third annual graduating exercises at Arlington Hall, college for girls, will be held in the college chapel Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The graduating class numbers sixteen.

Mrs. William Brock, of Tennessee, is announced as the principal speaker. Diplomas will be presented by President William E. Martin.

The graduating exercises for the high school department will take place in the college chapel Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday morning in the chapel by Maj. William Fisher, chaplain, U. S. A.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be exhibits of work done in special departments of the college. In the evening at 8:30 o'clock the annual concert will be held.

The program prior to graduation will close with a swimming exhibition to be held Saturday at noon, concluding with the May festival in the evening.

According to an announcement yesterday by County Engineer C. L. Kinnier, there will be extensive road work started following the special bond election for the installation of a county-wide trunk line sewerage system.

Indications are that the improvement of Courthouse road through a section of Lyon Village extending from Rucker avenue to Wilson boulevard will be among the first projects to be started.

The Arlington Rotary Club will meet today at the Washington Golf and Country Club. Election of officers will be the principal business.

County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp announced last night that the county public schools will be closed tomorrow.

The Ballston Citizens' Association at its meeting last night in the auditorium of the Firemens' Hall went on record as favoring the proposed bond issue for a county-wide trunk line sewerage system.

County Engineer C. L. Kinnier, addressing the meeting outlined in detail the plans for the installation of the system.

Fletcher Kemp, county school superintendent, discussing the proposed school bond issue, explained plans for the enlargement of the Washington Lee High School by adding 32 class rooms at the present time, and 10 later as the enrollment warrants.

Plans for a mass meeting at the Washington Lee High School June 3, under the auspices of the Arlington County Civic Federation, have been completed and all citizens of the county are invited to attend the meeting, according to an announcement by E. Lester Bennett, secretary.

According to an announcement from the office of the secretary of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce letters are in the mail asking all members whether or not they favor bond issue for sewers, and their stand on the proposed Municipal Airport at the south end of Highway Bridge.

Charged with peddling in the county without a license, E. G. Heflin was fined $50 and costs by Police Judge Harry R. Thomas yesterday.

S. P. Vanderslice, principal of the Washington Lee High School, announces that final examinations will begin Monday morning.

The ladies of the Blessed Virgin Mary Sodality, of St. Charles Catholic School, announce that a benefit card party will be held June 5 in the auditorium of St. Charles schoolhouse at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to decorate the rectory.

R. T. Harris, charged with reckless driving, was fined $14.25, including costs, in police court yesterday, by Judge Harry R. Thomas.

Oliver Cartee, 46, Dies After Long Sickness

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., May 28.—Illness that forced his retirement six years ago caused the death here today of Oliver Cartee, 46, widely known express company executive, native of Beaver Creek, Md. His widow, formerly Miss Marie Louise Lancaster, of Norfolk, Va., survives.

FLOWERS EXHIBITED BY FAIRFAX WOMEN

JUDGES FROM DISTRICT

The fourth annual Fairfax County Flower Show was held yesterday in the Willard Hall at Fairfax under the auspices of the Fairfax Garden Club. This was the largest and most attractive flower show that has been held in this section, according to a statement of Mrs. Amos H. Chilcott, president of the Garden Club.

The outstanding feature of the show was a basket of delphiniums exhibited by Mrs. Harry Blake, which were awarded a special prize. Mrs. Chilcott won the sweepstake prize by scoring 41 points with her various exhibits. The prize, an antique silver bowl, won by Mrs. Chilcott, was presented to the club last year by Harley T. Wilson, of Hollin Hall Farms. The bowl was won last year by Mrs. Chilcott, but it must be won for three years in succession before it becomes the permanent property of the winner. The judges of the show were Dr. Victor Lumsden, of the United States Department of Agriculture, and Miss Margaret Lancaster, of Washington.

The exhibit tables were painted a jade green as well as all of the containers, which made a very colorful display.

The list of classes and the winners were as follows:

Publisher Urges Annapolis Airport

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 28.—An airport is a big business adjunct to any city, and Annapolis particularly needs one and would reap benefits from it, Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher and aviation enthusiast, told a large group of Annapolis business men in a luncheon address at Carvel Hall today.

Mr. Black and the two pilots, who took him on his extensive world flight, F. J. Gessindorffer and J. B. Scholte, came here today by invitation of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Civitan Clubs and the American Legion Post.

Following the luncheon a committee of the local business men escorted Mr. Black and his guests on an inspection tour of proposed sites for an air landing, attention being centered particularly on the old race track property at Camp Parole, and adjacent open farm land.

Blood Is Given to Save Life of Wounded Boy

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., May 28.—Additional blood transfusions were resorted to today in an effort to save the life of J. Walter Layman, jr., 15, son of Dr. J. Walter Layman, local physician, who was accidentally shot last night by his brother at the Layman home. His father gave considerable blood last night and members of the Boy Scout Troop to which the boy belonged, volunteered today in an effort to save his life.

William Sager, jr., was selected to give his blood in the second transfusion. The bullet from the gun, which the boys did not know was loaded, punctured the youth's abdomen and lodged in his backbone.

Charlottesville Boy Named for Edison Test

Richmond, Va., May 28 (A.P.).—Gordon Keith Carter, 18-year-old Charlottesville High School student, today was chosen Virginia's representative in the 1930 Edison scholarship examination at Orange, N. J., in August.

Earl Ellis, 17, of the Petersburg High School, was chosen as alternate. Dr. C. E. Myers, of the State board of education, announced following tests given today to twelve State candidates. Carter already has an appointment to the United States Naval Academy.

Prisoner Gains Freedom Simply by Walking Out

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., May 28.—Ellis Daff, a young man, of Goshen, had an easy time breaking out of the Upshur County Jail at Buchannan last night. A jail door was left open while meals were being carried in to prisoners and Daff simply walked out. He wasn't missed until later.

Officers were searching for him in the Goshen section today. Daff was being held on a charge of robbing a store there.

NEW STUDY TO LIST VIRGINIA RESOURCES

State Chamber Will Publish Report Compiled by V. P. I. Division.

EXPERTS' AID OBTAINED

Blacksburg, Va., May 28—(AP)—Virginia's resources and advantages for industrial development will be pictured in a comprehensive study to be made by the engineering extension division of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and published by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Julian A. Burruss, president of V. P. I., announced here today. It is expected that the report will be prepared by the end of the year.

The need for such a study, those in charge say, has been evident for some time. It is the purpose to prepare a concise statement of Virginia's resources and advantages. The publication will serve as a source-book on the state's resources, and will devote considerable attention to natural raw materials.

Analytical studies of various phases of the industrial life of the state will be incorporated in the report. These are expected to serve as a basis for a permanent policy to guide the future industrial development of Virginia.

During the last two years surveys of certain kinds of industries and resources have already made available much information which can be used in a comprehensive study of Virginia. The proposed publication will be a summary of findings of the last two years, of printed documents of other agencies and institutions and of recent statistical compilations by the State and Federal governments.

R. L. Humbert, manager of the bureau of community development, executive secretary of V. P. I. and associate professor of economics, is directing the survey and will edit the report. E. B. Norris, dean of the school of engineering, and Prof. R. B. H. Begg, director of the engineering extension division, are cooperating.

Prof. Humbert will be assisted in the preparation of the report by an editorial and contributing staff of fifteen or more members of the V. P. I. faculty. Representatives of the departments of industrial engineering, mining engineering, geology, electrical engineering, civil engineering, chemical engineering, ceramic engineering, wood technology, agricultural engineering, agricultural economics, agronomy, business administration and economics, and the agricultural extension division are included.

Suspect in Assault On Girl Gets Freedom

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., May 28.—Jesse Davis, a Negro arrested here by the police last night as a suspect in the attack made Monday on Miss Annie Thomas, 19, daughter of J. M. Thomas, Caswell County farmer, was released from custody tonight.

Two other suspects, one from Burlington, N. C., and the other from Greensboro, N. C., also were released on failure to be identified.

FIREMAN IS INJURED AS PUMPER CRASHES

ROB ROCKVILLE STORE

One fireman was hurt and four others narrowly escaped injury last night when the Kensington Volunteer Fire Department pumper crashed into a ditch en route to a fire in North Chevy Chase, Md. That the accident was not worse is credited to the control of Fire Chief Marion Curran, who was driving the fire truck.

The injured fireman, Robert Graves, 18 years old, of Kensington, was thrown from the side of the truck to the bank of the sidewalk. He was rendered unconscious by the force of the fall but is not believed to have been seriously injured.

The apparatus had just left the firehouse on Connecticut avenue, Kensington, and was about a block from the house when the automobile of a member of the department responding to the siren swung from a side street into Connecticut avenue. In an effort to avoid collision, Chief Curran swung the ponderous pumper to the right of the road and down into a 2-foot ditch, the apparatus then rebounding to the street and across to the other side, where it came to a stop in another ditch. Young Graves was riding on the side and lost his grip on the rail when the truck careened to the left.

The firemen called the Bethesda department to avoid delay and then went back after their other pumper, arriving at the fire within a few minutes after the accident. The fire caused slight damage in the Faulkner residence on Montgomery avenue.

Milton G. Darby reported to Rockville police yesterday that his store at Dawsonville had been entered in the night and looted of clothing, groceries and confectioneries valued at more than $100. Entrance was gained by prying open a rear window. Corpl. Roy Bodmer investigated the robbery.

Special services will be held in the Catholic and Episcopalian churches of the county today in observance of Ascension Day.

The newly authorized county budget committee of the Montgomery County Civic Federation has been organized and committee officers named, it was announced yesterday by Stephen James, president of the federation. Frederic P. Lee, Edgemoor Citizens Association, was named chairman, John A. Dickinson, Alta Vista Community League, vice chairman, and John A. P. Farnham, Friendship Heights Citizens Association, secretary.

Other members of the committee to make a survey of the county finances are: W. B. Armstrong, Cabin John Park Citizens Association; Robert E. Bondy, Edgemoor Citizens Association; Herbert L. Diamond, Gaithersburg Chamber of Commerce; Maj. E. Brooke Lee, Silver Spring Chamber of Commerce; John J. Miller, Highland Park Citizens Association; B. W. Parker, Bethesda Chamber of Commerce, Inc.; J. Bond Smith, Town of Takoma Park, and Curtis L. Ward, Rockville Chamber of Commerce, Inc.

Frederick Host To Lions' Meeting

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., May 28.—The annual convention of the Twenty-second District Lions International, embracing clubs from Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, convened at the Key Hotel here today and will continue two days. Tonight the annual dinner was given in honor of the visiting delegates and guests, numbering about 160. A program followed the dinner, concluding with a dance.

The business session was opened at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon with nearly 100 delegates present. Others will arrive tomorrow. Lloyd C. Culler, mayor; Paul Payne, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Glenn Garber, president of the Rotary Club, and William B. Bennett, president of the Kiwanis Club, made addresses of welcome, responded to by Bernard Gouch, district governor of Baltimore, who also made his annual address.

Reports of the activities of clubs were made, followed by a golf tournament at the Catoctin Country Club. At the same time women guests were taken on a sight-seeing trip to points of interest. An executive session of officers was held at 4 o'clock, followed by the annual dinner at 6:30 o'clock and the program and dance.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA received a questionnaire from her old Alma Mater, so I stood up and sang the Stein Song.

"Please be quiet," she said, poring over the questions. She filled her fountain pen and started to answer.

"What do they want to know?" I asked, stepping in where angels fear to tread.

Luella poised her pen. "It's for women only," she flashed, putting me in my place.

"Women only. Well, it must have something to do with shopping——."

"Wouldn't you like to know?" she grinned, and told me all about it.

* * * *

SEEMS some one is making a survey of conditions among the college graduates, trying to find out just how much time women have to spend at housekeeping—if that's what they call it nowadays. Where I made the mistake was trying to kid Luella.

"Like all men, you think it's an easy thing to keep house, don't you?"

"Well, with all these modern inventions, the vacuum cleaner, the electric refrigerator, the washing machines for dishes and dolls and dogs, I, er—uh——"

"You, er—uh. You don't know what you're talking about. If you had to keep house——"

"I'd much rather keep house than be down town all day, in the hustle and bustle of the great city, fighting toe to toe with adversaries, trying to snatch a living from this cold, cruel world——"

Luella laughed outright: "Ha, ha!"

* * * *

IT didn't strike me as being particularly funny. To knock out a living in this day and generation is no mean feat, and I told her so.

"You ought to come home early some night and help me bathe the dishes——"

"Bathe the dishes! Why, when I was a boy, down in the Tidewater country——"

"What did you do then?"

"We used to take the dishes and throw them overboard——"

"You did?"

"We did!"

"A good idea," said Luella, and suiting the action to the word, she set a pan of dishes out in the yard and turned the hose on 'em. Then she went back to her questionnaire.

"What are you telling 'em?" I asked.

"I'm telling 'em," she said, "that housekeeping is the greatest drudgery of all the arts and sciences—and I'm going on strike."

In case of ties between persons or schools the points were divided between the participants. Lee Brown won the trophy for the outstanding athlete when he scored a total of 32 points during the meet. Mary Hessick, of Floris, was the outstanding girl with a total of 18¾ points.

The Goldsmith trophy for the Fairfax County baseball championship was awarded to the Clifton Team, which won every game they played this spring. The cup was presented by W. B. Knight, athletic instructor at Lee-Jackson High School and vice president of the county athletic association. It was accepted by Miss Dorothy Otley, principal of the Clifton School, and president of the Fairfax County Teachers Association.

Robert Tull yesterday was found guilty of driving a car while under the influence of ardent spirits by a jury of the Fairfax County Circuit Court, with E. M. Kidwell, foreman. A fine of $100 and costs and 30 days in jail was recommended and imposed by Judge Walter T. McCarthy.

Divisional Superintendent of Schools W. T. Woodson has notified the teachers of Fairfax County whose cetrificates expire next month that they must notify him this week if they plan to take the reading course examination Saturday. He is also preparing a tentative list of the teacher appointments for next year which he will present to the meeting of the school board for approval at the June 5 meeting.

The St. James Catholic Church will observe the Holy Day of Obligations today. Masses will be said at 6:30 and 9 o'clock. Tomorrow a special memorial mass will be said in the center of the cemetery.

The School and Community League at Burke will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the community hall. The meeting has been advanced one week on account of the closing exercises at the Burke School next week. Following the business program a motion picture show will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Roger Cross, the school principal.

YOUTH IS CLEARED OF HIT-RUN CHARGE

Son of Former University President Dismissed in Police Court.

BIG STILL IS SEIZED

Winton Woods, 18 years old, son of Dr. A. H. Woods, former president of the University of Maryland, was acquitted of charges of leaving the scene of an accident without making known his identity and rendering assistance yesterday in Hyattsville Branch of Prince Georges County Police Court. There being no definite identification of the young man, Judge J. Chew Sheriff dismissed the case.

Young Woods was arrested by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage on a warrant sworn out by Joseph Cherry, of Berwyn, whose car was struck by a car resembling that driven by young Woods. George Miller, of Berwyn, was seriously injured in the crash. The other car failed to stop.

Several days later it was learned that Woods had a car resembling that in the accident and investigation, it was said, revealed that scratches on the fender and wheel rim of the Woods car coincided with those on the Cherry car. Very little other corroborative evidence was introduced. Judge J. H. Shepherd, of College Park, Md., represented Woods.

Charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, which had been preferred against John E. Lind, Washington patent attorney, by Officer Cubbage, were dismissed. Lind pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving, and failing to have driving permit and registration card in possession.

Two prohibition law violations cases were heard by Judge Sheriff, both of which resulted in convictions. Stephen Kennedy, of Washington, was fined $200 on charges of possession and transportation when he pleaded guilty. He was arrested by County Policeman Claude Reese on the Baltimore pike near Berwyn.

Marcus Curtis, colored, of Washington, who figured in the events leading up to the accident in which two men were killed near Waterloo a week ago, was fined $200 on charges of transportation and possession of intoxicants. He reported to police that his car and twenty cases of liquor had been hijacked by one of the cars which figured in the accident.

The Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Clubs again has offered a loan scholarship to any high school girl graduate, a resident of Prince Georges County, who otherwise would be unable to continue her education. Applications should be made to Mrs. Rudolph S. Allen, of College Park, chairman of the scholarship committee before July 1. A competitive examination will be arranged by the committee.

Prince Georges County Police Court had a busy day yesterday with the trial of 40 cases and the collection of $800 in fines.

Two men were arrested and a 1,000-gallon still captured yesterday by Prince Georges County police in the woods between Laurel and Bowie. A large quantity of alleged liquor and a truck also were seized.

The men gave their names as Edward Kaiser, of Laurel, and A. Levin, of Baltimore. They were charged with illegal transportation and possession and lodged in the county jail at Upper Marlboro. The two men were arrested while riding on the truck, which carried 59 cases of alleged liquor.

Near the place where the men were arrested, the still was found in operation, 27,200 gallons of mash, 14 bags of sugar, 18 bags of flour, 50 bags of coal, for the 85-horsepower boiler used on the still, and other supplies.

Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Hepburn and Harry Robinson and County Policeman V. M. Nichols made the raid.

Marylander Guilty in Death.

Westminster, Md., May 28 (A.P.).—Paul W. Edwards was convicted of second degree murder here tonight by a circuit court jury after two hours' deliberation. He was accused of poisoning Thomas Keefer, his foster father. Sentence was withheld pending motion by the defense for a new trial.

MASONIC BODIES END ALEXANDRIA REUNION

KIWANIS MEETS TODAY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The spring reunion of the Scottish Rite Masonic bodies of Alexandria, held here for three days, came to a close last night with an entertainment given to all Master Masons and members of their families in the auditorium of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple. The conferring of the thirty-second degree, Master of the Royal Secret, was concluded at 6 o'clock, and the newly made Scottish Rite Masons were entertained at a dinner served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

At 7:45 o'clock the entertainment was opened with an address of welcome by Robert South Barrett, who acted as toastmaster and introduced the distinguished guests. The speakers were Senator Arthur R. Robinson, of Indiana, thirty-third degree, and Senator Kenneth McKellar, thirty-second degree, of Tennessee. The auditorium was filled to capacity.

John H. Cowles, grand commander of the Supreme Council of the thirty-third degree, was a visitor in the course of the conferring of the degrees, and on his arrival was officially received and accorded full honors. He is a member of the George Washington National Memorial committee, and was one of those who aided in selecting the site of the memorial temple, on Shooters Hill, on land which was at one time the property of George Washington, and which was selected as the site of the National Capital, but vetoed by Washington for personal reasons.

Robert South Barrett, who presided last night, and who is also chairman of the Scottish Rite Educational Council of Virginia, announced that the council on June 13 will award a four-year scholarship in the George Wash
